Death for Kidnaping.
The Poisoned Bread.
Great Gondwanaland.
He Fought His Dogs.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE BIG NEWS comes from Kansas City, Mo., where Walter McGee, who kidnaped Mary McElroy and collected $30,000 ransom, is sentenced to death, to make sure that he will never kidnap another woman.

This first infliction of the death penalty in connection with kidnaping in the United States, is believed by a Kansas City jury, and the prosecuting attorney and others, a step toward discouraging kidnaping.

THE MAN sentenced to death may find comfort in the reflection that to be killed by hanging does not inflict as much pain on the one killed, as a kidnaper inflicts on a father or mother when he kidnaps a child.

The hanging of one kidnaper will surely discourage kidnaping. Hanging fifty might interfere with the kidnaping industry seriously.

In Washington, Attorney General Cummings praises the death sentence, saying to reporters:

"That indicates how the people feel about this problem."

TWO STRANGE deaths in New York. A man, very poor Henry Jelinek, 50 years old, bought a roll in a restaurant, put poison on it, ate some, went to the washroom and died.

A woman, Lillian Rosenfeld, who left $45,000 in one bank, and had been sleeping in a cellar on a broken bed with no mattress, seized the bread that the man had left, swallowed it, and she, too, died.

DID YOU ever hear of Gondwanaland? It is not only real, but the biggest thing on earth barring the Pacific Ocean. Geologists in Washington want you to know about Gondwanaland, gigantic continent that disappeared below the ocean about 150 million years ago.

That huge continent, as big as Europe and Asia together, named for Gondwana, district in Central Asia, may interest us when we begin exploring and exploiting treasures that lie below the water.

There are under sea in Gondwanaland great beds of coal, much iron, and heaven knows what else in the way of gold and other precious stuff.

AMAZED and grieved was Henry Smith, of Brooklyn, aged 42, when Magistrate Masion sent him to jail for ten days "merely for setting his two bulldogs to fighting."

Mr. Smith told the magistrate:

"I wanted to see which was the best dog."

The magistrate told Mr. Smith "$25 or ten days."

THERE WAS a time when men with greater names than Smith—Alexander, Napoleon, Caesar—set their armies to fighting other armies "to see which was the best."

They didn't go to jail, they live in monuments and history, although one went to St. Helena, another was murdered by friends that got tired of him, the third dissipated and drank himself to death when only thirty-three.

IF you WANT TO DO IT as President Roosevelt said, you CAN do it, and Mr. Farley, new postmaster general, is engaged in demonstrating the sotindness of that observation.

According to his assistant, Ambrose O'Connell, Mr. Farley has practically wiped out the postal deficit of $153,000,000 in a few months and without hurting the mail service. If that can be done, many other things probably could be done.

COMMANDER LOCKER-LAMPSON, in the British House of Commons, introduces a bill to give British Palestine naturalization papers to Jews driven out of Germany.

Prof. Einstein was in the gallery of the House, when Locker-Lampson made his speech, denouncing Germany "for having turned away her most glorious citizen, Prof. Albert Einstein, in addition to plundering his residence and even taking his violin."

THE BRITISH remember how British trade developed when Jews, driven out of Portugal and Spain, were treated humanely in England, to a slight extent by Cromwell, and more generously by Charles the Second.

They remember also how Holland, welcoming Portuguese and Spanish Jews, including the father of Spinoza, enjoyed as a result, a century of most amazing prosperity.

SPAIN HAS recognized Soviet Russia and it is even suggested from Madrid that Leon Trotzky, formerly head of the Russian army, may make his peace with Stalin, and become Russian ambassador to Spain.

That will give "best minds" a shock.

But what a worse shock it will give them to read, farther on in the Associated Press dispatch:

"Trotzky may later be named ambassador to the United States, if the Washington government extends recognition to Moscow."

STOCKS AND grains sailed upward yesterday, wheat gained 7½ cents a bushel, although it was understood that grains must not move up more than 5 cents in any one day.

The British pound and the French franc "broke sharply." The dollar going up, in gold value on the European exchange market.

Perhaps somebody over there has changed his mind and decided that President Roosevelt knows what he is about.

CAPONE CASE TERRORIZES RACKETS

Chicago Prosecutor Turns to 'Leeches' Among Truckers

International News Service.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Hitting straight from the shoulder—blows which struck hoodlums and high political figures alike—State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney terrorized Chicago's racketeering parasites as they have been terrorizing the city's businessmen with the announcement today:

"We have only begun to fight."

With 24 men indicted yesterday charged with sucking the lifeblood from the arteries of the laundry and cleaning and dyeing businesses, Courtney and his aides planned their offensive against the leeches in the trucking and teaming business.

TURNS TO TRUCKERS

With the indictments against the 24—including Alderman Oscar F. Nelson, Aaron Sapiro, New York and San Francisco attorney; Dr. Benjamin Squires, a federal labor mediator; Al Capone, imprisoned gangland czar; Murray Humphries, successor to Capone as Chicago's Public Enemy No. 1—returned, Courtney washed his hands of the 24 for the time being, leaving the serving of capiases with an army of deputies, and rolled up his sleeves for a

SHERIFF HITS PICKETING AT MINES

Fayette Official Snubs Pinchot's Offer to Use State Police

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 28.—Gatherings of more than two persons in the mine strike area of Fayette County were forbidden today in a proclamation by Sheriff Harry E. Hackney.

Protests and a request that state police be withdrawn from the strike zone were dispatched at once to Gov. Pinchot by his special investigator, Joseph Washington, and Miss Elizabeth Wight, Pennsylvania Security League investigator.

Withdrawal of the state troopers would put the burden of enforcement of the proclamation on the Sheriff and his deputies.

PICKETS WARNED

Sheriff Hackney said his order would not prohibit picketing of the mines, but pickets could not patrol in numbers greater than two. They must keep moving, he said.

The Sheriff said he issued the proclamation only as a last resort to insure peace in the county and to prevent recurrence of disorders of the past few days.

The Governor's attitude on the latest turn of events was awaited eagerly by strike leaders. Sheriff Hackney said if the state police refuse to enforce the proclama-

LABOR SECRETARY FRANCES PERKINS TALKING WITH WORKMEN AT CARNEGIE STEEL TODAY

LABOR HEAD INTERVIEWS WORKERS

Secretary Perkins in Personal Survey At Homestead

Miss Frances Perkins, United States Secretary of Labor and first woman cabinet member, is in Pittsburgh today getting first-hand information from steel workers themselves on labor conditions in Pittsburgh's leading industry.

On Monday, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial czar, will open hearings on the steel code. Hours, wages, unions will be the vital problems over which industry will wage its own battle of the century.

The fight will be of importance to the entire country. It will do more than merely affect steel mill operators and steel mill workers. The struggle will set a precedent for all industry.

WORKERS' VIEWS

Miss Perkins declared that she has been studying reports on the subject for weeks. Now she wants to see just how a man in a mill works.

She wants to talk to steel men to learn just what they think about working hours. She wants to know just how they feel about the wage question—just what they have to say about working conditions.

Charming Miss Perkins gives an immediate impression that she is highly capable and efficient. She declared that after her visit to the Homestead plant of the Carnegie Steel Company she will go to the office of the Burgess of Homestead at 5 o'clock, where she will talk to anyone who wishes to discuss labor problems or who wishes to give her information on working conditions.

Miss Perkins arrived by train from Washington this morning. She is accompanied on her visit to the mills by the Rev. Francis J. Hass, of the labor advisory committee of the National Industrial Recovery Administration.

OFFICIALS TO AID

L. H. Burnett, vice president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and J. E. Rose, general superintendent of the Homestead works, accompanied her through the mills.

If she has sufficient time Miss Perkins stated that she will visit another steel plant, probably the Duquesne works of the Carnegie Steel Company. She plans to return to Washington tonight.

Miss Perkins declared that she does not intend to study the strikes at coal mines here, although she has devoted attention to the subject recently. She questioned newspaper reporters on recent developments in the coal strikes and declared that two mediators now are in Washington to attempt a settlement of the coal labor troubles.

ALLOW MEN TO ORGANIZE —JOHNSON

Recovery Chieftain Serves Notice In Detroit

BULLETIN.

DETROIT, July 28.—(AP.)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, here to confer with leaders of the automobile industry, announced today that directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce had agreed on an industrial code which had as its basis a 35-hour week.

DETROIT, July 28.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of NIRA, today served notice on the motor industry that it must permit its workers to organize if they wish to do so.

Gen. Johnson declared he would stay here until the auto industry formulates a code observing the "collective bargaining" provisions of the Recovery Act.

The motor industry has been "open shop" for 30 years.

HITCH DEVELOPS

The dynamic chief of President Roosevelt's gigantic industrial recovery program arrived spectacularly from the capital by plane yesterady, when it became apparent that some hitch had developed in the auto industry's code negotiations. He met with the motor chiefs today.

He minced no words in describing the purpose of his visit:

"We will get together in one way or another. I'll not leave Detroit until an agreement is buttoned up."

He declared he would insist that the auto industry recognize the right of labor to organize. He added that he would strongly recommend the adoption of a 33-hour week in the motor factories.

The general plainly intimated that the labor union clause in NIRA is the point on which the motor chiefs have been deadlocked.

He revealed that two weeks ago he had made a secret flight to Detroit, where he held a conference with Henry Ford, and returned to Washington with Ford's assurance of support.

Gen. Johnson was asked:

"Could the outo industry get a code adopted if they raised wages, shortened hours, but failed to approve collective bargaining by workers?"

He replied:

"No, they could not. They couldn't get their Blue Hawk."

STEEL'S LABOR PLAN HIT

Company unions in the steel industry here are designed to defeat genuine unionization of the workers, without which their condition is hopeless, the traveling economic seminar which recently visited Pittsburgh charges.

In a partial report, released in Cincinnati, according to an Associated Press dispatch, the seminar, representing the National Religion and Labor Foundations, states:

"In Pittsburgh we saw at first hand the plight of the worker who is caught at every turn in the present economic system. Short of mass organization his condition is hopeless. The domination of capitalistic interests was evident and created a nervous tension which is more obvious in Pittsburgh than anywhere else.

"The steel industry is being organized into unions in response to the National Industrial Recovery Act, but they are company unions and not independent in any sense. The purpose is to defeat genuine unionization."

P. O. VETERAN DENIES THEFT

Charged with theft of a letter from the mails, Lyman S. Divers, 51, superintendent of the Squirrel Hill branch of the Pittsburgh Postoffice, was arraigned today before the United States commissioner.

Divers, who lives at 1601 Miriam street, Swissvale, denied the charge. The commissioner reserved his decision until the stenographic notes are transcribed.

Arrested last night by postal inspectors, Divers was charged with stealing a test letter containing $7.50 yesterday.

Frank Sargent, special clerk at the Squirrel Hill station, testified he saw Divers handle four "test" letters and that later the letter in question was missing.

Postal inspectors testified they had found the marked money which the letter contained in possession of a man for whom Divers had made change.

Divers said he had previously changed a $10 bill for money in the cash register, and that this was probably the change he gave.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, AUTEUIL, France, July 28.—(AP.)—England blasted France's hopes of keeping the Davis Cup today with a clean sweep of the first two singles matches in the challenge round of the international tennis battle.

Fred Perry, British No .1, overthrew the great Henri Cochet in a stirring five-set struggle, 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, for the main thrust after Henry W. Austin easily disposed of the newcomer, Andre Merlin, 6-4, 6-0.

Five hundred pairs of trousers valued at $500 were stolen from the Penn Trousers Company, 906 Forbes street, police were notified today. The rear door was jimmied.

GORDON TO AID BANK OPENINGS

Dr. William D. Gordon, state secretary of banking, today pledged full co-operation in reopening the 35 closed state banks in Western Pennsylvania, but pointed out that "you can't open a bank which can't open itself."

At the same time, he reiterated his stand that, under the law, it is not in his domain to draw up reopening plans. His job, he said, is to approve them, make suggestions, and aid in putting them into effect. Directors and other interested parties must formulate the actual plans.

Frozen in restricted Western Pennsylvania state banks is about $49,000,000. It is to free as much of this money as possible that Gordon pledged himself in ordering 73 restricted institutions in Pennsylvania to co-operate in opening for unrestricted operations by filing reopening plans. He said:

"Some haven't done anything —I don't see how we can help a bank which can't help itself."

N.Y. 'Change To Resume Full Days

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—The governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange announced today that the regular hours of business—from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.—would be resumed beginning next Monday. It also was stated that the Exchange would be closed on all Saturdays up to and including September 2.

The governors shortened sessions, beginning last Monday, to permit harried brokers and their employers to dig out from a mountain of work resulting from hectic trading.

With the shortening of the business hours this week, it was said that commission houses had been able to catch up with their labors. At the same time the daily stock trading turnover has dwindled to something more than 2,000,000 shares.

The New York Curb Exchange later announced that it was making similar changes.

Johnstown Flood Survivor Drowned

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., July 28.—(AP.)—Walter Davis, Jr., 49, who, as a boy of 5, survived the Johnstown flood in which his mother perished, drowned in Bull Run creek during a cloudburst, and searchers still are looking for the body of his son, Russell, 9.

Davis' mother was Mrs. Cora Swank Davis, member of a prominent Johnstown family.

The closed Homewood Peoples Bank will pay a 10 per cent dividend, amounting to $278,436, to 15,296 accounts August 23, the State Banking Department announced at Philadelphia today, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Previous payments totaled 35 per cent.

BEAVER CANAL TURNED DOWN

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—(AP.)—An unfavorable report toward improvement of the Beaver and Mahoning rivers in Pennsylvania and Ohio was made public here today by the division office of the Army Engineers.

A supplementary report, made following a survey of that portion of the proposed improvement below Struthers, O., said:

"The limited use of the resulting waterway would return savings insufficient to justify the large costs involved."

Lieut. Col. R. C. Moore, acting division engineer, reported that the principal grounds for the adverse report were the steep slopes, restricted widths, meager water supply, concentration of rail facilities and encroachment of industry and the magnitude of necessary bridge alterations.

Sponsors of the river improvement work have the right to appeal to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, in Washington.

Man Not Even Liquefied After Drinking 48 Beers

PATERSON, N. J., July 28.—(AP.)—Michael Sciro drank 12 quarts of 3.2 beer—48 eight-ounce steins—to prove it is not intoxicating.

The beer was consumed last night in a contest, in which five others, one a woman, dropped out after the first 15 minutes. Sciro went on for 16 minutes more and gulped down a total of 384 ounces.

Dr. B. F. Smith, of Ridgewood, then examined Sciro and found him "neither liquefied nor intoxicated."

When the others dropped out, Dr. Smith examined them and discovered they were "liquefied but not intoxicated."

Dr. Smith explained by the term "liquefied" he meant being so thoroughly saturated with the fluid that the body could not contain or accept any more of it.

The champ, Sciro, is a silk dyer. He is 25 years old, weighs about 175 pounds and is 5 feet 8 inches tall.

His reward was a silver loving cup, which he filled as soon as it was presented to him and drained the contents, just to prove he could take it.

Drag River for Woman When Rescue Fails

Police are dragging the Monongahela River for a red-haired woman who was seen struggling in its waters beneath Brown's Bridge today, according to reports to both Pittsburgh and Homestead authorities.

Walter Stewart, of 237 Seventeenth street, Homestead, reported while walking across the bridge, he spied the woman, her head and shoulders above water.

He ran to the Homestead side of the bridge and with Mrs. Lena Lewes, occupant of a houseboat at the foot of West street, rowed to the middle of the stream. They found no trace of the woman.

Police believed the woman leaped from the bridge but no one reported seeing her jump.

River Patrolman Charles Snyder was ordered to drag the river.

COUZENS URGED AS WOODIN'S SUCCESSOR IN TREASURY

CABINET MAN'S RESIGNATION DUE SOON

Democratic Regulars Oppose Giving Plum To Republican

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The return of Senator James Couzens, Detroit multimillionaire, from his service at the London economic conference, today incited reports of his possible appointment as a non-partisan Secretary of the Treasury to succeed the ailing William H. Woodin.

Appointment of Couzens as Woodin's successor—whenever the latter retires—will be urged upon President Roosevelt by several congressional leaders, particularly from the group of Independent Republicans who voted for the Democratic nominee last November. His selection, however, was certain to provoke bitter opposition from the regular patronage-seeking Democratic chieftains, who have been complaining for months about the paucity of jobs.

WILL MEET PRESIDENT

Woodin has been ill for the past six weeks. He was expected to confer with Mr. Roosevelt at Hyde Park some time next week, when the President goes to his old home for a short rest. It may be this conference will produce his resignation.

Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill were strangely silent about the possibility of Couzens getting the appointment. It was evident they avoided criticism of such an appointment in fear that it might be made. Privately, they conceded Couzens had excellent qualifications, but opposed his appointment on the ground the choice cabinet office should go to a loyal Democrat.

OPPOSED HOOVER

Couzens has been a loyal Republican on ordinary matters but frequently traversed party lines on legislative and political issues. He frequently opposed President Hoover's policies and gave generous support to most of President Roosevelt's recommendations.

The Michigan Senator, however, fought confirmation of Woodin as Secretary of the Treasury. He warned the Senate that Woodin was "too closely identified" with Wall street and objected to his confirmation on that ground.

On like grounds, he fought confirmation of Dean G. Acheson, under-secretary of the Treasury. It would be a queer twist of fate if Couzens now were to succeed Woodin and become Acheson's "boss."

Everything Coming at Once -:- By QUIN HALL

WAR'S 'PAGE 1' NEWS AFTER 19 YEARS

Trace Headlines Today Back to Ink Starting World Conflict

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—Nineteen years ago today certain officials dipped their pens in ink and wrote the headlines for today's newspapers.

The ink, flowing in tiny stream on parchment, gushed to a mighty torrent on the front pages of the world—heralding the outbreak of World War.

The headlines, black as woe, told of Austria-Hungary declaring war on Serbia on July 28, 1914, of Russia ordering a mobilization the next day; then of the others jumping in.

Today that ink still splashes on "Page One." A count shows that of all the headlines on front pages of New York morning dailies today 70 per cent deal with subjects which have been traced—directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, by one savant or another—back to the World War.

"Chicago indicts Al Capone and 23 in war on rackets."

How many times has the world been told that the war bred lawlessness, which fostered rackets?

"Gov. Lehman acts to put state behind NRA drive."

How many men have pointed to the World War as the cause of the severity of the depression?

"Spain to recognize Soviet Russia."

The traces of war ink on that are plain: Would the Czar still be on his throne if ink hadn't trickled from his pen to parchment 19 years ago?

"Kidnaper doomed to death."

Is that too, as some would contend, a result of war-spawned crime?

"O'Ryan is chosen by fusion group to run for mayor."

That's Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, of the 27th Division, which helped smash the Hindenburg line.

"World economy parley ends."

Would it ever have had to begin, except for the World War?

Some say that, though the fighting has ceased, the World War still goes on. Certainly the mailed fist is still penning headlines, not only on "Page One," but right through to the financial section.

Not all of them, though. One headline today says:

"Vast continent sank below sea cons ago."

LATIN-AMERICA TRADE GOAL OF 'NEW DEAL'

Roosevelt Now Plans To Concentrate on Western Nations

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The gloomy demise of the world conference, coming atop the dull stalemate that has been reached in the Geneva disarmament conference, paves the way for a considerable revamping of President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Part of this "New Deal" in foreign policy, in fact, already is begining to take shape, and the conviction is prevalent in Washington that the rest will not be long in following.

The President recognized the futility of the disarmament discussions by calling for bids for 32 new warships this week. Had there conceivably been any remote chance of the Geneva negotiations getting anywhere, several hundred millions of dollars would not have been expended at this time in new naval construction. The 32-ship building program was Mr. Roosevelt's answer to the obstructionists at Geneva.

PAN-AMERICAN TRADE

His answer to the failure at London will be to concentrate American business promotion in the Western Hemisphere, among the nations of South and Central America, and to pay less attention to European markets.

A long step has already been taken in this direction by the demobilization of the army of commercial attaches which Herbert Hoover built up in the capitals of Europe. More than 200 of these attaches were called home and go off the federal payroll the end of this month.

The program called for negotiations of a network of trade agreements with the countries of Latin America that are in a position to absorb the surplus products of North American industry.

As for Europe, the realists who are now engaged in promoting the program point out that she is now buying from the United States only what she has to buy and cannot get elsewhere, namely, cotton, tobacco, oil, and a few agricultural products.

MARKETS COLLAPSE

The European markets for American industrial goods, dwindling steadily since the hectic post-war period, has now virtually collapsed.

Tariff reductions, so dear to the heart of Secretary of State Hull, will in all probability be confined to these bi-lateral agreements between the United States and the various Latin American countries.

The matter of trade agreements in the Western Hemisphere was discussed yesterday between the President and Alberto Pani, Mexican minister of finance. Other discussions will be held with Latin American diplomats in coming weeks, preparatory to the seventh Pan-American Conference at Montevideo in December, concerning which the administration now has high hopes.

Her candidacy was announced yesterday by Mrs. Frank J. Boyle at a meeting of the Women's Political Education Organization at the Y. W. C. A., Chatham street. Mrs. McBride, who is president of the organization said:

Nearly 100 women attended the meeting to listen to candidates for office in the coming election.

PITTSBURGHER IN CARR POST

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(AP.)—John Campbell, Harrisburg, former manufacturer, engineer and steel mill worker, today was named acting director of the inspection bureau of the Labor and Industry Department.

Campbell succeeds Miss Charlotte E. Carr, whom Gov. Pinchot had advanced to secretary of the department. Miss Carr appointed Campbell. With his new duties, Campbell continues as director of the Industrial Standards Bureau, a position he has held since February, 1930.

Campbell is a former resident of Pittsburgh, a graduate of the Pittsburgh Central High School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is secretary of Pinchot's commission on compensation for occupational diseases.

DRYS TO FIGHT REPEAL VOTE IN TENNESSEE

Charges of Fraud at Polls May Bring Contest

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 28.—(AP.)—Anti-repealists, attributing Tennessee's vote against the Eighteenth Amendment to election irregularities, have asked officers of the United Prohibition Forces to "lay before the proper authorities" any evidence of fraud they may have that "those guilty may be exposed and, if possible, punished."

The action was directed at a mass meeting of anti-repealists last night. A statement of findings in reference to the Tennessee repeal referendum of July 20, when a repeal majority of approximately 6,000 votes was recorded, said:

"Without attributing to the leaders of the repeal movement or to the many respected citizens who in sincerity voted against the Eighteenth Amendment any purpose or effort to win the election by unfair or illegal means, we are convinced, nevertheless, from trustworthy evidence that the majority would have been against repeal had the provisions of the election law been honestly complied with at all polling places."

2 BEER LICENSE ATTACKS FAIL

Petitions to revoke two beer licenses were refused today by Judge William H. McNaugher in Quarter Sessions Court.

Charging insufficient seating capacity, the petitions were filed by District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

Peter Andrews, of 327 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, stated equipment ordered at the time of his license application had been delayed. He said he now had more than 40 seats.

James, John and Alex Jaffurs, of 613-17 Wood street, Wilkinsburg, said they now have a seating capacity of 55.

An appeal from the decision of Judge McNaugher that beer sales permits may be granted on application after June 1 is to be taken by the Western Pennsylvania Restaurant Association. The association's attorney was instructed to file the appeal at a meeting last night.

GOLD HOARDERS WARNED ANEW

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP.)—The few people who have gold ore and its concentrate may export to get a higher world price, but the 207 who still hoard coins have only three more weeks to turn them in before the government acts.

In response to a number of pleas, the Treasury slightly relaxed the presidential gold embargo so the ore and concentrates—crushed and water-washed ore—may be exported. Smelted and imperfectly refined gold may not.

But there was no relaxation in the drive against hoarders. Attorney General Cummings announced these would be given three weeks to give up their hoards, and that thereafter the recalcitrant would be prosecuted and their names published.

BURGESS YIELDS IN DOPE CASE

Dr. J. E. Peebles, 75, physician-burgess of Latrobe, Pa., surrendered to government officials at the Federal Building today preparatory to facing a hearing on charges of violating the narcotic laws.

He is alleged to have sold 200 quarter grains of morphine to a government agent July 21 and to have received $60 in marked money, later declared to have been found in his possession.

Dr. Peebles, accompanied by his attorney, appeared at the Federal Building this afternoon. A hearing was to be held before a United States commissioner. He has been burgess of Latrobe for several terms.

MEXICO HAILS U. S. PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—Assurance that Mexico will support wholeheartedly the American movement for development of closer trade relations among the nations of the Western Hemisphere was given President Roosevelt by Alberto Pani, Mexican finance minister, it became known today.

Pani, who today was en route to Mexico City on his return from the World Economic Conference, told International News Service in an exclusive interview prior to his departure that he believed the failure of the London meeting paved the way for development of closer economic unity among the nations of the American continent.

He said Mexico welcomed the American movement towards this end and added that he agreed the nations of the American continent should concentrate on preparations for the seventh Pan-American Conference at Montevideo in December.

Want to Bet on Rain? 56 to 2 in Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 28.—(AP.)—In accordance with a tradition 58 years old, that it always rains here on July 29, Waynesburg residents will keep vigil after midnight with at least half the population praying for rain.

The other half—if its constituents have made the traditional wagers—prays it won't rain.

It would seem that rain is a 56 to 2 gamble, as upholders of the tradition assert that only twice in the 58 years has the day been totally dry here.

One group, in years gone by, was willing to set up a keg of beer against anybody's wager that it wouldn't rain. That custom is expected to be revived.

Last year a quartet of girls planned to play bridge all night while waiting for the rain, but didn't finish the first hand. It was raining an hour before midnight of the 28th and continued for hours afterward.

Two high school co-eds have made arrangements with the Waynesburg Fire Department to borrow firemen's coats and helmets and hip boots to keep dry tomorrow. They are Betty Milliken and Ida May Johnson.

'Big Girls' Fail to Get Politician's Kisses

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 28.—(AP.)—A kiss, the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King was ready enough to admit today, has its political place, and that place is the cheek of little girls—but not big girls.

The liberal leader was speaking at the town of Ridge, which is near here, and little Joyce Schnorr presented him with a bouquet.

Mr. King knew what to do and what to say. He asked, smiling:

"Does anything go with this?"

Then he stopped and kissed the child.

It might have been all right if he had let it go at that. The episode, however, offered an opportunity for comment, and Mr. King commented. He said, after expressing thanks for the flowers, that the pleasure that had been his—the opportunity for planting a kiss on the little girl's cheek—made him hope for more donations of flowers; and especially he thought, donations by some of the ladies.

This was gay banter and politically sound; but when he turned and found comely members of the Prince Albert ladies' football team waiting to thank him for a donation to the club, was his face red?

The crowd burst into laughter. Mr. King stepped up to the women and shook hands.

TEMPLE LINKED IN OLD EGG BARRAGE AT DAVE ON STAGE

JILTED RIVAL STRIPS BRIDE AT ALTAR

Scorned Woman's Fury Almost Wrecks Church Wedding

VRASTA, Bulgaria, July 28.—(INS.)—The old truism that "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned" was proved again today with revelation of how a woman was stripped almost naked at the wedding altar by the jilted sweetheart of her husband.

It happened in the Church of the Twelve Apostles here. Metropolitan Paissi was just about to pronounce the nuptial benediction on M. Hehuprimenko and his bride when the trouble began.

The infuriated jilted woman, stung by the sight of her former lover marrying another, rushed at the bride and tore off her veil and wedding gown with such violence that only a quick huddle by the bridesmaids prevented a Lady Godiva scene.

The jilted woman had intended to prevent the marriage by alleging an "impediment." But the metropolitan, shocked by the sight of a nearly naked bride, recovered his composure almost as quickly as she recovered her garments and calmly pronounced the couple man and wife.

GIRL PENS WILL, THIEF STEALS IT

When Mrs. Betty Friedman, 620 Fifth avenue, wrote her will and placed it in her pocketbook, she didn't expect her purse would be stolen.

But that's what happened while she was working in a Sixth street store. The discarded purse, with $10 missing but the will intact, was found in the lobby of the Verner Building by a janitor.

The janitor turned the purse over to police. Detectives scanned the will and interpreted it to mean something dreadful was about to happen to Mrs. Friedman.

They rushed to her home and found her about to telephone police about her missing purse. She explained the wording of the will by stating she was contemplating a trip to a hospital for an operation.

JAPS SEE U. S. 'INVADING' CHINA

TOKIO, July 28.—(AP.)—Japanese consuls in Foochow and other parts of China informed the foreign office today of rumors that Americans are seeking a foothold in Fukien, a maritime province in Southeast China proper.

A foreign office spokesman said the consuls are investigating the reports especially because "Japan is very sensitive" regarding the possibility of foreign influence being established in Fukien, opposite Japan's colony of Formosa.

He added that his office placed little credence in the rumors and until they are confirmed no action is contemplated.

Vernacular newspapers published assertions that the United States Navy made a deal to acquire a naval base at Tungshan Island, and it was rumored American capitalists are planning to invest in Fukien railways.

The spokesman declared China undertook in Sino-Japanese treaties in 1895 and 1905 never to give up any portion of the Fukien coast to a third power.

PICNICKERS' CAR UPSETS, BURNS

It will be a long time before L. P. Knotts, 32, of 1908 St. Ives street, attends another businessmen's picnic at Indiana, Pa.

Knotts complained to Sergt. Michael Dougherty, in North Side Police Station, that on his way home early today his car skidded off the road and overturned three miles out of Indiana. No one was hurt, and with aid of passing motorists he got the car back on the highway.

Then someone lighted a cigaret and dropped the match on the ground where the auto had rested, setting fire to the gasoline. The blazing trail led to the rear of his machine and set it on fire.

Knotts said he telephoned the Indiana fire department for help and was told it would be "right out." Knotts declared he waited for an hour while the car was destroyed and no firemen appeared. Sergt. Dougherty advised him to make a report to the state highway patrol.

EAST END GIRL'S PURSE SEIZED BY GUNMAN

Silent Robber Twists Victim's Arm, Flees As She Screams

Squirrel Hill police today sought two men, one of whom leaped from an automobile and snatched a purse from Miss Lois Fritz, of 1884 Shaw avenue, after twisting her arm and pressing a revolver against her side last night.

Miss Fritz and her sister, Mrs. C. R. Grimm, who also lives at the Shaw avenue address, were walking in Bartlett street when the thug leaped from the slowly-moving automobile and seized her.

Twisting her right arm behind her back and menacing her with the revolver, the man seized Miss Fritz's purse, which contained $10, and ran to the automobile in which his accomplice awaited.

WOMEN SCREAM

Both women screamed as the robber fled. Mrs. Grimm pursued the thug into Shady avenue, where he boarded the machine.

Miss Fritz said:

"We were returning from a store at Forbes street and Murray avenue. The men in the car followed us more than two blocks as we walked in Bartlett street.

"Unnoticed, one leaped from the car and seized me from behind. He twisted my arm behind my back, held the gun against my side and pushed me against a terrace wall.

"For a moment I didn't realize what was happening until I saw the gun. We screamed and my sister gave chase as the man fled with my purse."

ROBBER SILENT

Miss Fritz said the holdup man did not utter a word during the scuffle.

Neighbors, attracted by the victim's cries, obtained the license number of the bandit car as it sped in Shady avenue. At the address of the owner of the car, police were told he was in Philadelphia.

$20,000 PEARLS FOUND IN PARK

RYE, N. Y., July 28.—(INS.)—An envelope which for a week lay on a shelf at the Playland Park lost and found bureau, was locked in a safe at the home of Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the Chase National Bank, today.

In it was a $20,000 pearl necklace, found last Friday by A. S. Howe, 51, a peanut and popcorn vendor.

Howe decided some girl had dropped it, examined it casually and turned it over to the clerk at the lost and found bureau.

Mrs. Aldrich, a sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., discovered after returning home that night she had lost her necklace. She notified an insurance firm which immediately began a hunt for the gems. An investigator for the insurance company found and identified the necklace at the park.

Howe will receive a $750 reward.

Mrs. Compton, with her husband, Warren W. Compton, walked into the Watertown Police Station this morning. She gasped a story of emptying a .38-caliber pistol into her mother's body as they walked through the woods after motoring from her mother's camp at Northfield.

Compton said his wife had been ill more than a year, suffering a nervous breakdown after an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Compton told police she borrowed the pistol from a gasoline filling station attendant.

JOB PLEDGES ARRIVE HERE

Pittsburgh employers were put in direct touch with President Roosevelt's big job drive today.

They received in the first delivery of mail this morning blank forms on which they may pledge co-operation in the huge re-employment effort sponsored by the administration.

Some of the employers were so eager to do their part they appeared at the postoffice with their pledges shortly after receiving their mail. They were turned away, however, and told to come back on or after August 1. About a dozen appeared in the first hour.

Approximately 10,000 blanks were delivered. After August 1, business establishments that have given the pledge will be decorated with the insignia of the movement—a Blue Eagle, and the words: "We do our part."

Postmaster James B. Anderson explained the certificate of compliance to be delivered to the postmaster is not to be presented until August 1, as stickers and placards will not be available until then.

The pledges were delivered in the regular mail, and no extra help was needed by the postoffice here.

WOMAN SEIZED FOR HURLING 4 AT SINGER

Nice Dodging Saves 250-Pound Target Talking of Angels

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, July 28.—Angelus Temple was linked today in a plot to throw eggs of questionable age at David Hutton, Jr., choir singer turned torch singer, in a Hollywood theater last night.

A pretty young woman, who gave her name as Jane Jones, 27, was arrested and booked on a charge of disturbing the peace after she had hurled four eggs at Hutton who stood in the spotlight, a good 250-pound target. He had told a large audience:

"Glad to be back in the City of Angels. You know, I married an angel."

Silence greeted his coy remark on his marriage to Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, evangelist he sued for divorce here last week, but an egg went whizzing by his head.

Hutton gasped and dodged adroitly as three other eggs splattered dangerously near him.

From the safety of the wings into which he fled, he commented:

"Thank heavens they weren't ostrich eggs."

The curtain was rung down and the audience roared.

Five minutes later order was restored and Hutton went through with his act.

Harry Brandon, Hutton's manager, charged flatly that the plot to egg Hutton was hatched in Angelus Temple.

"We have definite information that a former temple chauffeur and a confidant of temple officials co-operated with the woman in staging the bombardment of eggs. We had been warned they were coming."

POLICE SEE PLOT

Patrolman G. T. George, who has been assigned to the theater and arrested the calm Miss Jones, expressed belief her act had been well planned. George said:

"She was in an aisle seat in row one, and acted as if she had been coached."

The woman said:

"Hutton can't talk about angels that way."

She refused to give her address. The name she supplied is believed to be fictitious.

Aimee's Last Notes to Dave 'Symphony of Sorrow'

By A. M. ROCHLEN
Universal Service.

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 28.—In a series of remarkable letters written aboard the liner City of Havre as it was carrying her from France to America, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton recently wrote the latest "symphony of sorrow"—and dedicated it to the man she once loved—David Lytell Hutton.

These letters were penned before and after news of Dave's suit for divorce flashed across the Atlantic—most of them penned in the small hours of the night as the ship rolled in murky mists, and Aimee, crushed and bewildered, sought to wrest from the sodden silences some answer to the fate that befell her. They were never mailed.

Because they so vividly portray the noted evangelist's emotions and present such a unique human document, Universal Service herewith presents the most significant portions of the notes—to speak for themselves.

The first letter begins:

"Baltimore Mail Line, on board S. S. City of Havre, July 16:

"Dear dearling, precious husband of my heart:

"Your wife is safe and sound on board, bound for the U. S. A. and the heaven of your arms.

"Happy? I could scream. I wired you this minute to meet me in Baltimore on the 25th, and my heart is singing.

"Oh! Daddy, never send me away again—we must never part, not for a moment."

On July 17, she wrote:

"9:15 a. m.

"Good morning, sweet. Funny thing happened and wakened us all. A nasty old cable—I mean radio—came from New York and Paris with these horrid old divorce rumors.

"Honey, hubby, can't we stop this horrible thing. Do we always have to jump up and shout: 'I love her, I love him?'

"Goodness, I've just reread your precious letters and I know you love me steadfast as the rock upon which our house is built. I love you, am proud of you, adore you. Oh, boy, wait 'till the 25th."

The next letter bore the same date, July 17, the day Hutton filed his suit, but the hour—3:30 a. m.—showed it was the 18th. It began:

"Dear, Dear Daddy:

"I feel as though I'm going crazy. I've laid on the floor of my cabin and wept all night.

"Last night two radios came—one from Rocky and one from New York saying that you are going to put me away out of your life and heart and divorce me in court for cruelty.

"David, darling, you couldn't do this to me in midocean, while obeying you, coming to you, sick and weak from operation—no warning. Not a word to prepare me. Man of my heart, You don't mean it—say it's a ghastly mistake, or tell the truth that you do not want me any more."

U. S. ENDS AUTO FACTORY BAN ON UNIONS

(His nickname for the eagle on the Nira symbol.)

He was asked:

"Would the American Federation of Labor be the representative of the men if they selected that organization?"

He replied:

"Yes, but there is nothing in the law that says a man can't do his bargaining with an employer individually."

MUST ENFORCE LAW

He continued:

'open shop' must go, but I am ? obliged to enforce the law. And the statute says that no member of a labo runion shall be discriminated against, nor shall the rights of workmen to join labor unions be denied.

"We do not say auto workers must join unions or that they must not join unions. All we ask is that both union and non-union men be treated alike."

To absorb its unemployed, the auto industry needs a 33-hour week, he said. He indicated he would not insist on this point, but felt that it was the real hope of the industry to get back to 1929 levels.

CONFERENCE HELD

Lights burned almost until dawn in the high windows of General Motors Building as the automobile chiefs wrestled with their problem, after Gen. Johnson had held a short informal conference with them.

Emerging from the conference, he told newspapermen:

"I thought there would be an agreement to tell you about. Well, there isn't. There were a lot of rumors, long distance telephone calls and letters to me. So I thought I might as well get on the ground.

"Some progress has been made during the six weeks the automobile leaders have been conferring on their code. I am not here to bulldoze them but to help them.

46,000 Chrysler Workers Given Pay Increase

DETROIT, July 28.—(AP.)—K. T. Keller, general manager of the Chrysler Corporation, today announced that beginning August 1, the corporation will place in effect hourly wage scales 20 per cent higher than those in effect for the first period in March.

The 20 per cent increase, he said includes a previous 10 per cent raise, given effect last week, for the 46,000 wage earners and salaried employes of the corporation throughout the country. The second increase, he said, affects only hourly wage earners.

The announcement did not reveal either the new or old basic wage scale, but stated that "the corporation has made upward adjustments in rates of pay since the first of the year."

Keller said that by reducing the hours of work each week, and by increasing production, 20,000 employes have been added to the payrolls since March.

The Chrysler Corporation increase was the latest of several to be announced following a resolution adopted by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, meeting here to discuss the industry's industrial code.

Several units of General Motors Corporation, the Packard Motor Car Company and others have made announcements, while several companies have stated percentages of increases now are being worked out.

WOMAN FLAYS RELIEF BOARD

Miss Rose M. Stein, secretary of the League for Social Justice, told members of the State Emergency Relief Board in a letter today they stand accused of "bolting" President Roosevelt's program of recovery by refusing to increase unemployment relief appropriations.

She said the program emphasized increases wages and increased purchasing power, but that rising prices had resulted in decreasing the purchasing power of persons on relief.

Roosevelt Prepares For Hyde Park Trip

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt cleaned up his desk today for a departure tonight for his home in Hyde Park, N. Y., where he will spend most of the sultry months of August.

Intent upon his recovery drive, Mr. Roosevelt will take with him an office staff and maintain full command of governmental affairs from the family residence on the banks of the Hudson river.

Johnson Likens Job Drive To Armistice in Trenches

DETROIT, July 28.—(INS.)—"I have never seen such devotion to a cause as the people of America have for this recovery move."

That is the opinion of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, here today to confer with automobile leaders. He continues:

"It's like Armistice Day. You ask the doughboys and the poilus to climb out of the trenches and have lunch with the Germans. The boys don't like it. They think there might be a sniper up a tree somewhere who hasn't heard the war's over.

"But we're making progress. Men are working.

"We never could get through another winter like the last one. The resources to combat it are gone. The public purse in large cities is flat. Individuals have spent their savings. It would be impossible for the federal government to share the full burden. There must be work!"

SHERIFF CURBS MINE PICKETS

tion, he would recruit a force of special deputies.

Earlier the Sheriff had turned down Gov. Pinchot's proposal that all officers but state police be withdrawn from the strike area and the troops placed in charge.

Hackney said he welcomed the state officers who are already on the scene, but added that he had been advised he could not legally sign a waiver of authority.

PROBER ARRIVES

A government agent, H. D. Friel, of West Virginia, had reached Pittsburgh en route to Fayette County.

An information charging William Mervin, superintendent of Colonial No. 3 mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, with pointing and discharging firearms, was signed by Elizabeth Wight, investigator for the Pennsylvania Security League.

Mervin was alleged to have fired from an automobile as he passed a picket line yesterday. Miss Wight was in the crowd. The information was signed before Justice of the Peace William Q. Maust at Hopwood. A constable set out with state police to serve warrants for Mervin's arrest.

TEAR BOMB HURLED

A slight disorder was reported at the Buffington mine of the Frick Company. A company deputy said strikers barricaded a road and he threw a tear gas bomb to disperse them. State police arrived later and calmed the crowd.

No other disorder was reported in the field.

With more mines closing, both mine and union officials expect the field to be idle today. Added to the list of closed workings were the Bobtown mine in Greene County, the Vesta Coal Company's Poland mine and an independent plant near Pt. Marion. This raises the number of strikers to possibly 9,000.

STRIKE IN CAMBRIA

Four more mines in Cambria County were closed as more than 4,000 men went on strike in that section. Companies reporting strikes were the Patton Coal Mining Company and the eBthlehem Mines Corporation.

About 200 employes of the Shallmar Coal Compjany at Mapleridge, Cambria County, returned to work last night after a three-day strike.

To the list of six injured miners, three more were reported today. Steve Segeder, 57, was shot at Daisytown. Arthur Slimp, 42, of Uniontown, was beaten on his way to work at Smock. James Zurek, 25, of Fairbanks, was reported hit by an auto carrying men to work in a Frick mine.

At the Frick mines, officials joined those of Jones & Laughlin and the W. J. Rainey Company with assurances that they have enough coal on hand to supply "emergency demands" for the next few months.

Grocers in Denver Agree on 'Siesta'

DENVER, July 28.—(AP.)—Employes of almost 1,000 independent city groceries have been allotted a 90-minute daily "siesta" by their bosses. Housewives cannot obtain food for evening dinners at these stores between 1 and 2:30 p. m.

The "siesta" was arranged when grocers met to re-arrange hours in compliance with the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Pipe Industry Works On Code Provisions

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 28.—(INS.)—Representatives of the cast iron pressure-pipe industry today worked out preliminary features of the fair competition code they will submit to Federal authorities after assuring President Roosevelt they will accept provisions of his blanket code.

Code Broken, Charge As Strike Spreads

PATERSON, N. J., July 28.—(INS.)—Claiming the dye companies for which they worked were not living up to the industry code under the National Recovery Act, about 800 employes of three dyeing plants today joined the 2,500 already on strike.

2 PLANTS END LABOR ROWS

Employes of two radiator manufacturing companies in Western Pennsylvania were back at work today, labor difficulties of both having been adjusted amicably.

A strike at the Columbia Radiator Company plant, McKeesport, was abandoned after Watson McKee, secretary of the McKeesport Chamber of Commerce, explained the Industrial Recovery Act to 400 employes of the company last night. The meeting was held to discuss a walkout.

The Columbia employes, McKee announced for officials, are to receive a 15 per cent wage increase. The minimum will be 40 cents an hour.

A strike at the Richmond Radiator plant at Uniontown, involving 700 men, was settled through the efforts of H. D. Friel, Labor Department representative. An agreement was reached on working conditions.

PHILA. GRANTED FARM RELIEF

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—(AP.)—William Penn's adopted children arose to a shock today.

This metropolis, third largest city in the country, has been granted farm relief. Where the thousands in its skyscrapers could not see, Uncle Sam has found Philadelphia growing wheat.

Philadelphia is listed among the 2,233 counties in 42 wheat-producing states where the farmers are to get 28 cents a bushel for the wheat they don't produce provided they meet requirements. This city-county must cut its production 7,230 bushels, or 46 per cent of its five-year average crop.

Announcement of the allotment in the morning newspapers was the first most Philadelphians knew that there were any wheat fields in the city. But then, Philadelphia sprawls some 20 miles along its greatest diameter.

The farmers were on the job. They met to consider the proposition—met with the wheat growers of adjacent Bucks County.

2 Men, 81 Women Pickets Arrested

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—(INS.)—Eighty-one women and two men strikers were arrested when police were summoned to quell disturbances in picket ranks near the Art Neckwear Company plant.

All were rushed to police headquarters on charges of violating picket rules. One woman, who gave her name as Tillie O'Connor, was accused of beating a policeman.

Altoona Shops Go On Full Time Aug. 1

ALTOONA, Pa., July 27.—Works Manager F. G. Grimshaw, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, today announced that all departments of the Altoona works of the Pennsylvania Railroad will resume full operation August 1, instead of August 7, as previously ordered.

Mr. Grimshaw said the schedule calls for turning out 89 engines, as compared with 76 for the present month.

CRUISER BIDS HELD TOO HIGH

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(Universal.)—Strong probability the Navy may reject all bids received yesterday for construction of three cruisers included in the new naval building program developed today.

The vessels may be built in government navy yards, unless the private yards pare down their prices to a reasonable level.

The lowest bid for the construction of one 8-inch gun cruiser was $11,720,000, by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. The lowest for construction of one of the two 6-inch gun cruisers was $12,251,000, by the New York Shipbuilding Corporation. Both are 10,000-ton vessels, identical except for armament and minor structural details.

The last contract for such vessels was awarded December 6, when the Bethlehem corporation contracted to build an 8-inch gun cruiser for $8,196,000. The keel has just been laid.

Naval officials were frank today in declaring the difference between these two figures is far more than is justified by the steel and labor prices since December.

San Francisco Cites Employment Gains

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—(INS.)—Sharp increases in employment and payrolls, in line with President Roosevelt's policy, marked the business picture here this week. Increases reported in 11 major industries ranged from 0.4 to 28 per cent.

The building industry, spurred by the start of work on the $75,000,000 San Francisco Bay Bridge, registered an increase of 10.6 per cent in the number of employes, and 14.7 per cent in total weekly payrolls.

WheatProgramOpened, Cash Awaits Farmers

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—The golden lure of $136,000,000 in acreage adjustment benefits was held out today to farmers of 42 states as the administration set in motion its minutely organized plan to bring wheat production under strict federal control.

If all of the wheat farmers comply with the government's requirements, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said, they will receive $90,000,000 within the next 60 or 70 days.

Payment will be made on the basis of 20 cents per bushel for the wheat alloted to each grower. An additional eight to 10 cents per bushel will be paid next spring after each farmer has submitted proof that his agreement was fulfilled.

The allotment for the entire nation was set at 456,198,588 bushels. This figure was reached by taking 54 per cent—the domestically consumed portion—of the acreage annual wheat raised during the five-year period, 1928-32.

An allotment was announced for 2,233 counties in the 42 wheat growing states.

INDUSTRY SIGNS EMPLOYMENT PLEDGES

WASHINTON, July 28.—(AP.)—A rush of merchants and businessmen to sign up and get the Blue Eagle of N. R. A. posted in their windows, stimulated to more vigorous efforts today the men who are working for, and predict success of, President Roosevelt's re-employment campaign.

The thousands of telegrams which pledged support in the hour-shortening, wage-raising, job-creating endeavor were being backed up by signed re-employment agreements with the President.

RUSH BY EMPLOYERS

These were on the way back to Washington by the thousand.

Postoffices over the country reported merchants rushing in to file certificates showing they already had put the agreements into effect, entitling them to the eagle poster with the words, "We do our part."

Delivery of the blanks began only yesterday, and continues today and tomorrow. While postmasters reported the rush to sign up, local committees were checking up on instructions from Washington to see how many men in each community actually got jobs from those who had reduced the working hours of existing staffs.

LEGAL INTERPRETATIONS

In Washington, the Recovery Administration's legal advisers were completing definite interpretations of the agreement expected to help thousand of more employers with perplexing problems to sign up. Donald Richberg, general counsel, expected to complete the job yesterday, but it proved too complicated.

Among questions he was trying to answer was whether employers whose help is under contract at a definite rate for a definite number of hours, can obtain the Blue Eagle without voluntarily bettering the terms of the contract.

Major Industries Pledging Support to President

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—Among major industrial and business units reporting their support today to the Industrial Recovery Administration are:

Alexander Legge, president of the International Harvester Company; Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributers of America, Inc.; F. B. Davis, Jr., president of the United States Rubber Company; P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Rubber Company; Thomas A. Buckner, New York Life Insurance Company.

F. H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; J. D. Tew, president of B. F. Goodrich Company; Clarence E. Fisher, president Fisher-Cadillac Company; Erwin C. Uihlein, president Schlitz Brewing Company.

Ball Brothers Company, Muncie, Indiana; Keith Railway Company, Chicago; National Food Brokers' Association, Indianapolis; A. G. Spalding & Brothers, New York.

Vulcan Crucible Company, Aliquippa, Pa.; Ernest V. Moncrieff, president Swan-Finch Oil Corporation; Fownes Gloves, New York; S. T. Campbell, president Etna Rubber Company, Ashtabula, O.

J. W. Kane, the Iodent Company, Detroit; Thomas W. Bunte, president Bunte Brothers, Chicago, and Republ' Rubber Company, Youngstown.

R. F. C. TO TAKE HOME BONDS

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—Bonds to be issued by the $2,200,000,000 Home Owners' Loan Corporation will be eligible as collateral for loans at the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, it was learned today.

Under the law the loan corporation may issue $2,000,000,000 in bonds which are exchangeable for mortgages on homes of the value of $20,000 or under.

There has been considerable speculation as to whether insurance companies, building and loan associations and individuals holding mortgages on residential property would be willing to exchange them for the bonds in the program of relieving the burden of the home owner and the amortization of his loan over a longer period.

Officials of the Home Loan Board, which is organizing the loan corporation, declared the attitude of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in accepting the bonds assured that the new relief statute would be carried out successfully.

Child Labor Upheld By Utah Senate

SALT LAKE CITY, July 28.—(AP.)—The Utah Senate yesterday defeated a resolution to ratify the federal child labor amendment. The 1925 Legislature, which was under Republican control, also refused to ratify the amendment.

Opponents contended adoption of the amendment would hamper sugar beet growers and other farmers who are forced to allow their children to work in the fields at certain seasons.

RCA-Victor Wages Raised Second Time

CAMDEN, N. J., July 28.—(INS.)—Effective next Monday, and pending establishment of a national code for the radio industry, the RCA-Victor Corporation here will increase the wages of 5,600 employes another 10 per cent and put them on a 40-hour week basis.

This action follows a wage increase of 10 per cent given the corporation's employes on July 12 last. A majority of the workers are women.

Woman Confuses Recovery Act With Nero

DES MOINES, Ia., July 28.—(AP.)—"Who," inquired a feminine voice over the telephone of the secretary of the superintendent of schools, "is this man Nero I've been reading so much about in the papers lately?"

The secretary explained:

"Nero was a Roman emperor, but he hasn't been in the headlines recently."

It was finally concluded that the woman must have been talking about "Nira," the coined word to signify National Industrial Recovery Act."

COAL INDUSTRY CODE READY

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP.)—Bituminous coal producers from the Appalachian field, stretching from Central Pennsylvania to Tennessee and representing well over half of the nation's annual tonnage, are expected to lay a code of fair competition before the Recovery Administration today.

The code calls for a basic minimum wage of $3.84 a day for underground labor, a 40-hour maximum week and the open shop.

The Fairmont district of West Virginia would pay 24 cents less a day, and the other southern sections in the field 40 cents less.

The code is one of six or possibly more to be offered by various bituminous coal interests. Several of them point to sharp clashes, with the unions opposing some features and the non-union operators the others.

Lehigh Rail Shops To Get 4-Day Week

SAYRE, July 28.—(AP.)—The working schedule of the Lehigh Valley Railroal shops will be increased from three days a month to four days a week, President E. E. Loomis announced today.

A 30 per cent rise in the company's business makes the increased operations possible August 1, Loomis said. Shopmen until July had worked two days a week for more than a year.

50 Chicago Firms Pledge Co-operation

CHICAGO, July 28.—(INS.)—More than 50 Chicago business concerns yesterday promised to increase wages and shorten working hours of employes in response to President Roosevelt's plea for voluntary co-operation in the recovery program.

Two major industries here created jobs for 2,200 men to be chosen from the files of the Emergency Relief Commission, J. W. Berthold, supervisor, announced. Names of the concerns were withheld.

PECORA BEGINS PROBING CRASH OF STOCKS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Ferdinand Pecora, famous crusader and government investigator, has plunged with characteristic vigor and thoroughness into a far-reaching inquiry into the causes back of violent fluctuations on the New York Stock Exchange.

Pecora, who is special counsel for the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, said today his New York inquiry may extend for months—possibly until the next session of Congress in January. Before Pecora gets through he will make a series of reports on his findings to the Senate committee.

He and his trained staff will delve into such phases as:

1—Stock Exchange activities.
2—Market information.
3—Private banking.
4—Corporate financing.
5—Investment trusts and,
6—Bank affiliates.

SEEKS SLUMP CAUSE

Right now, Pecora told International News Service, he is seeking to learn the cause of the collapse of prices on the Stock Exchange last week which threatened to hamper President Roosevelt's economic recovery movement. With this in mind, Pecora held a lengthy conference with Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange. He said:

"I spent several hours with Mr. Whitney and Roland Redmond, counsel for the exchange, last Monday afternoon and I plan to have another conference with Mr. Whitney soon.

"We discussed the activities of last week on the exchange. I inquired of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Redmond if they had any knowledge of pools operating in the market. They had no such knowledge.

"But they agreed to undertake an investigation and report what they may learn. I am to have further conferences on this subject."

WHITNEY'S STAND

Asked what Whitney's attitude was toward his investigation, Pecora replied:

"Mr. Whitney seemed to feel that if the movements of the market last week was the result of artificial manipulation the facts should become known."

Pecora wired Senator Steiwer, (Rep.), of Oregon, member of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, who is a vigorour advocate of an exhaustive stock market investigation, that Whitney denied knowledge of any pools or other artificial manipulation having contributed to the recent market movement.

When Pecora talked to Whitney he (Pecora) was accompanied by Julius Silver, associate counsel, and Frank J. Meehan, chief statistician of his staff. Pecora has the services of three lawyers as associate counsel. Prior to the recent Washington probe, at which J. P. Morgan testified, Pecora had a staff of 20 technical men, but this number has been cut to 10.

SEEK CRASH PREVENTION

Pecora, who is taking a keen interest in the new job he has tackled, said that if possible some way should be found to prevent a recurrence of the disastrous crash of prices such as occurred in 1929. It is his opinion that stock market speculation would be reduced if those in the market were forced to buy on a 50 per cent margin, rather than on a 25 per cent margin, as at present. He said:

"It is difficult at times to say definitely whether stock market transactions represent gambling or investment. My own belief is that stock market gambling is indulged in through trading on margin.

"This doesn't mean, however, that every margin transaction is a gambling transaction. I do mean to say that when stock market gambling is indulged in, it is more likely to be through the medium of trading on margin. I think the brakes should be applied to margin trading."

Pecora expressed the opinion that trading in stocks is made too easy for the average person. Sheer gambling in the market, he declared, represents a great social and economic evil which is menacing to the entire nation.

Take Saturday to Visit the August Sales

Furniture . . . Furs

The whole country is awakened to the prospect of higher prices as a result of the inflation measures which are being taken to speed national recovery. The August Sales, as a consequence, are destined to receive more earnest consideration, this year, than ever before.

But there is more than price to consider. Quality, reliability, and satisfaction must be thought of also, and when you think of these things you think, logically, of Horne's. Courtesy Days have been arranged to permit people to look, in advance, into the investment opportunities presented by this year's August Furniture and Fur Sales here.

We urge you to take Saturday to see the Furniture and Furs. They both have much to show you that is new and interesting from a style viewpoint, and the sale prices, which are based on commitments made many months ago, are genuinely arresting in the light of today's costs. Convenient payments are offered in connection with furniture requirements, and a reasonable deposit will hold fur selections for later delivery.

GROCERY GROUP COMPLETES TRADE CODE

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—The Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America announced today that a master code of fair competition in distribution was formulated this week and that it soon will be submitted to President Roosevelt's administration in Washington.

The contents of the code will be announced when it is given to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, director of the National Industrial Recovery drive.

The following organizations participated in drafting the code: Retailer-Owned Wholesale Grocers Association; the American-National Wholesale Grocers Association, the National Retail Grocers Association, the National Chain Store Association, the National Voluntary Group, the National Food Brokers Association and the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc.

Representatives of the association formed a permanent body to be known as the "Grocery Trade Conference Committee." Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers, was appointed chairman of the committee.

Clothing Manufacturers Fail to Agree

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—Failure of the major interests of the men's clothing manufacturing industry to agree among themselves, and necessity of considering the wishes of labor representatives today held up further proceedings on the code for that industrial group.

Conferences have been called between representatives of the rival factions, the Clothing Manufacturers' Association of the U. S. A., and the Industrial Recovery Association of Clothing Manufacturers, in an endeavor to reconcile differences.

In behalf of labor, Sidney Hillman, labor adviser, had asked a maximum of 35 hours and a minimum of 50 cents per hour, in place of 40 hours and a variable scale with northern and southern differentials in the pending code.

He declared a 40-hour week would not put any unemployed back at work, as workers were putting in considerably less time now.

RAYON CODE

Following the shortest hearing yet recorded the proposed code of the rayon and synthetic yarn producers is before the Recovery Administration. When approved it will add 3,500 workers to the industry's payrolls, as already the industry is using the highest number of employes in its history, 35,000 persons.

There is virtually no unemployment in this industry, it was reported. The annual payroll of the mills will be increased by approximately $6,000,000.

The lace manufacturing industry opened its hearings with representatives of the American Lace Manufacturers' Association, the United States Levers Go-Through Lace Manufacturing Association, the Richmond Lace Workers, Amalgamated Lace operatives and the Lace Access and Finishing Union 209.

Hearings were scheduled for August 7 on a code for the Corset and Brassiere Association of America.

The wallpaper manufacturing industry has filed a code on which hearing starts also August 7.

Labor Official Lauds Hearst Editorial

By W. J. FAIRBAIRN
Secretary of the National Metal Trades Association.
Written for Universal Service.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 28.—I have read William Randolph Hearst's editorial, "The Goose That Lays the Goolden Egg," with great interest and I heartily approve Mr. Hearst's stand.

I believe the President, in his radio address, expressed my viewpoint on recovery thoroughly.

Everybody must do his part in this recovery program and be fair to one another. This does not only take in the employer, but the housewife and laborer, too.

If the majority will be fair in their demands, then the minority which seeks only the bigger share will be out of the game.

Labor will be fair, I believe, if it has leaders who are interested in the welfare of all concerned, not only labor, but employers as well.

Rules for the Use Of N. R. A. Emblem

WASHINGTON, July 28—(INS.)—The following are regulations on use of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's already famous "Blue Eagle" of National Recovery:

The NRA official emblem is the property of the United States government, just as the postage stamp is. It may not be used or reproduced without proper authority.

By application to the NRA, however, any responsible manufacturer may obtain authority to make and offer for sale hangers, cards, stickers, and other displays bearing the emblem. The NRA will supply original drawings to such manufacturers, if the demand is not too great.

The manufacturer must himself sign the blanket agreement, however.

Also any newspaper may reproduce the insignia on the advertisements of its clients providing the latter have complied with the agreement.

In short, the regulations provide, first sign the agreement, after that use the emblem at will.

PUBLIC WORKS GRAFT BANNED

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—A web-like investigation system to render "graftproof" the $3,300,000,000 public works program was promised today by the Public Works Administration.

The system will not only embrace the huge federal projects, but will extend to state, county and city public works in the most remote corners of the country, when federal money is granted or loaned.

Secretary of Interior Ickes, as public works administrator, planned to give Louis R. Glavis, chief of the department's investigation staff, wide power to check upon contracts and methods of carrying out public works projects.

The tentative plan calls for a small staff of investigators, responsible to Ickes and Glavis, who will travel into every section of the country.

COAL RETAILERS TO RAISE PAY

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—The retail coal industry's code, now pending, will raise pay in some sections 150 per cent, it was estimated today.

It bans child labor, recognizes collective bargaining, and stipulates that "under no circumstances shall any hourly rates of pay for any class of labor be reduced below those in effect June 16."

The code was compiled by a committee of 18 retailers from widely scattered trade areas over the country.

Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, directing "blanket code" drives, has under consideration a request of the coal retailers for a ruling that would permit them to work temporarily under the labor provisions of their code until a hearing can be held. Many provisions of the "blanket code" they claimed, were not applicable to their business.

What! No Models For Brassiere Hearings

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—The first ray of brightness for reporters in an otherwise heavy atmosphere surrounding national recovery headquarters came today with announcement of the forthcoming hearing on a code for the Corset and Brassiere Association of America.

Visions of models, suitably costumed, to illustrate the various contentions involved in the code, cheered the drooping news writers until unofficial word got around in some way that there wouldn't be any models, and why should there be? Brassieres and such are just a business with those fellows, like angle iron manufactory.

British Parliament Adjourns Session

LONDON, July 28.—(AP.)—The British Parliament adjourned today for the summer recess, probably not to reassemble until November 7.

BANK BLAMES OHIO GOVERNOR

CLEVELAND, July 28.—(AP.)—The State Senate's banking committee had completed hearings today in its investigation of the closed Guardian Trust Company, and is not expected to meet again until late next month, when it will look into the affairs of the Union Trust Company, also in liquidation.

Chairman L. L. Marshall told the committee yesterday that the Ford Motor Company reduced its deposit balance in the Guardian from $4,400,000 in July, 1931, to $25,000 last February, when the bank ceased to operate on a normal basis.

Thomas E. Monks, former Guardian vice president, in the concluding testimony declared:

"There wouldn't have been a bank closed in Ohio if Gov. White had met my request on February 14 for a law restricting withdrawals. As it was, 190 banks closed."

When asked his opinion on the cause of Cleveland's banking difficulties he replied:

"I blame the situation on the bank failures in Toledo, Warren, Youngstown, Pittsburgh—and on the Governor, who should have known after the Detroit troubles that Cleveland banks would suffer."

VOLPES BEATEN IN FIGHT FOR CONSTABLE

The Volpe faction lost its reputed attempt to regain a political foothold in Wilmerding today when Judge W. H. McNaugher refused a petition for appointment of James B. Maguire as deputy constable of the Fourth Ward.

Maguire, formerly police chief of the borough, ranked as one of the chief lieutenants of the old Volpe clan, almost wiped out by gang killings. Those opposing the appointment told the court the Volpe adherents were back of Maguire.

Westinghouse interests and present borough officials protested the appointment on the ground there was no need for a deputy, each of four wards having a constable and the borough a high constable.

GRILL SUSPECT IN BOY SLAYING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 28.—(INS.)—A suspect in the "maniac murder" of Dalbert Aposhian, 7, whose mutilated body was found in San Diego Bay, Bassett E. Curtiss, 38, an Oakland (Cal.) accountant, was expected to be returned here today from the Northern California city.

San Diego authorities caused Curtiss' arrest after his automobile license number had been given them by two small boys who said he had showed them indecent pictures here.

Police Chief Harry Raymond said Curtiss, who admitted he had visited in San Diego the day young Aposhian disappeared, July 18, would be held on a charge of violating Juvenile Court laws, and questioned in connection with Aposhian's murder.

Authorities here learned that a rusty knife and a stained blanket were found in Curtiss' home at Oakland.

Aposhian's body was mutilated with a knife.

WIDOW 'BREAKS' IN POISON TRIAL

SALEM, Mass., July 28.—(AP.)—The testimony of an undertaker broke for the first time the smiling calm of Jessie B. Costello as the state moved in its medico-legal forces in its attempt to convict her of the poison slaying of her husband.

Leonard F. Conway, who embalmed the body of Fire Captain William J. Costello, was giving a detailed resume yesterday of his preparations when the comely widow bowed her head and sobbed. A few minutes later, however, she brushed away her tears with a handkerchief, looked again at the witness and smiled.

The fire captain was found dead in his Peabody home on February 17 and subsequent autopsies and analyses showed the presence of a deadly poison in his body.

Trotzky Envoy Tale Absurd, Says Moscow

POISON DEATHS LAID TO GREED AND SUICIDE

NEW YORK, July 28.—(INS.)—Admitting it lacked factual basis, police today advanced a theory for the poison deaths of Henry Jellinek, 50, and Lillian Rosenfelt, 43-year-old eccentric spinster, as strange as their manner of death itself.

Jellinek, part owner of an auto repair shop, and Miss Rosenfelt, who was worth $45,000, but hunted scraps of food for sustenance and lived in a dark basement room, collapsed and died in the same Broadway restaurant within a few minutes of each other. Autopsies showed both died of cyanide poisoning.

POLICE THEORY

Police investigating the poison deaths ran into blind alleys at every turn. The only tenable theory they could outline today was one of suicide and accident.

Suicide—for Jellinek, who detectives believe went to the restaurant to end his life.

Accident—for the spinster who police think was an unwitting victim of her own eccentric habits and Jellinek's suicide plan.

Conceding their reconstruction of events was somewhat fantastic, authorities pointed out cyanide was present in metal polish Jellinek used and sold in his business. They believe he obtained a quantity of the poison, went to the restaurant, and either saturated a roll with it or drank it in a glass of water.

WOMAN EJECTED

Miss Rosenfelt, police said, had been ejected from the restaurant several times for snatching bits of food left by customers. They thing she entered after Jellinek had collapsed and died, found a roll or part of one uneaten and containing the poison, ate it and in turn succumbed.

Chemical analyses of vital organs showed the same poison and a quantity of poppy-seed in each victim's viscera.

Police, meantime, unsatisfied with the only explanation they have been able to put forward, marked the case "open" and pushed their hunt for clues which may throw light on the mystery-wrapped deaths.

DOCTOR FLIES TO SICK DOG

HAVEN, Me., July 28.—(AP.)—Summoned here by long distance telephone, Dr. Irving Cashell, Washington veterinarian, completed a hurried 700-mile flight from the nation's capital last night to treat one of his canine patients, Balkash, prize-winning Samoyed.

Sidney C. Graves, distant cousin of President Roosevelt and owner of the animal, requested the veterinarian to rush by airplane to the Graves summer home here.

Graves said Dr. Cashell would remain here until the dog was out of danger, "possibly three or four days."

Mrs. Graves is the former Miss Olga Roosevelt, daughter of the late Col. Robert Roosevelt, and prominent in Washington society.

JEWISH DRIVE RAISES $42,763

Final reports in Pittsburgh's drive for funds to aid Jews in Germany, made at a meeting of workers in the Y. M. & W. H. A. last night, revealed that a total of $42,763 had been raised. The final day's receipts amounted to $1,763.

Richard S. Rauh and I. Rothstein were the principal speakers. Those attending the meeting gave a vote of confidence and appreciation to Leo Lehman, chairman of the local campaign. Of the success of the drive, Mr. Lehman said:

"Due to the enthusiasm of workers who feel that because many who would want to give are away, we are going to keep the campaign headquarters in the Granite Building open for a few days more to receive further contributions."

It was decided to hold a meeting in London in October, with delegations from all over the world invited to attend.

One of the main purposes of the group, it was announced, is the furtherance of a German boycott plan advanced at the Amsterdam gathering.

"Put right on the spot by Warren Van Dyke and forced at a showdown to decide whether he will go along with Van Dyke and Joseph M. Guffey in their campaign for a New Deal in the Philadelphia Democracy, O'Donnell came to the parting of the ways."

It also was recalled that O'Donnell's name from time to time had been linked with W. S. Vare.

SURVEY SHOWS U. S. CHILDREN UNDERFED

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—A study made by the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department showed today that approximately one-fifth of all pre-school and school children are showing the effects of poor nutrition, inadequate housing, and lack of medical care.

The bureau said:

"While the picture is far from complete the sum of the evidence at hand points to the fact that the nutritional condition of children in many communities is showing increasingly serious effects of the long periods of unemployment and want."

Significant figures were quoted from the New York City Health Department where more than 300,000 school children were examined during the six-year period 1927-32. During the first three years the percentage of malnutrition was 13 per cent. In 1930 it jumped to 16, in 1931 to 17, and in 1932 to 21 per cent.

From Detroit the health officer reported that a special survey last fall in 18 selected schools showed 18 per cent of the children to be malnourished.

Another Detroit report showed that of a group of 1,140 school children 11 per cent were definitely malnourished and 7 per cent additional underweight for height. Of those showing clinical evidence of malnutrition, 68 per cent were reported to be anemic.

Reports of the American Friends Service Committee from the coal-mining regions showed that of 2,381 school children in five counties of two states who were weighed and measured in 1931, more than half were 10 per cent or more underweight and in some schools as many as 90 0per cent were in the underweight group.

Brides With $300 Fail to Impress Widower

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—(INS.)—Gerald Haines, Philadelphia widower seeking a wife with $300 in cash and a mother for his 3-year-old son, was not so impressed today by six marriage offers he has received.

Two letters came from New York women and three from would-be brides in Philadelphia. The sixth proposal was made in person.

But Haines did not succumb to their alluring offers. He asked:

"After all, I can't go into this blind, can I? I not only want a wife but some one to care for my son and my destitute parents to whom I am going to give the $300.

Mysterious Signals Seen in Mid-Ocean

REPORT ACTORS BACKING STRIKE

HOLLYWOOD, July 28.—(AP.)—The second strike in the history of Hollywood's movie making was shuttled to New York City today for settlement.

Meanwhile a half dozen film stars were reported by Harold V. Smith, head of the sound men's local, to be refusing to work with technicians hired to take the place of men who walked off the job at the start of the week following a disagreement over wages and hours of work.

He listed Mae West, the Marx Brothers, Nancy Carroll and John Stahl as among players and producers refusing to work with the non-union technical men. His report was without confirmation from those he named or from the studios.

Patrick Casey, Labor representative of the producers, announced he had told Richard J. Green, representative of the International Alliance of Theater Stage Employes the whole matter "would have to be referred back to the international labor union heads in New York and to the labor committee of producers in New York."

Suit for Plagiarism Against Gilbert Fails

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—(AP.)—Efforts of Miss Ina Kuhn to win $1,100,000 damages against John Gilbert, screen actor, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation, and Frances Marion, scenarist, for alleged plagiarism of a story she wrote failed yesterday as a defense motion for nonsuit was granted in Superior Court.

The writer charged a story she submitted to Gilbert was returned to her with an explanation it was unsuitable for motion picture needs, but that it later was made the basis of a film.

Bullets Await Vandals Tearing Herron Signs

Bullets await the vandals who have been tearing down "John S. Herron for Mayor" signs from the home of Roger McKelvey, 818 Grandview avenue, Mt. Washington.

BRITON PILOTS '20TH CENTURY'

ELKHART, Ind., July 28.—(AP.)—The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes whipped through the breeze side by side yesterday as a famous English engineer, William Gilbertson, of Carlisle, shoved the Twentieth Century Limited from Chicago into Elkhart two minutes ahead of time.

Gilbertson and J. Jackson, his stoker, on the Royal Scot of the London-Edinburgh run, took over the cab of the New York Central train on the first leg of their homeward trip from the Century of Progress at Chicago. The engineer and his fireman had come to this country to display the crack British passenger train at the World's Fair.

The 101-mile run here was made in 105 minutes, including a four-minute stop on the South Side of Chicago. Members of the Century's engine crew stood by while Gilbertson took over the throttle.

The open road

SUPPOSE you came suddenly upon two roads. One straight, well-trodden . . . the other thin and twisting off into undergrowth. If you didn't want to arrive at any place in particular, you might choose the latter. But not otherwise.

Before you, as buyer, run two roads. One is the road of knowledge of an advertised product. Thousands use it. There's no mystery about it, no doubting, nothing hidden. It leads the way definitely to a fountain pen, a floor wax, a tooth paste that will give you satisfaction. When you use an advertisement, you use an open road.

When you don't use advertisements, you go the doubtful road. You have only hazy knowledge of the product ahead. No trademark or name to depend upon guides you. The result may or may not be worth the effort. You don't know.

Read the advertisements. Anything widely advertised—breakfast food, hammer, hair tonic—has proved itself good by advertising.

Advertisements put you on the open road to satisfaction

FIGHT RENEWED OVER CRACKS IN P. O. STONE

In a letter to James A. Wetmore, acting supervising architect in the Treasury Departm .t, Washington, Congressman Henry Ellenbogen has renewed his demand for an explanation of cracks in the stone facing of the new postoffice, he said today.

In a previous letter to the Treasury Department, Ellenbogen requested an investigation of the defects, and demanded that the government withhold sufficient sums from the contractors to pay for the damage.

DELAY PLANNED

Wetmore replied that his office had been advised to delay action until late summer or early fall and the effects of extreme summer heat on the stone has been observed.

Maj. Robert A. Greenfield, construction engineer for the government, has expressed the belief that expansion and contraction of the steel framework due to temperature changes caused the cracking.

THEORY DISPUTED

Pittsburgh engineers have cast doubt on this theory.

Ellenbogen's last letter reads:

"The recommendation that no action be taken until late summer or early fall is evidently based on the assumption that the heat is the cause of the cracks, but from the information which I have received, there is no connection between the heat and the cracks.

"I am particularly anxious to know whether sufficient money has been retained to protect the government."

MUSEUM THIEF ELUDES POLICE

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—A burglar who wore false whiskers, but forgot to wear gum shoes, failed today to add to his collection of old masters.

A guard in the Brooklyn Museum heard footsteps before dawn. He found a man walking down a corridor wearing whiskers, obviously false.

The guard demanded:

"Who are you?"

The man said:

"Stand back or you'll get hurt."

Then he fled around a corner.

Sixty policemen surrounded the museum, but could find no one.

Last April $35,000 worth of paintings were stolen from the museum. Police were not sure, pending a complete check, whether any were taken today.

RUSH TO SAVE 21 ON ARCTIC SHIP

SEATTLE, July 28.—(AP.)—The small wooden trading vessel Anyox, under charter to the Hudson Bay Company, was reported battling a severe leak in the Northern Bering Sea today while the Coast Guard cutter Northland pushed her way through the Arctic ice pack to go to her aid.

With a crew of 21 men aboard, the Anyox wirelessed late last night that a "patch" had been placed and it was hoped the ship might be saved. Earlier yesterday, a message said the crew might have to abandon ship.

Pumps were holding the water, a message relayed to the Coast Guard here said. No details of how the leak was sprung were received.

BLAST IN AUTO KILLS 2 BABIES

They were Esther Smith, 18 months old, and Emily Marie Smith, 2½ years old. The car was destroyed.

The father, Merlin Smith, Jr., Hayward mechanic, suffered burns on the head and arms from his desperate attempts to rescue the children.

SESSIONS HERE FOR TEACHERS OF DISTRICT

With teachers' institutes abolished, county and city schools teachers will unite with University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology and Western Pennsylvania Education Conference educators for a teachers' conference October 6 and 7, school heads said today.

Two sessions are scheduled for Friday, October 6, and one for the following day, for the county teachers, Ernest Noyes, assistant county superintendent of schools, said. This program will replace the old institute usually held the last week in August.

CITY TEACHERS ASKED

City teachers will be asked to attend voluntarily, according to Dr. Ben Graham, superintendent of city schools. City teachers usually attend conference day meetings in the spring, which were not held this year.

For university educators, and the parent education council, the conference will open with preliminary sessions Thursday, October 5, according to Dr. Anthony Goldberger, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Education Conference.

Thursday night, alumni of the University of Pittsburgh school of education will meet for their annual dinner.

SESSIONS PLANNED

Separate sessions are planned for city and county teachers, and separate department meetings for teachers of all subjects are to be held Friday and Saturday in Memorial Hall, Syria Mosque, Frick Training School, and other Oakland buildings.

According to Dr. Goldberger, most of the teachers of Western Pennsylvania will be excused to attend the sessions.

City and county school funds, and contributions by Pitt, Tech, and the Frick Educational Commission will be used to finance the conference, Goldberger said.

MOB ATTACKS CUBAN OFFICIAL

HAVANA, July 28.—(AP.)—An investigation was being considered today into the activities of 300 persons, believed by police to be Communists, who attacked Police Chief Jesus Delprado, took his revolver, and knocked him unconscious.

The attack occurred at the time when United States Ambassador Summer Welles was conferring with representatives of the government and opposition factions last night in an effort to settle Cuba's political differences.

Welles told the 12 delegates he was acting not only for himself but for the American administration. The conferences will be conducted daily to perfect a constitutional reform program.

Communist demonstrations occurred at Santiago and Antilla, Oriente Province, and at Mariano, near Havana.

FOUR KILLED RIDING FREIGHT

The bridge, where five other train riders have met death in a similar manner in recent years, spans the Ottawa River at Elida, west of here.

The accident was reported to Sheriff Jesse L. Sarber by Charles Polinsky, 25, of Marion, Ill., who said he was riding with the four who were killed.

Officials were unable at once to identify, but Polinsky said two were from Canton and the others from Cleveland.

Pigeon Mother Dies in Fire For 'Children'

MILWAUKEE, July 28.—(AP.)—Bessie—just pigeon—is dead, burned because she refused to desert her nest with its unhatched eggs.

Someone saw smoke curling up from beneath the Sixth street viaduct. An alarm was sounded.

The firemen found the nest. One edge of the nest was smouldering. Bessie was crowded against the other side.

They tried to coax her away. She wouldn't move. They tried to frighten her away. But on the nest she sat. Finally someone lifted her off, but by then Bessie was badly burned and died a short time later.

TRAFFIC DEATHS OFF 25 PCT.

The lowest six-month toll of traffic accidents in 10 years was reported for the first half of 1933 by the Bureau of Traffic Planning today.

Traffic deaths totaled 49 for the six months as against 66 in the same period of 1933, making a reduction of 25.7 per cent. This record places Pittsburgh in a favorable position to annex for a second year the title of "safest city in America."

The decline resulted largely from better adult pedestrian traffic habits, as child fatalities increased 44.4 per cent, according to City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre. Total accidents reported were 1,248, a decrease of 13 per cent.

Nearly half of all drivers involved were violating some vehicle law, according to the report. Most of the accidents were shown to have occurred under the most favorable driving conditions. Traffic equipment was operating at 24.6 per cent of the accident locations.

During the few days remaining in July, many who've been enjoying a summer in Pittsburgh, occasionally for the first time, are now feeling the need of a change. So the final month of summer will find more folks away than there have been all season.

Mrs. Richard S. Suydam left this morning for Bay Head, N. J., where the Suydams have a summer home.

Miss Doucette is a graduate of Mt. Mercy Academy, and attended Duquesne University. Mr. McCarthy is a graduate of Duquesne, and was on the Duquesne football team.

Goodwill Auxiliary Requests Hints on Fund Raising

An appeal for suggestions as to how to obtain funds for the redecoration of the rooms of the Goodwill Community House and the Goodwill Chapel, at Liberty avenue and Twenty-eighth street, is being made by the Goodwill Women's Auxiliary in connection with its annual report. It is pointed out that the auxiliary, once the necessary materials are procured, will be able to provide employment for men now idle.

Much was accomplished by the auxiliary during the year just completed. Material for the decoration of the rooms was obtained, so also were 100 chairs, linen covers for chairs, window shades, tea towels for the kitchen, sherbet glasses and various other articles. In addition, through the special gift of Mrs. William A. Early, new kitchen utensils were furnished. The report shows that 42 weekly dinners were prepared and served by 400 women representing 40 different churches and that two new church groups enlisted during the year—the Canonsburg Methodist Episcopal and the Knoxville Protestant.

Among the outstanding events, held under auspices of or with the co-operation of the auxiliary, were the advisory board luncheon and reception in honor of Mrs. Adna W. Leonard, the open house reception for friends and various groups of the Goodwill "family," the turkey dinner for the Goodwill children by the Pittsburgh Exchange Club, the advisory board luncheon, the devotional services at which the Rev. Dr. S. W. Corcoran was the speaker, the silver tea in the Episcopal residence with Mrs. Adna W. Leonard as the hostess, the visit of Bishop Leonard to the Goodwill Industries, the presentation of a birthday gift to Miss Ella M. Fieger associated with Goodwill as a teacher for many years, the tour of the Goodwill plant by women from the Council of Churches, the tour of the Goodwill plant by members of the County Scholarship Association, the party for the Girls' Club of the Goodwill, the open house with Bishop and Mrs. Leonard as guests of honor, the party for the Goodwill Mothers' Club, the Goodwill children's attendance at the Carnegie Music Hall Sunday concert, the series of musicals in the Goodwill Chapel, and the illustrated address of Dr. D. Willard Flint, to the Goodwill children, on "A Trip Around the World."

The new year starts with two new vice presidents of the auxiliary, Mrs. Ross T. Altwater and Mrs. Edward L. Boetticher, and with 10 new advisory board members, Mrs. James F. Malone, Mrs. Jay R. Irvine, Mrs. J. Lee Rodgers, Mrs. John G. Klinginsmith, Mrs. E. D. Harshbarger, Mrs. George H. Alexander, Mrs. Schuyler E. Garth, Mrs. W. B. Rodgers, Mrs. Jack M. Morris and Mrs. William Bassett. Mrs. A. C. McMillan is president and Mrs. Herman Bartenbach, secretary of the auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Sindorf, of DuBois, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Isabel Sindorf, to John N. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Boyd, of Aspinwall, Pa., which took place Tuesday.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William R. Thompson, of Wilkinsburg, a United Presbyterian minister. After a short motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd will be at home in the Edgewood Apartments, Edgewood, Pa.

Margaret C. Knepper Weds Dr. T. G. McMahon

Miss Margaret C. Knepper and Dr. Thomas G. McMahon, both of Dormont, were married Wednesday in St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Mayer were the only attendants.

The bride wore a blue and white traveling costume. Dr. and Mrs. McMahon are now on a western honeymoon.

Mrs. Robert J. Swan, of South Aiken avenue, is now at her summer home in Hyannisport, Mass., a popular resort on picturesque Cape Cod. Mrs. Swan has two children, Suzanne and Robert Swan III.

Again this year Mrs. Arthur Hall Smith has returned to her favorite vacation spot, the White Mountains. She's stopping at the Mountain View, and taking an active part in all the teas and other social affairs there.

Mountain Resort

Mr. Davis has arrived at the Mountain View House, where Mrs. Davis has been spending the summer. Mrs. J. H. Reed has been visiting there, stopping over on a motor trip through New England.

The G. E. Townsends, who spend their winters at the Hotel Soreno, St. Petersburg, are summering at Mountain View, too.

Stage and Play actors will have plenty of time to learn their lines for the next production—not to be until December 5, in the Twentieth Century Club, of course. There's a rumor that James Macfarlane will write the play for the opening.

BEACH COSTUMES CONTINUE TO BE INDIVIDUALISTIC

THERE IS no follow-the-leader feeling about beach costumes this year. The only way one apes another is in the necklines—all are daringly low in back. They're not copy-cats as to fabrics, but manage by cotton and silk plaids, ginghams, seersuckers, satins, jerseys, handknits, tweedy linens, tie silks, and sateens to be completely individual and independent of one another.

* * *

EVERY NOW and then, one idea sweeps over the shores, and everyone takes it up. This season, it was the fashion for rubber bathing suits—crinkled to resemble crepey fabrics. Everywhere you go, you see them. Usually in white, or baby colors. With them, jockey caps, and bathing hats that are so like street fashions as to be ridiculously inconsistent on the beach.

* * *

IF ANYTHING, the last crop of beach costumes is almost as elaborate in detail as their wearer's street and evening clothes. The decolletages vary, cut in any number of unusual shapes, with gathered necklines, square fronts, no backs, extravagant Vs.

* * *

SO MUCH for swim suits. Later in the day, everyone puts on pajamas and promenade costumes. Huge cartwheel hats of straw. Great floppy circles of linen. Capes that cover the morning's "dish" of sunburn. Beach parasols come from under cover, as well as wrap-around beach dresses, usually of linen. Sometimes all-white, with huge buttons. Or of printed linen, in stripes, plaids or flowers. Or black linen, smartest of all. Sometimes cardigan sweater sets, with straight workmanlike solid color trunks. Or very abbreviated shorts with next-to-nothing kerchief tops that expose great areas of bronzed skin. In the evening, clothes follow the same outline in back, and bronzed skins glow against carefully selected dance frocks.

* * *

THE FASHION for striped basque sweaters with solid dark trousers will probably live with us forever. Nothing seems to dim its smartness. Grown-ups sense its great chic but youngsters take to this costume too. Against dark little heads, nothing could be more cunning than red and white stripes—or blue and white stripes for long blonde curls.

PINCHOT VIEWS GUARDSMEN AT CAMPS

MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 28.—(AP.)—With a rumble of tractors, clatter of hoofs and beat of marching feet, 5,000 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen yesterday paraded before Gov. Pinchot and the State Military Reservation Commission.

The review, postponed because of Wednesday's rain, was in two sections. In the first, the 107th and 108th Field Artillery rolled past the reviewing stand at Indiantown Gap. Later, the 111th and 112th Infantry, 103rd Engineers and 28th Division special troops marched at Mt. Gretna.

Six planes of the 103rd Observation Squadron, encamped at the Middletown Army Air Depot, put on a demonstration of stunts and formation flying.

To protect military stores from an invading "enemy," Maj. Frederick Pond took out the 1st Battalion, 112th Infantry, with Company F, 103rd Engineers, on an overnight combat problem centering around Mastersonville. Tomorrow they are to be reinforced by a battery of field artillery.

Tomorrow the 103rd Engineers build a trestle bridge, later to be demolished and reconstructed.

The 107th Field Artillery fires its 75s at natural targets, at ranges of from 1,400 to 2,000 yards, and the 108th sends its 155-millimeter shells toward targets at between 2,000 and 2,500 yards.

GIRL HURT, SUES CHURCH UNION

Injuries caused by being struck on the mouth with a baseball bat were made the basis of a $25,000 damage suit on file today in Common Pleas Court and brought by William Ament, 4006 Butler street, in behalf of his daughter, Jeannette G. Ament, 10.

Jeannette, 10

The defendant, the Methodist Episcopal Church Union of Pittsburgh, is charged with allowing the girl to play with boys older than herself at the church camp at Epworth, on Perry highway, near Zelienople, August 10. The suit declares the child's teeth were loosened, her jawbone hurt and her palate injured, impairing her ability to masticate food.

Thrown from a maypole swing June 14, Mary Babey suffered head and back injuries for which she has, through her father, brought suit against the City of Duquesne for $15,000.

It is charged that the fastenings on the swing on Duquesne's First avenue playground were defective.

9 Firemen Held For Checking Blaze

LINWOOD, July 28.—(AP.)—Nine volunteer firemen are under bail of $300 each on charges of extinguishing a fire.

Aroused from their sleep by a siren, memers of Linwood's two fire companies rushed away. The Friendship Company got there first and extinguished the fire. Estimated loss, $8.

But the Linwood Company declared they were the older organization and that the Friendship Company could extinguish fires only by request. So Magistrate Joseph Mann decided to let the county court decide the problem.

2 HELD IN DEATH OF DENTIST

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—Two men from Stamford, Conn., were charged with homicide here in connection with the robbery and slaying of Dr. E. Warren Sylla, a dentist, last Monday night.

One of the men, Edward F. Moran, 22, a shoe salesman, of Stamford, was said by two detectives to have named Thomas Kelly as the actual slayer. Kelly has not been apprehended.

The other man questioned was Joseph Terasowich, 30, an iceman, of Stamford. He disclaimed any knowledge of the crime.

Detectives said Moran related that he, Terasowich, Kelly and another man, whose identity was not disclosed, met in Stamford and decided to visit New York.

Kelly knew Dr. Sylla, Moran was quoted as saying, and suggested they rob him. They drove to New York, parked their automobile outside the dentist's apartment, and Moran and Kelly went inside, the suspect related, while the other two remained in the car.

Moran said he and Kelly had been drinking and his recollection of what happened after that was hazy.

'Recovery' Won't Create Postal Jobs

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS.)—The activities of the National Industrial Recovery Act will not necessitate the employment of additional postal workers, it was said officially today.

In some cases substitute employes may be given work but the number will not be large. Postal officials claim the service already is overmanned to the extent of 12,000 but there will be no wholesale discharges, it was stated.

TWO KIDNAPING VICTIMS STILL MISSING

Associated Press.

The law pointed today to a ten-strike against kidnaping—the first death sentence in an abduction case—but two victims of kidnapers still were missing.

Three weeks ago today the young National Guard lieutenant, John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, N. Y., was abducted. He is still unaccounted for. The other man still unreturned is Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man. His wife was reported today near collapse, all efforts at negotiation for his release having been unsuccessful.

O'CONNELL MYSTERY

The ransom demand in the case of O'Connell was originally a quarter of a million dollars. Subsequent negotiations may have reduced it, but members of the young man's family have not been communicative, and authorities confess themselves balked.

On the heels of the imposition of the death sentence upon Walter McGee for the kidnaping of Mary McElroy in Kansas City, the prosecution announced it would seek the same extreme penalty for McGee's brother, George, and for Clarence Click, held in the same kidnaping case.

Federal agencies have shown increasing energy in the pursuit of kidnapers. At Leominster, Mass., today postal inspectors and men from the district attorney's office inquired into threats to kidnap executives of the Wachusett shirt factory and members of their families. The writers of the letters demanded a wage increase for employes. Police have been stationed at the homes of the officials threatened.

U. S. RELENTLESS

Joseph B. Keenan, an assistant United States attorney general, said:

"Gangsters and kidnapers throughout the nation may expect the full force of the government in vigorously, persistently and relentlessly prosecuting the violation of every federal law, and in co-operating with state authorities, seeking the maximum penalty in each case."

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., retired, urged modified martial law, which, he thought, would end kidnaping within a month. He said:

"By such a plan we'd soon see the end of the rats who live on ransom money."

Through the agency of federal detectives, prisoners are being held at Milwaukee and St. Louis for the kidnapings respectively of Charles Hamm, Jr., and August Luer.

KIDNAPED GIRL SAVED BY CORK

WILMINGTON, Del., July 28.—(INS.)—Little Anna May Adams, 10, was back home today convinced that she owed her life or at least her safety to a bottle cork.

Because two men, who she claims kidnaped her last night, were unable to remove the cork from a bottle she believed to contain chloroform, they became disgusted and gave her freedom, she informed authorities.

The girl was found crouched behind a barn near her home about midnight.

Lawyer's Son Missing From Harwichport

HARWICHPORT, Mass., July 28.—(AP.)—Clinton C. Taylor, Jr., 17, son of a New York lawyer, was missing today from his summer home in Harwichport, scene of the recent Margaret (Peggy) McMath kidnaping.

His father asked police to aid him in the search. He said his son often went on hikes and believed it possible he might have hitch-hiked to New York.

POLICE OF WORLD TO CO-OPERATE

CHICAGO, July 28.—(AP.)—A formula for an international clearing house for the apprehension of crooks was the objective of European, American and Canadian police and criminologists today.

Such an organization would deal with matters of extradition, white slavery, drug smuggling, and the tracing of confidence men, but, it was indicated, would not deal with kidnapings and gangs as they were considered as peculiarly "American institutions."

A preview of what may be undertaken by the criminologists was given last night by Police Commissioner James S. Bolan, of New York, who told them that at present there is a lack of complete co-ordination and co-operation of the authorities in their attempt to run down criminals.

It was indicated prior to today's session that the International Criminal Police Commission, with headquarters in Vienna, may serve as the nucleus of the European organization and the new anti-crime bureau of the Department of Justice at Washington as the Western Hemisphere headquarters.

4 Assailants Slay Chicago Gangster

CHICAGO, July 28.—(INS.)—Another underworld murder, the second in 24 hours, hurled defiance today at the war against crime as officers were rounding up the first of 24 defendants, headed by Al Capone, named in a blanket grand jury indictment charging a huge racketeering conspiracy.

Four assassins strolled into a North Side barroom and there shot and killed Thomas Fredinordo, 27, alias Tony Rocco, a known gangster.

CAPONE'S CASE TERRORIZES RACKETEERS

punch at the men who have repeatedly threatened to halt all trucking in the city.

A second list has been placed before the grand jury, it was learned, and this list is expected to name underworld characters of the type of Murray Humphries, Marcus (Studdy) Looney, William (Klondike) O'Donnell, and William (Three-Fingered Jack) white.

These men, long infamous underworld characters, foresaw the day when they could no longer peddle beer to the working man, and began to lay the lines which finally enabled them to levy tribute of millions of dollars a year from the same working men for "protection" and "benefits."

EARLY TRIALS

As he girded himself for the second attack on the army of bloodsuckers, Courtney announced that every effort will be made to bring about arraignments and trial of the defendants within 60 days. He declared:

"I do not intend to stand for any severances or delays."

Three of those indicted have already been arrested. They are Sapiro, who is being held by New York police; Jerry Donovan, business agent of the Beverage Drivers' Union, and Sam Feldman, president of the Cook County Hand Laundry Owners' Association.

Dr. Squires, University of Chicago economist, was reported en route to Chicago from Pennsylvania where he has been serving as a federal strike conciliator, and Alderman Nelson will return immediately from Europe, according to his law partner, to accept service on the capias.

Courtney said he would ask federal authorities to order the removal of Al Capone from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta to stand trial.

PROSECUTOR JUBILANT

Courtney was jubilant today at the action of the grand jury in indicting Capone, the city's No. 1 gangster, now serving a sentence at Atlanta federal penitentiary for income tax evasion, and Murray Humphreys, Capone's reputed successor. Courtney said:

"It is the first time the state has been able to get anything on Capone, and we'd like to make sure he'll go behind bars of the state penitentiary when he finishes his Atlanta sentence."

Courtney said an attempt would be made to bring Capone to Chicago under armed guard to stand trial with the others.

Since the investigation was begun last May 7, Courtney said there hadn't been a bombing in the laundry, carbonated beverage and cleaners and dyers' trades in Chicago. He also said the inquiry, comprising testimony of 588 witnesses, had been conducted without special funds.

Sapiro Wins Delay, Denies Racket Charge

NEW YORK, July 28.—(INS.)—Aaron Sapiro, New York attorney, was arraigned before Magistrate Thomas A. Aurelio in Tombs Court today charged with being a fugitive from justice from the state of Illinois. After argument the hearing was adjourned for two weeks—until August 11.

Sapiro and 23 others were named in a blanket indictment issued in Chicago yesterday, charging them with bombing, acid throwing and restraint of legitimate trade through terrorism. Sapiro was named because he was counsel for almost a year of the Chicago Laundry Owners' Association. He resigned that position on June 2.

David P. Siegel, counsel for Sapiro, said:

"There is not a shred of evidence to warrant the voting of the iundictment or to support it, and we want the whole case brought out into the open."

Siegel said it was his purpose to answer "poisonous propaganda which came from Chicago against my client."

Sapiro, in an interview later, gave a detailed explanation of the situation. He explained he had been counsel for the Chicago Laundry Owners' Association for nearly a year, for which he was paid at the rate of $25,000 per annum.

He said in organizing the laundry owners he suggested contracts be made by the original owners with the association by which they fixed a minimum price and agreed to maintain the provisions of a fair practice code. He continued:

"There was some trouble with some of the hand laundries. Somebody from the outside did some bombing. I have the absolute opinion that the unions had nothing to do with it. There was lots of violence in the dyeing and cleaners group because of ap rice war."

Asked if Al Capone or any of his mob had anything to do with the laundry organization, Sapiro said:

"No."

'Flower Burglar' Alarm Makes Girl Captive

WICHITA, Kan., July 28.—(AP.)—Thomas H. Hurst got tired of planting flowers in his yard for persons to pull up, so he wired one of the plants to a "burglar alarm."

He tied a string to one plant and attached it to the chain of an electric light socket, fitted with bulb.

Hurst said the set-up worked and when the light flashed he ran into the yard in time, he said, to see a woman, clad only in night clothes, yanking away at his shrubbery. Hurst told Judge Helsel in police court that the woman he saw was Miss Nancy Brunkoeber, 19.

She was fined $5 for destroying private property.

Squires Drops Mediation Of Reading Strike

READING, Pa., July 28.—(AP.)—Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, one of those indicted by a federal grand jury, last night announced he had broken off negotiations as mediator in the Reading hosiery strike and was returning to Chicago, "but not as the result of the indictment." He said:

"I had already made my plans to go back before I received any information on the grand jury action. There is no question of my surrender, because my $10,000 bond has already been arranged for by my attorney."

In Washington last night, before she left for Pittsburgh, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins said she would "look into" Dr. Squires' indictment.

Accountant Gone, Kidnaping Feared

FAIRMONT, Minn., July 27.—(AP.)—A young man was missing today—kidnaped, some investigators believed, by someone with a motive other than to obtain ransom.

Officers disclosed that George R. Cavers, 22, had received several threatening notes last March, but expressed belief his fellow local National Guardsmen were playing a joke on him then.

DEATH FOR ALL KIDNAPERS AIM

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 28.—A national set of laws imposing the death penaltty for kidnaping was advocated today by Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, chairman of the United States Senate sub-committee investigating racketeering.

Senator Copeland, physician, sociologist and humanitarian, admitted this viewpoint was a right-about-face for him. He said:

"Heretofore I have been against capital punishment. But the motherhood of the nation is terrified over the epidemic of kidnaping. Letters from mothers throughout the nation have been pouring into my office asking if something cannot be done about it.

"I am glad Missouri set an example in sentencing Walter McGee to death for the kidnaping of Mary McElroy.

"If Congress were voting on a bill, at the present time, providing death for kidnapers, it would be passed."

COURT NAMES 6 POLL OFFICERS

Judge William H. McNaugher today announced the following new election officers:

Majority inspector, Sixteenth District, Fifteenth Ward, Walter E. Doyle, to replace Murdoch Dugan, moved; minority inspector, Third Ward, Avalon, Fred Ward, to replace Marie G. Scott, moved; majority inspector, First District, Wilmerding, Elsie J. Davis, to replace E. Duncan, resigned.

J. N. Hoffman was named as majority inspector of the First Ward, North Versailles Township, to replace Jamima Hoffman, moved; Paul Massung as minority inspector in the same district, to replace Charles Luehm, moved; and John Perichak as minority inspector in Braddock Township, to replace Thomas Zoretich, moved.

Courteous Stranger Steals Typewriters

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—Michael Mongello, say police, would walk into a busy office, tip his hat to the stenographers and with a "good day" walk out. Everybody thought he was a repair man.

Detectives found 14 typewriters in his room. He said he needed the typewriters for correspondence.

Rides 159 Miles to And From Job Daily

CLEVELAND, July 28.—(AP.)—John W. Slagle, employe of the New York Central Railroad, has traveled 159.6 miles to and from his work each day for 13 years. He will retire Monday at the age of 70.

His friends figure he's ridden trains 720,000 miles between his home at Galion, O., 79.8 miles from here, and Cleveland. He said:

"When I was transferred my wife didn't want to leave Galion, and I'd just as soon ride a train as a street car, so we stayed down there where most of our friends are. It seems too bad to quit now just when I'm getting used to commuting."

Slagle has been railroading 44 years.

SPANISH-RUSS TRADE PUSHED

MADRID, July 28.—(AP.)—Negotiations for a commercial treaty between Spain and Russia were seen today as a result of Madrid's recognition of the Soviet regime.

Foreign Minister De Los Rios, who dispatched a note to Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff at Moscow saying the Spanish government recognized de facto and de jure the Soviet government, said a trade pact is looked for soon as a basis for commercial relations.

The newspaper La Voz in this connection said Spain buys about $4,400,000 worth of petroleum from Russia and the Soviets use about $1,100,000 worth of Spanish butter annually, and hoped an improvement in the trade balance could be achieved.

M'GOVERN TO CALL CITY-COUNTY WORKS PARLEY

POLITICS

Herron's Name Only One Certain at Primary

—By MARK SHIELDS—

Mr. Shields

It is a strange situation when, with four candidates announced for the Republican mayoralty nomination, the public to which they appeal is definitely certain only that one will have his name on the ballot on primary day.

The four candidates, as probably anyone knows by now, are Mayor John S. Herron, James F. Malone, P. J. McArdle and Joseph N. Mackrell. It is positive that Mr. Herron will be there September 19, no matter where he may be September 20. But there is a feeling of uncertainty regarding the other three.

Mr. Malone has often stated his willingness to withdraw in the interests of harmony against the administration, but Mr. McArdle and Mr. Mackrell have said they are in to the finish. In view of these statements, it may be surprising that there is so much rumor and speculation about one or the other withdrawing. Their own utterances would tend to allay such discussion.

Blame Candidates For Uncertainty

There are several reasons for the uncertainty, some tangible and some atmospheric. Perhaps, the conferences which preceded the announcements of Mr. McArdle and Mr. Mackrell, the fact that neither came into the fight until William P. Witherow, original candidate of the Citizens' League, took himself out in favor of Mr. McArdle, may have something to do with the condition.

Again, perhaps the fact that none of the candidates has publicly stated any concr te views toward the changes he would make in the city government enters into the feeling. Further, the failure to open campaign headquarters, with the additional information that neither candidate sets a date earlier than August 7 for open organization work, may be a factor.

Whatever the causes, the fact of uncertainty remains, and it is confusing to the voters. In great groups, they hesitate to seize a standard and march bravely in whatever army they consider the representative of purity and light, only to have the standard droop before they get halfway down the block.

Malone Puts Self in Good Position

The latest offer of Mr. Malone to compromise, including the intimation that he and the other two anti-administration candidates might well withdraw in favor of another man not now in the race, has caused considerable talk. There is not much belief that Mr. Malone expected to have his idea adopted. But he was certainly putting himself in good public position with an adroit exposition. If he determines to go through with his own candidacy he can claim that it isn't his fault that confusion exists, and can attempt to capitalize that.

Some of those with whom Mr. Malone conferred contend he was not as c- ciliatory and open to suggestion in private conversations as he is in public addresses, but that is beside the point of propaganda.

One result of Mr. Malone's speech is to bring into more active discussion the name of former Mayor William A. Magee as a possible compromise. He has been friendly with all the anti-Herron candidates, as well as with Mr. Herron, but now is represented as having obligations to none.

When he retired from the mayoralty it is understood he, in view of past association, insisted upon a condition that Mr. Herron and Mr. McArdle should not at that time be troubled, and he, of course, would do nothing to trouble them. Now, however, it is understood Mr. Magee feels that these obligations have been discharged by him, that whatever occurred to Mr. Herron or Mr. McArdle beyond the councilmanic terms then involved, was their own business.

That would leave him free to get into a campaign.

Magee Might Enter November Race

It might be that he would not be pressed now, but would be appealed to after the primary if the independents were not satisfied with the outcome of the September preliminary. It is no secret that some outstanding independents, men who have been active through independent movements which built a foundation for some of the present converts, are not now taking much interest in the primary. They want to wait for November. That attitude does not help an anti-Herron movement in September, but some of these men are not intensely interested in any of the various forms the present anti-Herron movement is taking. Perhaps they can be enlivened in the next eight weeks.

The Eighteenth Ward fracas with which Mayor Herron dealt yesterday was something unique. A delegation, led by Dr. William J. Powers, appeared at the executive's office to protest the brand of ward chairmaning being done by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones. They claimed they were not being done right by in the awarding of relief jobs—as if there were any politics in those jobs!

The Mayor listened, and said he would stick to Magistrate Jones. The recalcitrants said they were for Senator Coyne, but they didn't like the magistrate. Neither does Senator Coyne.

In the last election of ward chairmen, Senator Coyne attempted to sidetrack him. Coyne was called to Butler when the late Mayor Charles H. Kline was there on trial, told to keep hands off Jones, and he remained. Apparently Herron feels the same way over the Eighteenth Ward.

VOTE MACHINES READY NOW, REES SAYS

Fall Election to Find 1,100 of Them In Use

The county's 1,100 voting machines are ready now and will be used in the fall election, with the addition of further safeguards, Maj. William T. Rees, director of the County Elections Bureau, said yesterday.

He added:

"I'm perfectly satisfied that they are usable now, but with the new locks, washer and filler equipment, they will get further safeguards."

The voting machines, purchased three years ago by a former board of County Commissioners, have never given full service and many, in use in the intervening elections, were reported inadequate and faulty.

The Commissioners Tuesday let a contract for $23,900 for installing the additional safeguards. Maj. Rees said the work would require about 30 days, and that it would start next Monday.

WRECK DELAYS BUFFALO FLYER

Passenger traffic between Pittsburgh and Buffalo on the Pennsylvania Railroad was delayed at East Sandy, Pa., by derailment of a freight train early this morning. The flyer scheduled to arrive here at 8:25 was five hours late, according to officials of the Conemaugh division.

One car of the freight train was derailed, but owing to the single track at that point, five hours were necessary to clear the wreckage, officials said.

To care for Pittsburgh passengers, trains were made up at Kittanning.

WOMAN SEEKING OFFICE FAINTS

Mrs. May C. Smith, candidate for jury commissioner, fainted in the midst of her speech at a mass meeting in the Knoxville Junior High school last night. She was assisted to a chair by County Court Judge M. A. Musmanno.

Judge Musmanno headed the list of candidates who addressed the meeting under auspices of the Ladies of the Pittsburgh Boosters. Jack Huston presided.

Other candidates to speak were Raymond D. Evans, for Common Pleas Court; Mrs. Sarah M. Phillips, for city council; George K. Willock, for alderman of the Thirtieth Ward; J. A. Schrader, for jury commissioner, and Attorney John J. McGrath for County Court.

Regrets were read from Councilmen George S. Oliver, Clifford B. Connelley, and Frank L. Duggan, and Judge Ralph H. Smith.

Judges to Attend Banquet to Vann

A number of judges and prominent attorneys were to attend a testimonial banquet to Robert L. Vann, prominent Negro attorney and publisher, tonight in honor of his appointment as special assistant to the United States Attorney General. The dinner, to be held in Pythian Temple, Center avenue and Dinwiddie street, is timed for 6:45 p. m.

Ripley Displays Pickpocket of Nudist Colony

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

CHICAGO, July 28.—The Century of Progress has already absorbed six million visitors. The real rush will not start until the crops are in.

Although Philadelphia will not believe it, Chicago has put over another World Fair.

There is no use trying to describe it. It will knock off your whiskers and take your necktie along with them.

The high spots are the streets of Paris, the Belgian village and Bob Ripley's odditorium.

Rip has collected every amazing freak in the world. He has even got a pickpocket who was captured in a nudist colony.

The famous Cash-and-Carry Pyle is in charge of the odditorium.

Pyle is figuring on starting another coast-to-coast marathon with six-legged calves.

Rip is getting ready to leave for Russia and we're glad of it. Every time he looks at you you get a feeling he is measuring you for a glass case of a pickle vat.

Ex-Tech Grid Captain, Pitt Co-Ed to Marry

RUTH STIMMLER . . . PITT CO-ED MARRYING TECH CAPTAIN

Romance Got Start In Fraternity Dance Sigh

"No sooner met but they looked, no sooner looked but they loved, no sooner loved, but they sighed, no sooner sighed but they asked one another the reason, no sooner knew the reason but they sought the remedy."

Shakespeare's immortal lines in "As You Like It" speak for lovers of all times. Here is a twentieth century version:

Mr. Dreshar

The boy was a football captain. The girl was a co-ed from a rival school. The time was an early spring night in April. The place was a fraternity house, and the occasion a fraternity dance.

The girl was there with another boy. The football captain looked, and no sooner looked but sighed. Being a man of action, he soon got a dance with her. And that was the beginning.

At a dinner-dance at the Pines, Perrysville road, pretty Ruth Stimmler, 21, former University of Pittsburgh co-ed, announced her engagement to John E. Dreshar, of Irwin, Pa., former Carnegie Tech football captain. No date has been set for the wedding.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stimmler, of 1909 Termon avenue, North Side. Dreshar is a graduate of Bellefonte Academy and Carnegie Tech, a member of Phi Kappa fraternity and the Dragons, an honorary fraternity. He was captain of the 1926 freshman football team, which did not lose a game, and succeeded the famous Howard Harpster, all-American quarterback as captain of the Tech eleven in 1929 and 1930. He will coach football at Tarentum High School this fall.

145,821 Vehicles Inspected by State

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(INS.)—Department of Revenue tabulations today showed a steady increase in the number of motor vehicles inspected by official stations.

In the three weeks ended July 22, a total of 145,821 vehicles were inspected. Of that number, 104,016, or 71.2 per cent, needed corrections. The inspection campaign ends September 30.

Train Rider's Fall Delays Rail and Auto Traffic

A Pennsylvania Railroad freight train was held in Homestead over an hour last night while railroad police searched the right-of-way for a man they had seen fall from the top of one of the cars.

They found Adam Minosky, 34, of the Helping Hand, 339 Water street, suffering cuts and bruises. He was taken to Homestead Hospital. Automobile traffic from McClure avenue to Heisel street was delayed.

WIFE TO JOIN ACCUSED MATE

With her 15 months old son, Mrs. Bertha Hindeman Callahan, 29, a former Pittsburgher, was speeding westward to California today to protect and defend her husband, James Callahan, alias Murphy, when he is tried in Long Beach, Cal., on a charge of fatally beating his second wife.

With an escort of California detectives, Callahan left Pittsburgh a week ago. He was arrested here on complaint of California authorities after a search of seven years.

Lack of funds kept Mrs. Callahan in Pittsburgh until now. When welfare agencies were unable to advance her funds for the trip back to California because they could not establish a residence there for her, the money came from an unknown source.

Rubbish Blazes In Store Cellar

VOTE OFFICIALS OPPOSED IN COYNE WARD

Pardoned Slayer and Dolan Protested By Independents

The Independents in the Fourth Ward, home of State Senator James J. Coyne, today fought to bar a pardoned slayer from one election board while a petition was filed to supplant Tom Dolan as judge of election in another district.

Maitland A. Wilson, of 320 South Neville street, whose political affiliations were not revealed, filed a petition for appointment as judge of election in the Eighth District in place of Dolan. The petition described Dolan as "removed" apparently referring to his moving from the district.

ONE OF '3 TOMS'

Dolan was one of the "Three Toms" indicted in the Monaca Club gambling and liquor prosecution, the others being Tom Coyne and Tom Goslin. Dolan subsequently was indicted by the federal grand jury in the federal vote probe on charges of election cheating.

Attorney J. Garfield Houston, representing the Independent Republican forces, opposed the petition for appointment of R. L. Henderson, as minority inspector in the Fourth District. Henderson was represented by Attorney Howard W. Neely, Republican ward chairman and Coyne leader.

RECORD SUBMITTED

Houston presented to Judge W. H. McNaugher a record which he said showed Henderson had been found guilty of first degree murder February 24, 1925, in the shooting of Harry Schlessman, of 2447 Charles street. He was granted a new trial, then pleaded guilty to second degree murder May 7, 1926.

He was sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years, but was pardoned by Former Gov. John S. Fisher.

Henderson on the witness stand admited the record, but contended he acted in self-defense.

Houston declared

"Election officials in the Fourth Ward should be above suspicion because of the known difficulty we have in fighting dishonest election practices in that ward."

Judge McNaugher continued the hearing until next Thursday to give Houston time to propose some one else.

LABOR DISPUTE AT P. O. AIRED

Judge W. H. McNaugher today heard testimony in the labor dispute blocking work on the new postoffice.

H. B. Frazier, Earl Heasley and others, members of the Plasterers' Protective Association, are seeking an injunction against the Aronberg-Fried Company, contractors on the postoffice, to restrain them from interfering with the plaintiffs' employment.

W. J. Frazier, of 1909 Perrysville avenue, a plasterer for 55 years, testified others refused to work with them and that a leader of the hod carriers' union had called them "scabs."

The plaintiff plasterers went to work July 11, under direction of the Hachmeister-Lind Company, they testified, and on July 19 they were put off the job by policemen and business agents of other unions. The work has been held up since that time.

BOY GUEST, 4, LOST IN STROLL

Little Eddie Westwood, 4, was back at his grandmother's home in Dunseith street today after his brief visit downtown late yesterday.

Eddie was wandering in the Boulevard of the Allies, near Smithfield street, when a policeman stopped and asked where he lived.

Because he didn't remember exactly, he was taken to Central Police Station. There he amused the matron with his left-handed drawings.

A short time later Eddie's mother, Mrs. Sarah Westwood, claimed him. Mrs. Westwood, who lives in Lorain, O., told police Eddie left the home of her mother, Mrs. Rose Kane, of 229 Dunseith street, to visit his other grandmother, Mrs. Mathilda Westwood, 140 Mohawk street, and then took the stroll.

Widow, Daughter Both Will Marry

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., July 28.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mary A. Shannon, 49, of Leesburg, twice a widow, and her 16-year-old daughter, Sarah, took out licenses to marry yesterday.

Mrs. Shannon obtained a license to wed Charles E. Russell, 45, of Leesburg, and the daughter received a license to marry Clarence E. Pogue, 18, of Chambersburg.

BOARD TO NAME AIDES MONDAY

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Appointment of a state engineer and legal advisers will be made by the Pennsylvania Advisory Board of the Emergency Public Works Administration at its organization meeting next Monday.

Joseph C. Trees and his colleagues—A. E. Malmed, of Philadelphia, and J. Hale Stineman, of Lancaster—will complete the tentative setup of the board in compliance with a letter of instructions sent out today by Harold L. Ickes, federal administrator.

The state engineer will be the most important officer under appointment by the board and he will pass on all projects submitted for allotment of federal aid funds. According to Ickes, he will be directly responsible to the federal board in Washington, and his recommendations after the approval of the state board will be final when projects are submitted to the regional administrator.

State advisory boards have been cautioned to keep down overhead expenses. Legal advisers will receive fees for work actually done. The three board members will receive $10 a day only for those days when the board is in session. There will be a small clerical force and the aid of volunteer workers will be encouraged.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 28.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, the London conference closed. It has just disbanded, but it ended the day it started. You will hear a lot of 'em say that it didn't accomplish anything, but it did. They stayed in session till every nation got thoroughly disgusted with each other.

Will Rogers

There is no place in the world to find out the shortcomings of each other like a conference. Now every delegation goes home and tells tales on the others. Of course we leave as the principal villain. We were supposed to bring the pie that they were to cut. When we didn't bring it, the banquet was a total loss.

Where is the next conference? We just love to confer.

Yours, WILL.

UNITED APPEAL FOR FEDERAL AID SOUGHT

Early Meeting With Trees Proposed by Commissioner

Co-operation of city and county in obtaining their share of the $3,300,000,000 appropriated by Congress for public works projects to revive industry and commerce was assured here today.

CChairman Charles C. McGovern of the County Commissioners agreed to call a conference of city and county officials to map out a concerted drive.

At the suggestion of Mayor John S. Herron who had already pledged the city to co-operation, McGovern will push for an early meeting with Joseph C. Trees, chairman-to-be of the state public works advisory board, to hear his views on obtaining funds.

ACTION NEAR

Trees' board of three is expected to be ready next week for action on applications for federal grants and loans to assist in works projects that may return thousands to work in the Pittsburgh district in the near future.

Trees, partner of Democratic leader, M. L. Benedum, has already said that he will work for the best interests of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. Trees said that he considers it in the letter and spirit of the law to aid those districts most affected by the depression.

Herron had said:

"A united drive to obtain for Pittsburgh and Allegheny County their share of the $3,300,000,000 appropriated by Congress for public works projects to revive industry and commerce is sensible.

"A good committee would be the three Commissioners, the Mayor and a committee of Council, I should think. We must all humble ourselves and pool our needs into a plan meeting the best interests of both city and county.

"We should confer with Mr. Trees as soon as possible and work in close harmony with business interests."

Asked about Herron's outline of the committee, McGovern said:

"Sounds like a good idea."

L. W. Monteverde, chairman of the City Planning Commission started the co-operation move by suggesting that a joint committee work out a program for presentation at the earliest possible moment.

LACK CO-OPERATION

The city and county have worked disjointedly in the past. City engineers and solicitors have presented Pittsburgh's tentative applications in several different places whenever they could find listeners; special representatives, engineers and County Solicitor Churchill Mehard have represented Allegheny County.

The extent of co-operation until today has been a promise by both jurisdictions not to compete in seeking loans and grants.

If the present intentions of the heads of the two governments materialize, a joint program will be presented to the advisory board.

City and county projects now call for bridges, a tunnel, highway and street and sewer improvements, a park swimming pool and the city wharf improvement program.

Monteverde had proposed a committee of businessmen, working with McGovern and Herron, to work out a co-ordinated program and present it jointly. Monteverde said:

"The projects with their details are available and it should be a relatively simple matter to work out a joint program."

McGovern agreed to co-operate, but he preferred the Herron suggestion amending Monteverde's plan.

OBJECTIONS AIRED

McGovern cited as possible objections to the proposal that the city and county projects cannot, in general, be co-ordinated because so many county projects have no relation to the city's needs. He pointed to the widening of Jerome avenue, McKeesport, to provide a through traffic artery for the city as an example. Then he said:

"A board of commissioners back in 1924—before we had anything to do with it—mapped out a plan for improvements and pushed it for some years.

"Whether we like it or not, the only thing we can do is carry the project through and get some good out of it rather than throw the whole invest-

PINCHOT BUILDS MACHINE, SAYS BALDWIN

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(AP.)—Auditor General Frank E. Baldwin yesterday charged Gov. Pinchot is "building up a political organization through county and state relief boards" and plotting his course on state relief for "personal and political aggrandizement."

Baldwin made the charge in a letter to Pinchot, in which he replied to the Governor's refusal to approve a requisition for a $4,376 automobile for the Auditor General.

The Governor, in rejecting the request for a 12-cylinder, seven-passenger car, told Baldwin he had set a limit of $2,500 for official cars. He also accused Baldwin of "wasting" state money while urging decreased state expenditures for relief.

BALANCE CITED

Baldwin, in his reply, asserted the Governor overlooked an allowance of $1,300 for an old car. He said Pinchot had approved purchase of cars "for sums within a few hundred dollars" of that which Baldwin asked. He continued:

"The very-special gold-striped job in which you made your spectacular trip to the capitol the day you were inaugurated cost the taxpayers $2,767.20. You ordered that car from a Honesdale dealer weeks before you had authority, and two months after you became Governor you approved a bill only $309 less than the cash involved in the requisition I made. Had you forgotten your circus wagon when you wrote me the other day?

"I agree with the late Governor William Cameron Sproul, who once said that he was amazed at your industry in watching for mice while elephants go by."

'PATERNAL' INTEREST

Baldwin asserted the Governor had shown his "almost paternal interest in the present Auditor General" during the 1932 primary campaign when Pinchot raised $215,000 through a 2 per cent assessment of state employes, "in your attempt to defeat Senator (James J.) Davis and me."

He further charged Pinchot had not hesitated to "cripple" the Auditor General's and State Treasurer's departments by cutting their appropriations $357,000 and $174,000, respectively.

TELLS RELIEF POLICY

Of his own relief policy, Baldwin wrote:

"I think the people of Pennsylvania understand my position in regards to relief. I want it extended to every worthy case, but I am not in favor, as you seem to be, of establishing a dole system in our state.

"I am aware that there are numerous people who are receiving relief now in all the counties of the state who are not entitled to the same, and I am in favor of the relief list in every county being purged of all those who are not entitled to relief. The taxpayers are certainly not going to be able to continue a relief program, such as you seem to favor, indefinitely."

LIST WINNERS IN $1 MENU CONTEST

Dollar dinner menus met a much greater response from the women readers of the Sun-Telegraph than the $1.50 menus featured in the earlier Prudence Penny contests.

There were nearly twice as many entries submitted in Contest No. 6—the $1 class—than in any of the preceding contests. The dollar menu really emphasized the employment of thrift. In the $1.50 menus housewives found it an easy matter to serve four persons with a well-balanced, appetizing dinner within this cost.

In the $1 entries they had to give the problem more serious thought and observe keener care in shopping for prices and selection of foods.

It will be noted by the prize-winning menus as published today that it is also easily possible to serve a dinner for four at $1—and a satisfying dinner at that. And this will be possible as long as the retail price levels for meats, groceries and vegetables remain as low as they are today. It is, however, still quite a problem to decide what is best and most appetizing in a menu of the $1 class.

The winning entries to be published from day to day in the Sun-Telegraph will offer some valuable suggestions along these lines.

The winners in the $100 prize list in Contest No. 6, which calls for $1 menus, are as follows:

The judges for this contest were Mrs. Robert K. Cochrane, Sr., president of the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. George H. Drumheller, president of the Women's Club of Aspinwall, and Mrs. E. N. Zern, chairman of the Home Department of the Crafton Women's Club.

With the mailing of the checks for the above awards this will be $600 that the Sun-Telegraph has paid out for prizes in the Prudence Penny dinner menu contests. The Sun-Telegraph believes that the results of these timely contests have brought helpful aid and experience in economical shopping and in the serving of satisfying dinners valued at many times greater than the above sum.

THEY JUDGED FINAL MENU CONTEST

MRS. GEORGE H. DRUMHELLER MRS. E. N. ZERN MRS. ROBERT K COCHRANE

Mrs. Drumheller, president of the Women's Club of Aspinwall; Mrs. Zern, chairman of the home department of the Crafton Women's Club, and Mrs. Cochrane, president of the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs, the judges for the final Prudence Penny - Sun - Telegraph menu contest. Winners are announced today. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE

Her husband threw her on some rocks, Mrs. Byrl Barry, 2306 Saranac street, testified before Judge Ambrose B. Reid, who granted her a divorce from William T. Barry. She related:

"We went to a party in Bellevue just before Halloween. My husband had been drinking and went into the back yard. I was afraid he would catch cold and thought I could induce him to return. When I went out, there were large rocks and they are what I lit on and the jar made me black and blue."

Mrs. Barry told the court her husband said that if she ever tried to interfere with him again, he would "break every bone in her body." She also charged he kept company with other women.

CO-ORDINATION ON WORKS SEEN

ment in the ditch and start a new system."

Meanwhile, the Sun-Telegraph learned in Washington that conservatism will be the keynote in granting federal money.

CONSERVATIVE OUTLAYS

The instructions will be issued within a week. They will urge state advisory boards to approve only local programs that will win quick approval in Washington.

Communities and municipalities having projects in mind must wait before proposing them until a fixed policy has been announced by the Public Works Administration. Secretary Harold L. Ickes, of the Interior Department, said:

"Local government budgets must be carefully scrutinized. The taxpayer who is paying this public works bill must be protected at every step."

Both County Controller Robert G. Woodside and City Controller James P. Kerr say the borrowing power of the county and city is far from exhausted, but Solicitor Mehard states that the county is not interested in borrowing money; it is interested solely in grants and self-liquidating loans which will not be paid by tax money.

GIRL'S SLAYER DIES IN CHAIR

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 28.—(AP.)—Glenn Donald Shustrom, former Galesburg, Ill., High School pupil, was electrocuted in the state prison early today for the murder of Alberta Knight, 12-year-old Whiting, Ind., girl.

Shustrom was alleged to have attacked the girl the night of April 10 at her Whiting home and to have killed her to prevent her from telling. Pleas of clemency on the ground he was intoxicated and the victim of hereditary insanity, were denied.

Alaskan Harbor Rocked by Quake

DUTCH HARBOR, Alaska, July 28. — (INS.) — A violent earthquake of 15 seconds duration rocked Dutch Harbor and Unalaska Island at 3:49 a. m. today, the second violent tremor in this vicinity during the last month.

Center of the quake was believed on Unimak Island in the Aleutian chain, where the turbulent volcano Shishaldin has been smoking and erupting.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

APPLE TAPIOCA NECTAR—2-3 cup brown sugar, 2 cups grape juice, 1 cup water, 1-3 cup quick-coking tapioca, 1½ cups freshly steamed apples, 3 teaspoonfuls lemon juice, ½ pint whipping cream.

In top of double boiler place sugar, grape juice and water. Add tapioca and bring to the boiling point. Place top of double boiler in lower portion and cook until tapioca is clear. Add freshly steamed apples with lemon juice and remove from fire. Serve with whipped cream.

* * *

HASTY CREOLE LUNCH—1 large can tomatoes, 1 large can peas, 1 pound weiners, 1 medium onion, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt.

Chop onion, add to tomato and stew 10 minutes. Cut weiners in half-inch lenghts and add to tomatoes. Stew slowly 20 minutes, add peas and seasoning. Serve hot.

* * *

LEMON CAKE WITH FAIRY FROSTING—1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour (measure before sifting), 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 eggs, ¼ cup melted butter, ¼ cup milk (about), ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Place sugar, flour sifted with baking powder and salt in mixing bowl. Break eggs into measuring cup, pour the melted butter over the eggs and fill the cup with sweet milk. Add this to dry ingredients and beat very well several minutes. Add vanilla. Bake in two layers.

Filling—1 egg, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, ½ cup sugar, 1-3 cup cold water, butter size of a hickory nut, 1 heaping teaspoon flour.

Mix together and boil until thick, putting lemon rind in after removing from fire. Prepare the filling before mixing the cake. When cake is cool spread filling between layers, reserving a full tablespoon to spread on top after cake is frosted.

Fairy Frosting—1 cup granulated sugar, 3 tablespoons cold water, 1 egg white (unbeaten), ½ teaspoon vanilla, added after cooking, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar.

Place in double boiler. Beat constantly with rotary beater for seven minutes. Cool. Spread over top and sides of cake, then spread the lemon filling over frosting on top.

* * *

KIPPY SANDWICH SPREAD

2 cups tomatoes, 2 tablespoons tapioca, ½ pound grated snappy cheese, 1¼ cups dried beef, finely ground; ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspon mustard, ⅛ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Strain juice from tomatoes and to the juice add the tapioca. Cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes, or until clear, stirring frequently. Add cheese gradually, stirring till melted. Remove from fire and add dried beef and seasoning. Cool. This makes about two and one-half cups of the spread.

* * *

THREE-IN-ONE BAKING—This recipe makes 3 large loaves of bread, one dozen plain rolls and one coffee-cake: 3½ quarts of flour, 1 tablespoon salt, 2½ tablespoons sugar, 2 cakes compressed sugar, 4 cups lukewarm water.

Cream yeast and sugar together and beat lightly, adding to it the tepid water. Sift flour and salt into a warm mixing bowl, make a well in the middle and pour in the yeast, stirring in enough of the flour to make a good batter. Cover and put in a warm place till bubbles fill the surface and it seems light. Then if coffee cake is wanted, take out and put aside 1 cup of this sponge, and into the rest of it, working in from the edges, mix in all but a cupful of the flour. Turn dough on the mixing board and knead 10 minutes until smooth and elastic. Put into a heavily greased bowl and turn the mass over and up to grease the entire surface. Cover and keep in warm place until it has risen to double its bulk.

Turn out on floured board and with a sharp knife cut off portions for loaves and rolls. Handle very lightly and quickly, kneading just enough to form the loaves. When loaves and rolls have risen to almost twice their bulk, bake in a hot oven 10 minutes, then reduce the heat gradually to moderate. If loaves are large they should bake 40 minutes, if small only 30 minutes. The rolls require only about 15 minutes.

For delicious coffee cake, add to the cup of sponge, 1 egg, slightly beaten, ⅓ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon melted shortening, grating of lemon rind and a few raisins or currants.

Knead in sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Let rise in a greased pan and cover with: 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter. Rub these all together and spread thickly on the coffee cake. Bake slowly for 30 minutes and cool in the pan.

* * *

PICKLED CUCUMBERS—Peel and slice enough fresh cucumbers to almost fill a two quart jar and add: 2 onions, sliced; ¾ cup sugar, 9 teaspoons salt, 1 cup cold water, fill jar with cold vinegar—seal.

* * *

PRUNE SALAD—2 dozen prunes, ¾ cup grated raw carrot, ¾ cup shredded pineapple, 1-3 cup shredded cocoanut, ⅛ teaspoon salt, lettuce, mayonnaise.

Remove pits from prunes. Mix carrots lightly with pineapple, cocoanut and salt. Stuff the prunes with liberal amount, but do not pack too tight. Leave carrots fluffy. Arrange prunes on lettuce, allowing four prunes to a serving and garnish with mayonnaise.

* * *

HOLIDAY SALAD—1 cup chopped cold boiled ham, 1 cup diced celery, ¼ cup minced onion, ½ cup chopped peppers, mixed if possible, use red, green and yellow; 1 cup mayonnaise.

Mix all the above ingredients in a bowl which has been rubbed with a clove of garlic. Make dressing in a bowl also rubbed with clove of garlic. Serve in pepper shells or on lettuce.

* * *

CHOCOLATE WASHINGTON PIE—¼ cup buttter, 1 egg, 2 cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter and the sugar, add unbeaten egg, milk, flour, baking powder, salt and vanilla. Beat well with the egg beater. Bake in moderate oven about one-half hour in two round tins. Cool. Put together with a custard or cream filling. Cover the top and sides with the following never-fail delicious chocolate frosting:

2 tablespoons melted butter, 1¼ cups confectioner's sugar, ⅓ cup cocoa, ¼ cup milk.

Boil exactly three minutes after it starts to boil. Cool, slightly, add one teaspoon vanilla and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Beat until thick and ready to spread.

THE COOK'S TOUR

Steam in cooker for 30 minutes, or until firm. Unmold and fill center with creamed salmon.

MACARONI SOUFFLE WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE—2½ cups cooked macaroni, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 cup melted butter, 2 tablespoons each chopped onion, parsley, pimento and green pepper, 2 cups each grated cheese and scalded milk, salt to taste, 6 eggs, beaten separately.

Put all dry ingredients together and add cheese, butter, egg yolks and milk. Fold in beaten whites and bake about ¾ of an hour. Serve with mushroom sauce. Serves 10.

Mushroom Sauce—1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup cream, 1 cup mushrooms, 1 tablespoon flour, salt to taste.

Mix in the order given. Beat well. Bake in a loaf pan in a slow oven 1 hour. Cool. Ice with the following icing: Place 1 cup of sugar, 5 tablespoons water and 1 egg white in the double boiler. Boil for 7 minutes, stirring all the time. Remove from fire and add ½ teaspoon vanilla, beat until thick. Spread on cake. Melt 2 squares chocolate and spread on top of white icing.

* * *

CHEESE AND CRAB MEAT DELIGHT—2 tablespoons each, chopped green pepper, butter and flour; ½ teaspoon mustard, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1-16 teaspoon cayenne, 1 cup each, cooked and strained tomatoes and grated cheese; 1 egg, slightly beaten, ¾ cup milk, 1 cup crab meat.

Cook green pepper in butter for five minutes. Blend in flour, add seasonings, tomatoes, cheese and eggs. Cook a few minutes. Heat the milk before adding the other ingredients, then crab meat. Serve on rounds of toast or crisp wafers.

Cantaloupe Is Refreshing And Tempting Fruit

Health Authority Recommends this Melon as a Wholesome Dish for the Hot Days

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Few fruits are more refreshing and tempting in appearance than the cantaloupe. When the temperature is high and the humidity great, desire for food lags. On such a day, this fruit is a welcome addition to the menu.

The cantaloupe is only one of many fruits that can be included in the diet in warm weather. It is a protective food and contains valuable vitamins. It has a wholesome flavor and stimulates the appetite. Valuable mineral salts are found within it. This fruit is alkaline in reaction and combats any tendency towards acidity.

The names "muskmelon" and "cantaloupe" are interchangeable. The word cantaloupe is derived from the Italian town, Cantalupo, where this variety of muskmelon was first grown. Muskmelon is so named because it has an odor similar to the odor of musk.

The fruit is round to oval in shape, yellow to green in color, and has a heavily netted rind. The rind has ribs extending from the stem to the opposite end. Ripe melons are heavy. They should be soft on the sides as well as at the ends.

MANY VARIETIES

When you go to market you will find many varieties on sale. The "Rocky Ford" is the most popular. It was originally grown in Rocky Ford, Col., but because of the great demand for this particular variety, it is now grown in other states. It has a dark green flesh, shading to salmon color in the center. The seed cavity is small. The flesh is thick, firm, smooth and never watery. A choice Rocky Ford melon is about five inches in diameter.

Of the larger melons, the "Montreal" and the "Golden Queen" are the most popular. The Montreal was first cultivated near Montreal, Canada. It is nearly round, has a dark green skin and a light green flesh. Large specimens weigh as much as 15 pounds.

PERISHABLE

The Golden Queen is chiefly grown in New York and New England. It is round and has a light green or yellowish skin. There is little netting in the rind. The flesh is salmon or greenish red in color. It has a pleasing and refreshing taste.

Cantaloupes are perishable. They should be handled carefully. When purchasing this fruit avoid overripe, too soft and bruised fruit.

They are best chilled in the refrigerator or ice-box. Many persons chill the fruit by placing a small piece of ice in the hollow of the fruit. This is unwise. The tempting flavor is diluted by the melted ice. This can be avoided by packing ice around the fruit.

Some persons season the melon with salt and others use sugar. This depends entirely upon the individual taste. A fully ripe melon requires little if any seasoning.

COOLIDGE GRAVE GETS STONE

PLYMOUTH, Vt., July 28.—(Universal).—A memorial tablet conforming in simplicity to the one placed at the grave of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., by his father, and in harmony with the memorials for seven generations of Coolidges, was placed yesterday in Hillside Cemetery at the grave of Calvin Coolidge, late ex-President of the United States.

This memorial, selected by Mrs. Coolidge, is of colonial type, and bears the President's seal in low relief at the top, below which is shown the simple inscription:

"Calvin Coolidge, July 4, 1872-January 5, 1933."

On each of the four corners of the panel bearing this inscription is a single star with point upward, symbolizing the commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy.

The material is of fine grained Vermont granite. It is approximately 5 feet high. Mrs. Coolidge was present for the unveiling of the memorial.

Snake Charmer Best 'Draw' at Fair

CHICAGO, July 28.—(AP.)—General Manager Lenox R. Lohr of the Century of Progress Exposition revealed that of the concessionaires the old standbys—the snake show, the street carnival, and the weight guess business, were doing the best business.

Chicken Lays Egg With Three Yolks

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 28.—(AP.) — A white leghorn hen owned by W. P. Forner laid an egg with three yolks, two contained within an outer shell and one in an egg within the egg. The egg measured five inches long and three inches through its greatest diameter, and weighed eight and three-fourth ounces.

But the task of producing an egg of this size was too much for the hen and she was sick three days. Forner reports she is now on the road to recovery.

McKees Rocks Bond Proposal Upheld

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(AP.)—The Department of Internal Affairs has approved municipal bond issues including one for the McKees Rocks school district of $100,000 for operating expenses.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

Save 1 tablespoon cheese to be sprinkled on top when serving.

* * *

JELLIED PEACHES WITH RICE—1 quart can peaches, 2 tablespoons fat, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 cup cooked rice, hot fruit juice from canned peaches, 2 tablespoons gelatine, softened in ¼ cup cold water.

Drain and slice peaches and line a mold or serving dish with the slices. Melt the fat, add sugar and stir over a very low fire until the sugar is melted. Heat the juice from peaches and add sugar mixture, cook over hot water till thoroughly mixed, pour onto gelatine softened in cold water, add rice, pour into mold or serving dish and chill.

* * *

BAKED FIG PUDDING—1 cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 4 eggs, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 3 cups flour, enough milk to make stiff batter, ½ pound figs, diced.

Cream butter and sugar. Add beaten eggs, then flour and enough milk to make a stiff batter. Add diced figs to the mixture and bake in custard cups or pudding mold.

* * *

CHEESE COLE SLAW—2 cups cabbage, shredded, 4 tablespoons grated American cheese, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, 1 teaspoon each mustard and salt, 1 tablespoon vinegar, few grains cayenne, 1 cup buttermilk, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 green pepper.

Mix cabbage and cheese. Combine seasonings and add buttermilk to them (the amount depending upon the thickness of the milk). Pour this dressing over the cabbage and garnish with green pepper rings.

* * *

CITRON FROMAGE—5 eggs, ¾ cup sugar, 1½ lemons (rind and juice), ½ tablespoon granulated gelatine, soaked in 1 tablespoon cold water.

Beat yolks, add sugar, stirring until white; add lemons and gelatine, which has been dissolved over hot water. Mix well and then fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites, mixing lightly but well. Serve with whipped cream.

* * *

14-CARROT GOLD CAKE—Boil 14 carrots until tender and rub through a sieve. Blend thoroughly with 1 cup sugar and 1-3 cup butter; then add 1 teaspoon lemon extract and 1 cup milk. Measure before sifting 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon soda. Sift twice. Beat well. Add ½ cup tiny raisins (floured). Grease pan with butter and sift a little flour over it evenly, shaking off all surplus.

* * *

PICKLED CHICKEN — Boil 4 chickens until tender enough for meat to fall from bones. Put meat in a stone crock and pour over it 3 pints of cold good cider vinegar and 1½ pints of the broth in which chickens were boiled. Add spices if preferred and it will be ready for use in two days.

* * *

WHITE AND GOLD OMELET—5 eggs, separated; fine bread crumbs, milk (two tablespoons for each egg); salt and pepper to taste.

Beat whites and yolks of eggs saparately. To the yolks, when light, add a sprinkling of fine bread crumbs (not many), then add milk. After seasoning with salt and pepper, pour into a rather warm buttered pan (an iron skillet is best). While this is cooking beat the whites very stiff and when omelet is almost cooked, spread the whites over it and allow to set through. Keep fire low and pan covered. Roll omelet, or fold over on a hot platter and serve; garnish with lettuce or parsley.

* * *

SOUR HEARTS—1 pound onions, 1½ teaspoons paprika, 2 pounds veal hearts, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons flour, 3 tablespoons fat, bay leaves, vinegar and whole peppers.

Cut onions and simmer in 1 tablespoon fat for about ½ hour. Add paprika and veal hearts cut into small strips. Let simmer on low fire for ½ hour, then add 2 cups water, 2 small bay leaves and 6 pepper corns. Let cook about 1½ hours. Brown flour and sugar in 2 tablespoons fat (be sure it is dark brown); remove from fire and add ½ water, stir well; then stir into the hearts to thicken gravy. Add vinegar to taste. Serve with noodles.

TELL IT TO ELSIE

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Your Life Does Not Depend On What Others Do

Was the girl friend to blame because Tommy went haywire?

Are other folk ever to blame for our wrecked lives—or is our own spinelessness responsible?

And is it a crime not to love, when the other fellow insists that your love is "necessary" to his or her happiness?

Yes, you've guessed it; it's another romance. A one-sided romance, with Thomas weeping all over the lot because his lady won't reciprocate

His Life Is Spoiled. He'll Never Amount to Anything. He admits it himself. Indeed, he almost boasts of it. And it's all her fault!

It was two years ago that he met her. Then, he was going strong. Good job. Plenty of ambition. Bright future. And now?

"I'm ruined!" he moans.

"I love her so! I can't get her out of my mind. I can't eat or sleep. I have lost my job. I've lost my money—and because I felt so dreadful when she turned me down, I started going with a wild bunch, until now I've lost my reputation.

"And I don't seem to care about anything any more. I have tried to tell her how much she means to me, but she won't listen. I have begged her, with tears in my eyes, not to be so cruel, but she says that it is no use; and lately she has even gone so far as to refuse to see me. The more I try to make her see how much I care, the more she seems to be merely angry at me. I can't understand it.

BLAMES GIRL

"You see, I never cared much for modern girls. I have always felt that they were too flip and independent, so I never paid attention to any girl until I met her. Yet, in spite of the way I felt about the girls of today, I felt that love was something sacred, and I felt that some day, somewhere, I would meet a Real Girl—my dream girl. And now that I have met her, she has turned me down.

"I love her more than anything on earth. My heart is broken. My life is ruined. And it is all her fault. She seemed to like me until I began to get serious, and then she grew cold.

"How can a girl wreck a man's life like that? I know I will never get over it. I look forward to nothing but a dreary life, without her, and it seems as if there isn't any use to go on, when there is cruelty like that in the world. How can I get her to understand how necessary she is to me?

"I dream of doing wonderful things, with her by my side—and then it comes to me that it is all in vain. I am just drifting—drifting. I know I can never be happy, never amount to anything, unless she will give me a break."

SHE ISN'T RESPONSIBLE

How about it, Stranger?

Is that your idea of love?

And is it a man moaning—or just a big cry baby?

Tommy thinks he "fell in love" and he can't see why that doesn't obligate the girl to return his love. But why should it? Just because he "needs" her is no sign that he fills any need in her life—and it doesn't make her responsible for his weakness.

For that is what his kind of "love" is. He wants this girl, not because he's anxious to make her life lovelier and richer, but because he wants her for a prop for his spinelessness. And because she doesn't and can't feel the same about him as he feels about her, he lies down on the job and refuses to play.

So then, what?

So then it's up to him to snap out of it, dig up a little spunk and make something of his life on his own.

Your life—My life—Doesn't depend on what someone else does. It depends on what we do—how much we make of ourselves on our own steam. And nobody's responsible but ourselves, if we refuse to make anything of it.

We all meet bumps, disappointments—but if we're worth loving, we meet them with courage and carry on. And if we do that, happiness is waiting for us—somewhere.

Given in Marriage

A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Noel Sees the Necessity of an Early Marriage

As I outlined the course which I thought Noel ought to pursue with Mary, the boy's face lighted as might a man's who has just received a reprieve on the way to the death chair.

"Don't let her guess that you know how she felt," I adjured him, uttering a mental anathema upon all love sick youths. "Tell her only of your own feelings. Tell her that you tried hard to keep back a protest against her going, because you thought it would be ungenerous to hold her back. But tell her that every minute makes it worse; that you simply cannot stand it. Then, as I told you before, if she mentions the paper and Georges, show her that you are jealous of Georges, as you are. You won't have to put up any pretense about that, Noel."

"No, I know that," he admitted shame-facedly. "But," with a sudden thought, "you know what will happen if she refuses to go, don't you? Father promised you he would continue her training as a future Veritzen star, but you know his invariable rule with all of his potential stars. A refusal to obey him in any respect means a cancellation of everything."

"I know," I said, chafing at the promise Mary extracted from me that I would say no word to Noel of the marriage, which I was sure was the only possible way of foiling Philip Veritzen's scheme to separate the young lovers. If only Noel would think of it himself.

ADVISES MARRIAGE

I kept my eyes fixed on him, and whether he caught a mental wave from me, or because his own wish was so near the surface that he expressed it, he stammered:

"Do you mean that Mary and I might marry? Oh, Mrs. Graham! It lies with you, doesn't it? Would you give your consent?"

I waved my right hand high above my head.

"Hurrah! Hurrah, Noel!" I said. "I was afraid you'd never say it. I not only consent to your marriage, but I strongly advise it. To me it seems to be the only way in which you can thwart your father's plot. There is no other word to describe it. I am sure that the only reason he wishes Mary to study abroad just now is because of the presence of Georges in Paris. He never has given up hope of having a royal daughter-in-law, and he is grasping the present chance of upsetting things with glee.

"But, fortunately for you, he left the time of your marriage entirely in my hands, and if you and Mary come and ask me about it, I shall say that you can be married tomorrow if you wish, although I would prefer that you wait a few days so that I can give you a pretty home wedding down at the farm.

NOEL EXCITED

"Every girl is entitled to a wedding, and Mary especially. As so much of her life will doubtless be spent in the public eye she will prize the memory of a quiet home wedding—not just a trip to a minister."

"It is all in your hands," he said fervently. "I am so crazily glad at the prospect of marrying Mary so much sooner than I expected, that I am scarcely sane. But what effect do you think it will have on my father?"

"He will be furious inside," I said smiling a bit maliciously as I thought of Philip Veritzen's discomfiture. "But there is nothing he can say or do. It immediately spikes his guns, so far as your marriage to anyone else is concerned, and it leaves no real reason why Mary should go over for a year's study."

"You don't know my father," Noel said gloomily, "if you think the marriage will make any difference in that plan. He will be vindictive enough to insist that Mary go, just as he has arranged."

"But you have a wonderful rod in pickle for just that very emergency," I told him. "It may involve some sacrifice on your part—"

"Sacrifice!" Noel exclaimed. "I would be cut up in inch pieces for Mary."

"I know that, Noel," I said, "and it may involve cutting up your career. It is only a probability, however. I believe that if you present a certain ultimatum to your father he will yield the point of Mary's foreign training for this time."

Household Hints

A dash of lemon juice in an apple pie brings out the flavor of the apples.

Heat a poker red hot and rub slowly over the old putty on the window frames. The heat removes the putty quickly and easily.

Children are encouraged in the cultivation of tidy habits by a laundry bag of their own. It should be hung accessibly in their room and should be so made as to open easily.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—Please tell me whether it is ever correct to have a formal church wedding ceremony without a reception given either before or after the wedding?

2—Should all the invited guests to the wedding be invited to the reception, or could just intimate friends be invited to the reception?

3—Should a member of the wedding party entertain the other members of the party?

ANN.

1—Yes, it is entirely correct to have a formal church wedding ceremony without having a reception. As a matter of fact, many brides insist on doing this, insist on having only the religious part of the occasion, with no entry of the social side. And this, I must admit, is a pleasantly independent point of view about it. There is no reason in the world why a bride should feel that she must stretch her budget or the family's budget to include a reception, unless she really wishes to do so. It isn't obligatory.

2—Very often a small reception is given, and to it there may be invited only a very few guests, close relatives and a very few close friends.

3—This is often done, but it isn't taken for granted.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A Safety Play in Trumps

The safety play is designed, as its name indicates, to assure the fulfillment of a contract. Though it may, against some distributions, cost a trick, not making it when the situation calls for it will often cost more. Until he has mastered the principles of this type of play, the Bridge player cannot be said to have passed the elementary stages. Its importance, unfortunately, has not been sufficiently emphasized by most writers, and hands illustrating its use are seldom published.

In the interest of compensating in some degree for this fault of omission, I submit the following hand, played recently at a popular club in New York, by Richard L. Frey:

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ A J 10 9 4 3 2 ♡ J 5 ◇ A ♣ Q 8 6
♠ 6 5 ♡ 9 6 ◇ Q 9 7 4 3 ♣ 10 7 5 3	North West East South	♠ K Q 8 ♡ A 10 8 4 3 2 ◇ K 10 6 ♣ J
	♠ 7 ♡ K Q 7 ◇ J 8 5 2 ♣ A K 9 4 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	2 ♡
Double (1)	Pass	3 ♠ (2)	Pass
3 N T (3)	Pass	4 ♣ (4)	Pass
5 ♣ (5)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—South senses a misfit in the hands and decides that an apparently sure set of his opponents is better than to take a chance on incurring a penalty himself.

2—North disagrees. With an Opening bid by his partner, a fit in clubs and a seven-card suit, he feels that game is practically assured.

3—South makes the only available response.

4—North could bid five clubs here, but he still hopes that the hand may be played in spades.

5—Of course South bids for game. While it is apparent to one studying all four hands that four spades can be made, the five-club contract is more logical.

West's Opening lead was the heart 9, obviously the top of the suit. East won with the Ace, and South unblocked by playing the Queen. A heart was returned, which was won with the Knave in Dummy. The Ace of spades was now led, followed by a small spade, which South ruffed. Next the King of clubs was laid down, upon which East dropped the Knave. Now Mr. Frey led a small club and finessed the 8 in Dummy. When this held, the third round of spades was led, South ruffing with the Ace of clubs. The Dummy was now re-entered by leading another club, and from this point on West could make only this trump.

The student will notice that if the club finesse had failed, the contract would still be perfectly safe, as the Declarer would win any lead and still hold two entries to the Dummy. It is an unusual situation that a trump finesse for a ten-spot should be so clearly indicated on the second round, and it was fortunate that, with the cards distributed as they were, the Declarer saw the safety play and made it.

TODAY'S QUESTION

North-South vulnerable; East-West not vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	3 ◇	Pass	?

You, East, hold:

♠ Q 7 5 ♡ J 7 6 2 ◇ Q 5 ♣ A 9 6 3

What do you bid?

Answer: Pass. Although East's hand contains more than 1½ honor-tricks, West has made a bid which is purely pre-emptive, and, as a matter of fact, may even be semi-psychic. A Jump Overcall in this situation is not a strength-showing bid; if West held a good hand, he would have doubled rather than bid three diamonds. There is no hope for East and West to score game on this hand.

When Dining Out

Unless you are a very good friend of the hostess and she has no maid, do not in any way help to "clean up" at the table, such as gathering up crumbs from the table or piling up the dishes preparatory to removal. It is very poor taste.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Jaundice Is Indication of Internal Disturbance

While riding in a street car, the other day, I noticed several persons staring with great curiosity at one of the passengers. The man's skin was the color of a lemon and even the whites of his eyes appeared yellow. Evidently his skin itched for he seemed uncomfortable and could not resist the temptation to scratch his hands and face.

Dr. Copeland

It is probable that most of my fellow passengers wondered what was the matter with this man. If you have ever seen a case of jaundice, knowing what it was, you would immediately have recognized it. "Yellow jaundice" is an annoying and often stubborn condition.

It is not a disease, but is a symptom or sign of some disturbance of the bile passages. Normally, the bile forms in the liver and is stored in the gallbladder. There are certain passages which lead from the gallbladder to the intestine.

When there is an obstruction in the bile passages the bile is dammed back and overflows into the blood stream. The blood distributes the bile to the skin and other parts of the body. This gives the sufferer the yellow discoloration of the skin called "jaundice."

The obstruction may be caused by any inflammation of the stomach, intestine, liver or gallbladder. It may be the result of gallstones that block the passage and prevent the flow of bile. In other cases it may be a sign of some serious disturbance of the pancreas or blood.

Jaundice may occur in the young as well as the old. In fact, there is a form of jaundice frequently encountered in newborn infants. This type is medically known as "icterus neonatorum." It is not serious and the condition disappears within a few days.

"Acute catarrhal jaundice" is commonly seen in adults after a simple cold, grip or "flu." It is believed to be a catarrhal inflammation of the bile passages caused by the same germs that cause the grip or cold. It is never serious, but is extremely uncomfortable.

The sufferer complains of a mild headache, dizziness, nausea and vomiting. The skin is discolored and itches. This may persist for a period of three or four weeks. Mild cases require little medication other than rest in bed and proper diet.

Severe cases are benefited by use of the so-called "duodenal tube."

Bear in mind that jaundice is a sign of some disturbance within the body. It requires medical attention and should never be neglected.

Answers to Health Queries

R. S. W. Q.—I have been troubled for a long time with constipation and chronic appendicitis. This condition has affected my entire system—what would you advise?

A.—Have your doctor advise you. Removal of the appendix would probably be of general advantage under these circumstances. Avoid constipation and indigestion. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Apologizing About Food

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

I hope you're not the kind of hostess who apologizes about her food—"This isn't as good as I hoped it would be," or "My dessert didn't turn out well today," or "I'm so sorry that this souffle fell."

Consider your guest. Such apologies naturally leave her embarrassed. Even the most articulate and gracious guest meets defeat in this situation, for all she can do is to say something that she hopes won't sound weakly non-committal or obviously insincere.

How much better for you, the hostess, to take the quality of the food for granted and let your guest do the same.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Steel instruments are not to be used to push back nail cuticle. Soak the finger ends in warm soap suds, lift up the flesh gently with an orange stick that has been cut to a rounded point. Snip away hangnails, but don't cut the dead skin at the bottom of the nail. If you do, it will only grow heavier and thicker, be more unmanageable, meaner.

If the nose reddens, stays persistently red, it is worth the time and money expended to consult a medical man who specializes in diseases of the skin and scalp. A flame-colored nez is no minor beauty ill. The source of the trouble may be an unbalanced diet. Or an infection may be smoldering. Anyhow, never use water that is extremely hot or cold. Ointment of zinc oxide is beneficial in the early stages of this distressing blemish.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

PUDDING—1 cup creamed cottage cheese, ½ cup sugar (reserve two tablespoons for meringue), 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup raisins, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ⅛ teaspoon each, ginger and nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cloves, 2 cups bread, cubes.

Line bottom of baking dish with bread (stale cake may be used). Make a custard by creaming cottage cheese with sugar, egg yolks and milk. Add spices and salt and pour over bread cubes in dish. Bake in a moderate oven until set. Make a meringue of the two egg whites beaten until stiff, fold in two tablespoons sugar, then return to oven and bake until meringue begins to brown.

* * *

OYSTER BISQUE—One we like at this season of the year, 1 pint milk, 1 pint oysters, ½ pint cream, ¼ teaspoon mace, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, salt and pepper to taste.

Pick over oysters for bits of shell. Cook in milk and own liquor until edges curl. Strain, saving the liquor, and then chop fine. Return to liquor and add mace, salt and pepper to taste. Mix butter and flour and thicken liquor with this, add cream and cook a few minutes until free from lumps. Beat egg, then turn hot bisque over it, stirring well. Serve very hot with toasted crackers.

Canned oysters can beu sed.

* * *

LUNCHEON SALAD—This palate-teasing salad is a meal in itself. It often answers the question, "What shall we have for luncheon or the Sunday night supper?"

One pound veal roast or chicken, ½ pound cooked veal tongue, 2 salt herring, 2 cups potatoes, cooked; 2 cups sour apples, large; 2 dill pickles, 2 tablespoons capers, 4 hard cooked eggs, salt and pepper to taste.

Put herrings in cold water the day before. Clean, remove skin and bones and dry on cloth. Cut all ingredients in small dice. Mix well and marinate in oil dressing—only enough to moisten. Set aside to chill thoroughly. If salt herring is not desired your favorite fish may be substituted.

Serve with this dressing:

Into a double boiler mix ½ cup rich, well-seasoned chicken broth, ½ cup cider vinegar, 3 tablespoons prepared mustard, few grains pepper and 1 teaspoon salt. Add slowly 3 well-beaten egg yolks to the hot mixture, stirring constantly to prevent lumps. Chill and add ½ cup olive oil, drop by drop; when stiff fold in ½ cup cream beaten stiff.

Mold high on platter and alternate garnish with anchovies, slices of salami, tongue, hard cooked eggs, beets, mixed pickles, sliced stuffed olives, sprinkling over all chopped parsley. Serve with rye, pumpernickle or any kind of dark bread, and tea with slices of lemon—no sugar or cream.

* * *

BREASTS OF GUINEA HEN UNDER GLASS — Remove breasts of 3 guinea hens, roll in flour and saute in 2 tablespoons butter until brown. In same butter, saute 6 thin slices ham and 1 pound mushrooms.

Put rounds of toast in six individual dishes, cover with the ham, then with the chicken breasts, and place mushrooms on top. Pour over all, 1½ cups cream sauce, cover with glass bells and bake for 10 minutes.

* * *

PUMPKIN PUDDING—1 cup pumpkin, well drained, ½ cup nuts, 1 cup apple sauce, ½ cup bread crumbs (toasted crisp in oven), 1 cup sugar, 1 cup rich milk, ½ cup raisins, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon each, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger, ½ teaspoon cloves.

Bake in moderate oven 25 minutes. Make meringue of egg whites and 3 tablespoons sugar. Spread over pudding and return to oven to brown slightly.

* * *

MOCK CHERRY PIE—1 cup seedless raisins, 2 cups cranberries, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, stirred smooth in ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter.

Cook berries with water until skins burst; add raisins and sugar. Cook few minutes longer, stirring in cornstarch mixed with water. Boil thoroughly, add salt and butter. Pour into unbaked crust, putting stripe criss-cross over top, and build outside rim with an extra strip of pastry. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees.

* * *

STUFFED CROWN OF PORK—16-rib loin of pork, about 4½ pounds; 2 quarts stale bread crumbs, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon sage, 1 tablespoon chopped celery, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 6 tablespoons butter or substitute, ¼ cup minced onion.

Have butcher tie roast in a circle with bone side out. Combine crumbs, salt, sage, celery, parsley and pepper. Meanwhile melt the fat in skillet, add onion and simmer gently until tender. Add seasoned crumbs and still until browned. Arrange the crown of pork on a trivet in a roasting pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper, then fill center with stuffing. Roast in very hot oven at 500 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and roast for the remaining time, allowing 20 minutes in all for each pound. Serve on a hot platter garnished with parsley or radishes. Serves 8. Stuffing can be made the day before and kept in refrigerator.

* * *

ROUND STEAK JARDINIERE—2 pounds round steak, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups diced carrots, 3 cups diced potatoes, 2 cups quartered onions, 2 cups peas.

Rub the flour and seasonings into the steak, brown in hot fat in shallow baking pan. Add vegetables and one cup water. Cover and simmer until steak is tender. Garnish with parsley and serve on hot platter.

The Kroger policy of being the first to reduce prices and the last to raise prices is in effect today as it has always been in the past. Jack Pearl's Sponsors Returning to Radio With Musical Shows

By AIRCASTER

The more sapient chatterboxes are all excited over the rumor, started somewhere, that the cigaret concern which pays Jack Pearl's salary is sort of miffed because NBC sold its old Thursday spot to the Whitman backers, and is thinking about transferring its autumnal waftings to Columbia.

The facts are these:

No such change is contemplated. However, the sponsors are figuring on a change of routine and are interested in a series of musical shows with books by famous composers, who are to be commissioned to write exclusively for the microphone, and when October rolls around, three weekly spots will be opened to the client by NBC as of yore, with Wednesday, perhaps, instead of Thursday as Jack Pearl night.

Road to Fame

This department is always anxious to help along the downtrodden artists, and because many of them are puzzled about how to become famous and rich, some rules are hereby offered, by which they may obtain the publicity necessary to putting them on the royal road.

Rule 1—Issue a statement defending crooners and sopranos.

Rule 2—Denounce sponsors as poor showmen.

Rule 3—Sock a columnist in the nose.

Rule 4—Have a columnist sock you in the eye.

Rule 5—Ask for a police bodyguard for yourself and family.

Rule 6—Fail to show up for a broadcast. (This may be done once).

Rule 7—Become a good samaritan.

Rule 8—Let it be known that your dear old mother is always in the audience and that she calls you up after each broadcast.

Rule 9—Be arrested by a traffic cop and then sing your way out of a jam. Don't try this if you are a bass drummer, or an organist.

Rule 10—Start a feud with another artist.

Rule 11—Put on a really good broadcast—or if you can't, then—

Rule 12—Hire a press agent.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Been hearing a lot of weeping and wailing over the recent decision of Judge McNaugher permitting applications for beer licenses.

Several far seeing gentlemen will be deprived of a lucrative return on a relatively small investment.

These are the gentlemen, who applied before the June 1 closing date for their licenses were notified that their applications had been approved, yet didn't lift them. Instead, it was their idea to transfer the license to anyone who might want to go into business at some later date. Then for a consideration, plus the return of the money invested, a $10 application fee and perhaps payment of bond premium, the new dealer would acquire the right to the license fee and receive the certificate.

Who thinks of all those ideas anyway?

There's competition for the Globe Trotter at Monongahela. A wren has built its nest on the porch of Frances Hojo's house and whistles and sing's so loudly when the radio is crowned out.

Poets say that you can acquire wisdom by studying the babbling brook or listening to the birdies' song. How can I compete with nature?

FAIRMONT IS GLAD TO BACK THE NEW DEAL

Although prices received by us for Fairmont's Better Butter, for eggs, cheese, etc., sank to as much as 60% under 1929 levels, our employes in the lower wage group were asked to take only one 10% reduction in 1932. Those earning more were reduced only 10% in 1931 and 10% in 1932.

Vacations with full pay have been continued throughout the entire period of depression.

Today every employe of the Fairmont Creamery Company is receiving an extra pay check as a 10% bonus for the past five weeks' work, pending the settlement of the wage scale for the Dairy Industry in the code now being drawn.

Fairmont Creamery Company pledges itself to assist President Roosevelt in every way it possibly can to put people back to work. Significant in this connection are the figures which show the number of workers in our Pittsburgh plant for the past three months:

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

It has been an exciting visit to Hollywood . . . And by the end of this week the adventure ends—until next year, perhaps . . . A dozen celebrated persons will pinch-hit for your New York correspondent—and during the alleged holiday—there will be trains to ride and problems to unwind for the strenuous new season . . . To the gentlemen and gentlewomen of the movie colony I am indeed indebted for some jolly times . . . To the newspapermen, even the opposition press, go my thanks for this and that . . . You'd suspect that when a reporter from the East invades their community—that the opposition newspapers would put on the chill, but only one of them did . . . I wish I could promise them all the same reception should any of them invade New York City—where too many of the lads resent competition . . . At any rate, I leave Hollywood in a few days—a little pensive—for besides the hospitality—the much-kidded climate is hardly to be found in my home town . . . In New York I will be bothered again, by the oppressive heat and humidity—which is a tough combination to beat . . . And then will come the treacherous winds in the winter—which make me so afraid . . . Carrying with them epidemics of dreaded plagues—which man cannot combat successfully . . . The very reminder of its dangers lets me down . . . Perhaps the skyline of the town will lift me up, again . . . Or maybe I really need a vacation.

Some of us were discussing the late Larry Fay again last night and how he adored a chorus girl . . . And now he went into a rage when any fellow sent her posies and asked for a date . . . I was reminded of the time that Fay, who has since fallen before an assassin's lead, phoned an actor who was paying the chorus lassie marked attention . . . This was just about the time, several years ago, that the expression: "Take you for a ride" was making the rounds . . . Fay—in a temper phoned the actor . . . Lissen, you!" thundered the tough guy, "if you don't lay off calling on her—I'll take you for a ride!" . . . This, it appears, didn't impress the actor for the moment. He naively replied: "I don't need you to take me for any ride, at all—I have my own car!" . . . And then he hung up . . . When he was informed by pals what the expression meant—he took a liner for London that night!

The only people who stun me as the days unfold are those I've befriended—who suddenly turn sour . . . A few months ago while I was on the air—a chap visited me at the broadcasting station and told me that because he was unhappy in his radio association and that he missed being away from his wife, who was elsewhere, he was quitting the job . . . He feared, he added, that his severest critics handling the radio sections and others would call him a failure . . . Would I please explain the facts to the radio listeners? . . . He sat next to me as I went into a flowery talk about his retirement, taking his word for it, of course . . . He was most grateful . . . Shortly after when it was said of him that he was "slipping" I hastened into print with: "Yeh, he's slipping so far—his nearest rivals can't catch up to him!" . . . And there were numerous other sugary items penned about the fellow . . . And never has there appeared in my column anything offensive to him . . . So what happened? . . . So now he is angry because of something "somebody told him" I had said out of print . . . Which I didn't . . . And it is all most confusing.

The more recent radio amusements of Lou Holtz have fallen on willing ears in California . . . When the clown first commenced his air babble I was disappointed and so asserted . . . Holtz probably comforted himself with the thought that it was a "personal" matter . . . Well, then let him consider this as being personal, too . . . He made me laugh loud the last time I tuned him in and it would be snide of me not to admit it . . . That's another thing I've wanted to yell out loud . . . That no time in my newspaper career have I used my pillar to retaliate for any personal tiffs . . . But it must not be assumed either that because of a tiff with a producer, a manager, an actor, or a newspaperman—that when news about them breaks and I can get it first—that I won't publish it . . . And when I hear an amusing anecdote about them I must give it circulation—for that is my stock in trade . . . The chief reason why I have avoided using the column to slap back at pedestrians, who have slapped at me (out of print) is that the average reader would consider it a foul blow, and say: "He's mad, so he's getting even" . . . Rather than have that said—I have thrown away the chance of making an antagonist sicker (via the column) which is something most columnists don't do—for their columns, it appears, are their only weapons—a confession of being yellow.

I have kidded such renowned men as Rudy Vallee mercilessly for years—but not because of any personal reason . . . I merely enjoy teasing him . . . And what did Rudy do? . . . He clowned me out of it—by not getting indignant . . . He merely haw-haw'd . . . My only aggravation came a few years ago when St. John Ervine, a British critic, guested reviews for the old New York World . . . For seven months I teased him. I called him St. Yawn Ervine or Irksome and other silly things . . . I tried to bait him into a feud—not only to fill my column but to get some attention from this distinguished visitor . . . But the big egg ignored me until I could have choked . . . Instead I made him better known throughout America—for I am syndicated in all the States and he wasn't . . . What a chump I was! . . . Since then, of course, I have learned much . . . Nowadays I am successful at getting lesser-knowns (and desperate for recognition fools) to pick on me . . . One of them recently admitted in his column that the one thing his readers are most interested in is his "feud" with me! . . . But to get back to Ervine . . . He evened matters fine . . . After ignoring me for seven months here, where I wanted and needed attention, he waited until he returned to England where, in an interview, he said: "I enjoyed my visit to America . . . Everybody was pleasant. There was only one minor disturbance. A writer named Walter something or other" . . . Was my face green? He couldn't even remember my name!!! . . . I only wish I owned the hat check privilege on all the people who hoped "it was nothing trivial."

Plan Changed So Marshall Works

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 28. — A tough break, Hollywood called it, when Herbert Marshall and Edna Best had to leave their 3-month-old baby in London and rush here for a picture that has since been postponed.

Mr. Marshall

Well, friends of the couple now can cease their commiserations.

With as brief a delay as possible, Paramount has shifted its plans to allow the English actor to take one of the leads in Cecil B. De Mille's new picture, "Four Frightened People." Instead of Dorothea Wieck (they were to do "The White Woman" together), Marshall now will make cinema love to Claudette Colbert.

His Paramount contract calls for the British actor to make two pictures this summer. As soon as he completes these, he and Edna Best will hurry back to London to see their baby who is being cared for by a trusted nurse.

And, if you remember, this is the second time that Edna Best has forsaken all else to follow her handsome husband. She once ran right out on a Hollywood career to rejoin him in New York.

* * *

Most amusing comment on the walkout of studios technicians was made by Jack Oakie's ma, who is to make her cinema debut as Jack's film mother in "Too Much Harmony."

She rushed in with the afternoon paper.

"Can you imagine it!" she exclaimed. "Here I wait 60 years to get a job in the movies and now they go and call a strike!"

The outstanding thing about Hollywood separations is the well-mannered way in which they are effected. Sally Eilers called on Hoot Gibson in the hospital as soon as she returned to Hollywood. She took him a wire-haired terrier, named "Smashup," to replace another dog that she had given him that had wandered away. Sally doesn't know what her plans are yet—except that a divorce is definite. She is living with her mother and brother, but may take a house later. Hoot's little girl, who was so crazy about Sally, is now staying in a camp.

Miss Eilers

The summer's first really hot day brought Ann Harding speeding in from her ranch hideout above Palmdale. When she left the desert, the thermometer registered 132. Even at the beach, the stars were taking to the ocean. RKO studio put in a call for Dolores Del Rio. The butler informed them she was sitting in the swimming pool eating ice cream.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

In an interview in Hollywood, where he has gone to make a picture, Ed. Wynn said that he has on file 10,000,000 jokes, and that it has taken him 20 years to compile them, requiring the employment of two boys to file. He said that he took 200,000 of them to Hollywood from which to make selections for use in his picture. He files the jokes of others, as well as his own, but does not make use of them. In 60 weeks of radio broadcasts he never made use of the same joke twice, and estimates that he used at least 3,600. Commenting on the statement, attributed to Mark Twain, that there are only seven basic jokes, he made a study of 11,000 and found that they represented about 100 ideas. So he feels that number represents the basic total instead of seven. To illustrate how a basic joke may serve for several, he gave three interpretations of the "that-wasn't-a-lady-that-was-my-wife" wheeze, one being "that wasn't an oboe (hobo) that was my fife."

* * *

Irving Pichel, Pittsburgh actor, who abandoned acting for several months to co-direct for Radio, will return to the screen in Mae West's Paramount picture, "I'm No Angel." Pichel, who scored a notable hit as the prosecuting attorney in "An American Tragedy," again will portray a lawyer in the new production. The signing of Pichel virtually completes the "I'm No Angel" cast, which now includes Cary Grant, Edward Arnold, Gregory Ratoff, Gertrude Michael, Ralf Harolde and Dorothy Peterson. The film is an adaptation of a story written by Miss West.

Preston Sturges, Broadway playwright, who wrote "The Power and the Glory" for the films, is building himself a houseboat in San Pedro harbor. He's doing the caulking and painting himself, and is awaiting the reviews of his picture in New York to pick a suitable adjective which will serve as the name of his boat.

Coming . . . He knows women! GEORGE ARLISS in VOLTAIRE

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

A Matter of Honor

SHE SAT in her small room and stared at the mean court. She was thinking, with loathing, of the rotten thing her life had become. She was thinking, with loathing, of the city outside, its streets sun-baked, alive with foul smells and ear-rending noises. As always in the past few weeks, thoughts of her home pushed themselves into the foreground of her mind, and she became almost sick with longing.

Tonight at home, the trees would be wind-swept. The air would be sweet with the scent of summer flowers. There would be shadowy figures moving through the still evening, boys and girls with their arms entwined. There would be peace and quiet and simplicity.

The crowd would be strolling into the village now for sodas. There would be a gang on Grant's front porch. Someone would be strumming a guitar. Someone would be singing tenor—George, perhaps.

She hadn't thought of George in a long time, and yet she had nearly married him once. But there had been another man whom she had loved, and she had come to the city to be near him. It was the same old story. A few weeks of happiness, months of heartbreak. He had been, though, the only man she had ever loved. There had been a dozen after him whom she had hated.

George. She thought of him again. He had wanted to marry her. Life would have been very simple if she had said, "Yes." She'd have peace and contentment and security now. Six years ago, those things hadn't seemed so attractive. And now, when she realized their value, it was too late.

But was it? She began to pace up and down the small patch of carpet. She could go back. There was no one down home who knew what she'd become. She'd been swallowed up by the city as completely as though she'd died.

She stepped over to the mirror and studied herself critically. She was 28 and she looked it, and yet, after a few days' rest, without the heavy makeup, without the cheap jewelry, she wouldn't look so different from the girl they had known.

Thoughts of George kept coming back. Thoughts of things he had offered her once. If he asked her now, she knew that she would marry him. A small scrap of conscience, a remnant of other days, nagged her. It would be, she knew, a dirty trick. Then all the bitterness that had eaten into her heart during the past few years came back.

She had grown hard. She knew that a woman had to wrest from life everything she got. If the man got hurt, it was merely a reversal of the usual state of affairs. Thus reasoned the woman who had loved one man and hated a dozen others.

George, of course, wasn't to know the truth about her. For down home, where the double standard was more important than the gold standard, every man's wife must be as irreproachable as Caesar's. And honor was something more than a word in the marriage ceremony.

So Laura went home. She went down South, ostensibly for a visit with relatives. In reality she went to carry out coldly, calculatingly, a plan to trick a man into offering her what no other man had offered.

It was shortly after her arrival that Laura met George. He hadn't changed much. He was as sober, as serious, as unimaginative as ever. A little more successful, perhaps. A little stouter. And, without a doubt, as much in love with her as ever.

She asked him almost immediately, "You haven't married, George?"

He shook his head, and his eyes were almost dog-like in their devotion.

"I reckon I been waiting for you, Laura," he told her.

Laura smiled at him shyly, and dropped her eyes in the approved fashion of a modest young maiden. She was sweet to him after that, as sweet as she knew how to be. She pretended to find unlimited pleasure in the simple amusements he offered her. It is a source of wonder that she managed to keep from laughing aloud through it all.

But then, the part that she had chosen for herself fitted her so easily that at times it hardly seemed that she was playing a part. At other times, she had compunctions. George said things to her that made her heart catch in her throat.

"Laura," he murmured in his stilted, unoriginal way, "you're the kind of a girl I always hoped to find—a good girl. Like my mother."

And Laura knew that it wouldn't be long. She stifled any twinges of conscience she felt by promising herself that she would make it all up to him. She'd be a better wife to him than if she were, in truth, the sort of a person he believed her to be. She was beginning to feel a deep fondness for this man who worshipped her so openly and so deeply.

The first two weeks of her visit were over, and Laura knew that it was merely a matter of time now. And she was right. For the third week had scarcely begun when George drove her one night into a secluded lane and parked the car.

"Honey," he began diffidently, "I know I've got a nerve to ask you—I know I'll never be good enough for a girl like you, but I want you to marry me.

"There are things in my past that I wouldn't want you to know about. I feel as though I ought to be frank about it, anyhow. But if you'll have me, Laura, I swear you'll have nothing to worry about from now on. I'll devote my whole life to making you happy. Will you, honey, will you marry me?"

Would she? Laura was so eager in her acceptance that her words tumbled over each other. Inwardly, she was exultant. Her plan had been successful. And George had fallen for it, line and bait. Here, being offered to her, were the things she wanted. George was too awed, for a moment, by the miracle that had come into his life, to do anything but sit and stare at the girl he adored.

Thus neither saw the slinking forms that crept through the darkness toward the car . . .

George was dead the next morning when the newspapers came out. The local sheets screamed the headlines. Papers in distant cities carried accounts of the murder, one of the most brutal crimes in the state. An editorial over a full page decried conditions that would allow such atrocities to occur.

"How long, it demanded, is such a state of affairs to continue? For weeks 'petting party bandits' have been preying on couples in parked cars. This last outrage is a smirch on the police record of this city.

"A fine young man died last night at the hands of these criminals. He died a hero—defending the honor of the young woman who was with him." . . .

CORSAIRS SET TO VAULT INTO SECOND PLACE

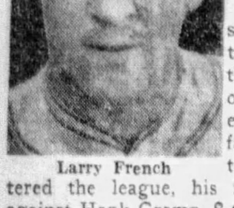
SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

French Chases Old Jinx. Keeps Up Fine Streak. Hubbell Nearing Record. Rajah Once Almost Buc. Another View of Vines. Dempsey Explains Lack.

LARRY'S FIRST CUB WIN SINCE 1930

LARRY FRENCH'S brilliant exhibition in shutting out the Cubs yesterday to sweep the three-game series meant more to the Pirates than a mere victory over a pennant rival and a climb to within half a game of second place. It meant the routing of an old jinx and of a notion that French couldn't beat the Bruins; it relieved Larry of a mental hazard under which he had labored when facing the Chicago outfit, and it assured that hereafter the Bucs will have another dependable slab bet in their meetings with Charley Grimm's brigade.



Larry French

For yesterday's victory was the first scored by French over the Cubs in more than three years. He had not beaten them since he won a 9-to-5 decision over Guy Bush on April 27, 1930, and even in that game he was lifted. In fact, Larry had downed the Bruins only twice against seven defeats since he entered the league, his first success having been registered against Hank Gramp, 8 to 3, in the final game of the 1929 season. Probably it was only because French must have steady work to keep in winning form that Manager Gibson started him instead of Heinie Meine yesterday, but the way Larry came through against a lineup that included eight right-hand hitters indicates that in future there will be no hesitation about using the star southpaw in Cub games.

French's shutout performance added another chapter to a dazzling pitching drive. In his last three games he has allowed only two runs. Only six tallies, two of them unearned, have been scored against him in his last 40 2-3 innings. Too bad for the local pitching department that Larry isn't twins or triplets.

IT'S ALMOST A shutout or no count with Carl Hubbell. If the Giant's great southpaw, following his latest exhibition of zero pitching yesterday, goes the first seven innings of his next game without being scored on he will set a new National League record for consecutive runless innings. Ed Reulbach, of the Cubs, established the present mark of 44 straight innings in 1908.

Hubbell now has 38 1-3 barren frames to his credit. The all-major record is 56, set by Walter Johnson in 1913. There are no soft spots for Hubbell. The Giants hit so poorly behind him that he is under a strain to win in practically every game, as is attested by the fact that in no fewer than five of his eight shutout victories this season the score was only 1 to 0. Once he won by 2 to 0 and twice by 4 to 0. Carl has allowed only six runs in his last 68 1-3 innings.

THE RECORD OF Larry French against the Giants this year is an exhibit of hard-luck pitching. In three of his four battles with the Terryman, one of them going 11 innings, French allowed only two earned runs in 29 innings, yet he lost two of the three engagements. In four games, Larry gave the Giants only eight earned runs, but lost three out of four.

Carl Hubbell, who beat French 1 to 0 in Larry's last appearance against the Giants, has no warmer admirer than the Pirate lefthander. "Hubbell is a truly great pitcher," says French. "He surely has something. He ought to win 25 games this season, and I'll be surprised if he doesn't."

PITTSBURGH IS ONE of the four National League clubs that Rogers Hornsby missed in his jumps around the National League circuit before going over to the American, but it was only a quirk of the fates that kept him from becoming a Pirate. Had not the ownership of the St. Louis Cardinals changed hands suddenly 16 years ago last winter, Rogers would have been a Buccaneer. Following the season of 1916, the late Barney Dreyfuss offered $42,000 for Hornsby and Catcher Frank Snyder, a fabulous sum in baseball in those days, and a big gamble in view of the fact that Hornsby was just a rookie of 22 who had hit .313 in his first full season in the majors and might prove only a one-year flash. Jimmy Callahan, then manager of the Bucs, pronounced it the most daring offer he ever had known any baseball man to make. There was every indication that it would go over. The Card exchequer was low, and Mrs. Schuyler Britton, then president and chief owner, was willing to sell her star players for cash to meet the club's obligations. She agreed to accept the offer at noon on a certain date if a stock company that was being formed to buy the club did not go through with the deal by that hour.

Branch Rickey

JUST AS SHE was on the point of wiring definite acceptance of the Pittsburgh offer and leaving St. Louis on a long trip, Mrs. Britton was notified the agents of the stock company, headed by Branch Rickey, that they had raised the necessary sum to purchase the club and were ready to close the deal.

That put an end to the negotiations whereby Hornsby and Snyder would have come to Pittsburgh. Mrs. Britton sold out her entire interest in the Cardinals to the stock company. Rickey took charge of the club as president and the new owners called off all player deals.

WHEN THE POLICEMEN and firemen of New York put on a special baseball game between their representative teams, as they do each year for their relief fund, it goes over on a big scale.

Recently when the nines of the Metropolitan Police and Fire Departments met at the Polo Grounds in their annual benefit game, 20,000 attended and more than $50,000 was realized for the fund.

AMONG THE VARIOUS explanations offered as to what caused the blow-up of Ellsworth Vines on European courts is one reported by a Boston critic as coming from a veteran tennis expert. It is held that Vines is a type of player whose game never can be considered secure. The contention is that the American champion lacks the proper all-around equipment, and, like the once famous Maurice McLoughlin, depends too much on his service, instead of using the cannonball only at psychological moments. The cannonball is physically exhausting and may have caused the straining of Ellsworth's stomach muscles. But in addition to that, and more important, if the service does not work, the player who depends too largely on it loses confidence and his game deteriorates. That, it is asserted, is the trouble with Vines.

AMONG THE RUNNERS to come back with evidence of unusual durability, and to upset the calculations of the experts that he was all done, is Phil Edwards, Negro speeder, who formerly starred for New York University. When he ran at the Harvard Stadium a couple of years ago, he had the same ease and rhythm of earlier days, but appeared to lack his old speed and staying power.

Jack Dempsey

But Edwards now is doing big things on Canadian tracks. In the recent meet at Hamilton he won the half-mile run and in doing so defeated Pen Hallowell, of Harvard. Any time Hallowell is beaten it may be taken for granted that the winner had to do some tall stepping, and the achievement indicates that Edwards is far from being through.

WHAT IS IT that is lacked by an old fighter, or an old athlete in any line, when he tries a comeback and finds himself unable to make the grade, even though trained to as good condition as in any of his earlier years? It's the ability quickly to throw off the effects of exertion and rally speedily after becoming tired. Dack Dempsey gave a good explanation of it while talking over his experiment of two months ago in boxing one round each with Max Schmeling and Max Baer. "You know how you feel in a new start," he remarked. "All in after one minute of wild swinging. Well, that's how I felt. I'd had enough. But I'll tell you something. I was always tired at the end of every round in every fight I ever fought, even when I was in the best condition of my life. Good condition simply affects your recuperative power—that's all. You can be dog tired at the end of a round, and after a minute's rest be as fresh as a daisy. That's what I haven't got."

LINDSTROM, RETIRED BY ENGLISH ON FORCE PLAY AT THIRD BASE IN FIRST INNING OF YESTERDAY'S BUCS-CUBS GAME, INJURED SLIDING INTO BAG . . . . AFTER SETTING SWAT RECORD

Freddie Lindstrom, star outfielder of the Pirates, was forced to quit the lineup shortly after aggravating a leg injury in sliding into third base in the first inning of the Bucs' game with the Cubs at Forbes Field yesterday. He previously had been shaken up in a collision with Grimm at first base. Lindy was replaced in the lineup by Lloyd Waner, but not until after he had connected for a hit in his twenty-third consecutive game to break the National League record for the '33 season. He expects to be able to return to the Buc lineup tomorrow. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

LOCAL GOLFERS TO STUDY NEW WAGE PLAN

The executive council of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association will call a special meeting of the members of the association next week to consider the features of the National Recovery Act, with its 40-hour week, George Ormiston, secretary of the West Penn body, announced today.

Eighty country and golf clubs in the Tri-State district are interested vitally in the new plan of the President, and this round table get together probably will help the officials of the local clubs in ironing out a working agreement.

The minimum wage under the act will be the big item for discussion. Quite a number of the clubs in the district are paying more than the prescribed minimum wage at the present time, and on the other hand, many are not.

Every club in the district has its different problems, and the president of the West Penn, Robert Smith, and his advisory council, intend to help members to solve these problems.

Jacobs Brothers Doubles Victors

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 28.—(AP.)—Miss Raven Kirson, Baltimore star and seeded third in the women's singles of the Virginia State tennis championships, needed all her cunning yesterday to defeat Miss Josephine Gray, of Cincinnati, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

The victory carried Miss Kirson into the semi-finals.

In the men's doubles play, Eddie and Billy Jacobs, Baltimore brothers, scored an easy 6-0, 6-0 win over Lon Dongcope, of Houston, Tex., and Henry Barklay, Jr., of Baltimore.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: IN A ROWBOAT ACROSS THE ATLANTIC—In 1881, Ivar Olsen and John Traynor crossed from Bath, Maine, to Le Havre, France, in the City of Bath, a 14-foot dory, of the type used by New England fishermen. The trip of approximately 3,000 miles required 53 days. Olsen, at present 77 years old, resides at 3333 Oakland avenue, Minneapolis. A GRAND COLLECTION—For 40 years, the late E. H. Park, a draftsman and artist, roamed about the globe and as a hobby collected postcards that were descriptive of the history and geography of the world. The collection totals the astounding number of 257,000 cards, portraying in this unique way the history of practically every country and locality on earth. Park, who died in 1928, left the collection, in his old home at 4560 St. Claude avenue, New Orleans, where it may be seen at the present time.

BUCCOS BEAT CUBS, 2-0, TO SWEEP SERIES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

And the Cubs went on their way sorrowing. No fairy tale, either, folks; the Bruins were licking their wounds and wondering what a club had to do to win a game in Pittsburgh. Their three running setbacks while in Pittsburgh almost toppled them out of the runner-up position, the Buccos today being one-half of one game below the Grimm entry. The Giants, meantime, are making hay, the Polo Grounders sitting pretty with a five-game lead over the second-place team.

On top of the destruction they wrought in the Chicago ranks, the Pirates rested today. The date had been allotted to the Reds, but it was decided to provide another Saturday double-header, so the Rhinelanders and Oaklanders will meet in a bargain attraction tomorrow afternoon. The two teams will carry their argument to Cincinnati on Sunday, when another dual bill will be staged.

LARRY IN RARE FORM

Larry French pitched a la Hubbell yesterday afternoon to shut the door in the faces of the Bears. Larry had just enough offensive support to put him over comfortably. The score of the Pirate victory was 2 to 0.

In winning his twelfth victory of the current campaign, Larry ran his string of shutout innings to 16. He blanked the Giants in seven rounds after the first inning of his classic duel with Hubbell Saturday.

The hard-working left-hander was a master in several crises of yesterday. Moreover, he was accorded sensational support, especially on the part of the uncomplaining Gus Suhr, who started things right by making an unassisted double play. Lefty Grimm

AUSTIN BEATS MERLIN IN DAVIS CUP DUEL

BRITISH STAR TRIUMPHS IN THREE SETS

BULLETIN.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, Auteuil, France, July 28.—Fred Perry, of England, defeat Henrit Cochet, of France, in the second singles match of the opening day's program in the Davis Cup challenge round here today, 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, AUTEUIL, July 28.—(AP.)—Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, sensational young British tennis star, scored the first victory for England today in the Davis Cup challenge round against France by decisively beating Andre Merlin, a new-comer to the competition, in straight sets 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

Playing the same careful, effective tennis that gave him two victories over the United States singles stars last week, Austin had command of the match except in the second set, when the combination of a spurt by Merlin and unruliness by the crowd contributed to the loss of four straight games by the Englishman. This lapse occurred after Austin had gained a 4-0 lead, but he steadied down to save the set and then swept through the final set.

A capacity crowd of 12,500 banked around the red clay court, indulged in partisan demonstrations at many stages of the contest, which preceded the match between the rival No. 1 stars, Fred Perry, of England, and Henri Cochet, of France.

LOCAL LEGION NINE WINS

The South Hills American Legion junior baseball team will represent the western section of the state in the Pennsylvania title round at Reading, Pa., next week.

South Hills gained the honor by defeating the Sharon Legion nine, Northwestern champions, 7 to 5, at Forbes Field last evening. A three-run rally in the seventh inning enabled the local tossers to nose out the Mercer Countians. Munhall, of South Hills, and Bakunas, of Sharon, each hit home runs. The score:

FRANK SHIELDS FACES MANGIN

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 28.—A new name will be added to the list of tennis "blue-bloods" who have won the famed invitation tournament of the Seabright Cricket and Tennis Club.

The name to be inscribed after the final round today will be that of either Frank Shields, of New York, or Gregory Mangin, of Newark, for these stars battered their way to stirring semi-final triumphs yesterday over Bryan Grant, diminutive Atlanta entry, and the sensational Frankie Parker, respectively.

The women's doubles title also was to be decided this afternoon with the team of Virginia Rice and Marjorie Sachs, of Boston, opposing Alice Marble, of San Francisco, and Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, Cal.

BASEBALL COMEDY

—By NICK ALTROCK—

WASHINGTON, July 28. — There is one guy in the American League who should be wearing a red label, and I don't mean he's linked up with the Soviets. I'd have a red label pasted on him because he's poison to our Washington club. I refer to Pitcher Bridges, of the Detroit Tigers, and out of all the folks who now are being kidnaped, it is our tough luck he hasn't been snatched up.

Nick Altrock

Our club is not afraid of hurling dervishes like Lefty Grove or Wes Ferrell. But when this bird Bridges climbs up on the hillock, we get astigmatism, gout and housemaid's knee. Chiseling a hit off him is like outwaiting Harry Lauder for picking up a dinner check.

Without Bridges, the Tigers would be just another menagerie to us. But stick him in a game and he is over us like a main tent. Still, I suppose we should be happy he isn't Siamese twins.

Buffalo Oarsmen Win in Canada

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 28.—(INS.)—Eleven final events, along with two senior eights, were to be contested today in the 51st Royal Canadian Henley Regatta. Detroit and Buffalo clashed in the junior eights final, along with the Toronto Argonauts and the Ottawa Rowing Club.

Buffalo crews won seven events, including three national titles, in the first day of the three-day meet yesterday. The national crowns were the 150-pound event, the junior 140-pound fours race, and the 150-pound event. Joe Wright, Jr., of Toronto, captured the singles sculls, defeating his fellow townsman, Johnny Rurnan.

NEW BOXING PLAN

INDIANAPOLIS, July 28.—(INS.)—Three judges instead of the conventional two judges and referee will have jurisdiction over the outcome of future Indiana fistic contests, Al G. Feeney, sae boxing commissioner, announced oday.

BUCCOS SWEEP CUB SERIES

matched this feat, but Lefty's achievement did not require as much skill as that employed in the Suhr gem.

LINDSTROM INJURED

French saw every bag populated with two out in the fourth. A single at this point would have given the Cubs the lead, but Larry caused the Chicago manager to drive one straight out to Comorosky.

Charley Root limited the Buccos to eight hits and was just about as clever as French. Each hurler whiffed five batters and the swift-moving battle was completed in 1 hour and 32 minutes.

The only note of regret was sounded in the first frame when Outfielder Fred Lindstrom injured one of his legs in a perilous trip on the paths. Fred established a National League record for the season by hitting safely in his 23 consecutive games, but his infield safety required a dash to the bag where he collided with Lefty Grimm. Both players were shaken up in the play. P. Waner singled and a moment later Lindstrom had to sprint to third on Comorosky's bunt.

15 TRIPLES FOR VAUGHAN

Galli Curci Grimm turned in one of his copyrighted plays on Comy's bunt; he snatched it up and fired to English who had the ball in time to retire the sliding Lindstrom. Fred was jostled on this play and he was in such shape after the fourth round he retired in favor of Brother Lloyd. Lindy may be able to play tomorrow.

The Bucs won the game in the second on Traynor's single, a walk to Piet and Grace's one-baser. Arky Vaughan paved the way for a safety run in the sixth. The kid shortfielder slapped a three-bagger against the right-center wall and ambled over the plate on Pie's second hit.

Vaughan recorded his fifteenth triple of the season. Arky is leading the league in these extra-base drives.

CENTER TENNIS TOURNEY IN SEMI-FINALS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Titular tussles feature today's bill of hostilities in the annual Pittsburgh Center junior and boys' tennis championships, in progress on the P. A. A. rectangles, Bigelow boulevard at Ruskin avenue, since Wednesday morning.

Following semi-final frays in the 18-year division carded for about 11 o'clock, Bob Bald, Rockwood contender, and Oliver Hurst, Pittsburgh Country Club premier, clash at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon for 15-year honors and a trip as Pittsburgh Tennis Association representative to the National junior and boys' tournament at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., the week of August 7. The junior wind-up, carrying with it similar jaunt by way of reward, ensues immediately upon completion of the younger lads' finale.

DARK HORSES WIN

Dark horse achievements scrambled the seeded lists in both sections of the milling yesterday. Hank Cantwell, giant Duke Prepper, and Dickey Dickson, latest of a long series of able Uniontown aspirants to local laurels, surprised the fans by pushing to the junior semi-finals along with Ralph Bald, defending champion, and Jim Magaw.

Meanwhile Hurst, seeded third in the boys' classification, and Bob Bald, seeded fourth, came through as Bill Fay, West Penn winner, and Jerry Goodman, second on the preferred roster, went by the board after stiff sessions.

Bob Bald supplied the boys' group with fireworks through a well-played 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 semi-final verdict over his fellow-Rockwooder, Fay. Larry Blatt, College avenue satellite, avenged last week's defeat at the hands of Goodman by rallying to 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 decision in the bracket of eight. Hurst subsequently registered over Blatt, 6-2, 6-4.

In this morning's junior penultimate skirmishes, Ralph Bald was slated to tangle with Dickson and Magaw was booked to encounter Cantwell.

Chairman Andy Smeaten, of the fourth renewal of the Pittsburgh Public Parks championship, reminds all and sundry disciples of delay that the men's singles entry list for the municipal mixing closes at 6 o'clock this evening. Names will be accepted by 'phone at Churchill 3834 until that hour. Women's singles performers have till Monday afternoon to file intent to do battle.

Mrs. Moody Named Cup Team Captain

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—For the second time in her glamorous international tennis career, Helen Wills Moody has been selected to lead the United States Wightman Cup team against Great Britain at Forest Hills, August 4 and 5.

She led the successful American invasion of England last year and has played in all except one of the 10 contests between the two countries since 1923.

BOWL BATTLES POSTPONED TO MONDAY

By JAMES MILLER

A slim crowd, paying in the neighborhood of $190, prompted the promoters of the Sammy Slaughter-Jack King fight at the North Braddock Bowl last night to postpone the bout until Monday night. The entire card will remain intact.

An overcast sky that threatened to let loose throughout the day evidently kept the attendance down, and upon word from the boxing commissioner, shortly before fight time, Jules Beck, matchmaker, called off the show.

Teddy Yarosz, the Monaca middleweight star, who on Tuesday night knocked out Freddie Polo in Newark, N. J., will go back to that city next Monday night to box Young Terry, the gent who recently fought Ben Jeby, the New York State Boxing Commission middleweight champion, for the title.

Slaughter also has a good fight lined up for himself. He fights Vic Tracy, the Canadian 160-pound star, in Winnipeg, on Labor Day.

GIANTS, NATS 'DIG IN'

CARL HUBBELL HURLS EIGHTH SHUTOUT WIN

Associated Press.

The Washington Senators have drawn first blood in their highly important series with the New York Yankees and boosted their American League lead to two games.

The Senators traveled 10 innings to gain their eighth victory in 11 meetings with the Yanks by a 3-2 count yesterday as a pinch hit by Cliff Bolton, third-string catcher, drove in the deciding run.

With Southpaw Walter Stewart holding the world champions to two hits in the first seven innings, Washington rolled up a 2-0 lead and looked as if they were about to hand the Yanks their first whitewashing in 304 games, since August 5, 1931. Then with Jack Russell pitching in the eighth, Bill Dickey, Charley Ruffing and Earl Combs connected for singles and one run and Ben Chapman's double in the ninth produced the tying counter.

ANOTHER FOR HUBBELL

New York's National League contender, the Giants, increased their lead to five games. With Carl Hubbell pitching four-hit ball for his eighth shutout and the Giants' seventeenth, and driving in the first run himself, the Giants beat the Brooklyn Dodgers for the fourth time, 2 to 0.

The third-place Pittsburgh Pirates meanwhile took their third straight fall out of the Chicago Cubs, 2 to 0.

The St. Louis Cardinals reasserted their right to fourth place, scoring two runs in the ninth by Martin, Watkins, Frish and Crawford to beat the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 3, while Boston dropped two games to the Phillies. The Phils won on home runs as Harry McCurdy cracked a pinch homer for the winning runs in the opening 4-3 victory and Wes Schulmerich socked one in the second game to win, 2-1, as Ben Cantwell gave the winners only two hits.

SOX LOSE AGAIN

Cleveland, aided by Monte Pearson's five-hit flinging, moved into fourth place in the American League by walloping the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 1, while the Detroit Tigers dropped a 12-inning slugging match to St. Louis, 10 to 9.

Chicago's defeat, the eighth straight, left the Pale Hose only a half game out of seventh place as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics.

South Park Champion

CARL KAUFFMANN DRIVING . . . AND WINNING NEW TITLE

Kauffmann, three times former national public links champion and several times city titleholder, added to his laurels late yesterday by winning the South County Park golf crown for the first time. He defeated Charles Brenkus, 3 and 2, in the 36-hole final. This Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture shows Carl at the battle scene.

MIXED EVENT ON CARD AT FIELD CLUB

By TOM BIRKS

One of the strongest fields, numerically, of the season is battling today over the Pittsburgh Field Club course in a mixed foursome tournament. Dave McKay, the Field Club pro, has been sending them away from the initial tee since early morning, and starting times have been allotted until late this afternoon.

The Scotch foursome form of competition is becoming increasingly popular hereabouts and tourneys played under the system have been drawing large fields.

KAUFFMANN VICTOR

Carl Kauffman, who has written his name three times on the national public links trophy, and on numerous occasions won the city championship, added another trophy to his list yesterday when he won the South Park championship, defeating Charley Brenkus, 3 and 2, in the 36-hole final.

It was a case of the old master being at top. Brenkus, a youngster, played nice golf and will be heard from in the future.

Wilson Marks, Kiski, Princeton and Oakmont star, proved his ability to play the famous Hulton Hades by shooting a classy 77 to lead home the greatest field of the season in a Pennsylvania state one-day handicap tournament yesterday.

Howard Harpster, Carnegie Tech football coach, and now playing from St. Clair, won the low net prize with a 70. Howard had an 84 with a 14 handicap.

SHANNOPIN WOMEN WIN

The Shannopin Country Club women's golf team yesterday won the Thomas Thomas Cup, which is awarded annually to the winner in the Shannopin-Highland women's team competition. Playing at Shannopin, the home team won, 25 to 10. Shannopin previously had won at Highland, 25-22, and thus the season's total is Shannopin, 50 points; Highland, 32 points.

Mrs. Carl Van der Voort scored 89-86—175 to win the low gross prize among Shannopin women, and Miss Virginia Kiser won the low net with 82-82—164.

Among the Highland women, Miss Ted Davies won the low gross award with 94-90—184, and Miss Betty Zimmerman had low net with 84-79—163.

S. Davidson Herron, of Oakmont, won the invitation tourney at the Pittsburgh Country Club yesterday with a gross 76. R. W. Tyler had low net with a 66.

AMATEUR ENTRY HEAVY

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—A total of 580 golfers, only 20 fewer than last year, has been entered for the United States amateur golf championship.

All except C. Ross Somerville, of Canada, the defending titleholder, must play in the sectional qualifying competition to be held simultaneously August 8 in 22 districts. The qualifiers, numbering somewhere between 150 and 165, will start in the championship play at the Kenwood Country Club, Cincinnati, September 11.

The qualifying round for the Pittsburgh district will be held at Oakmont, with five places to be filled.

COCHRANS PLAY AT DORMONT

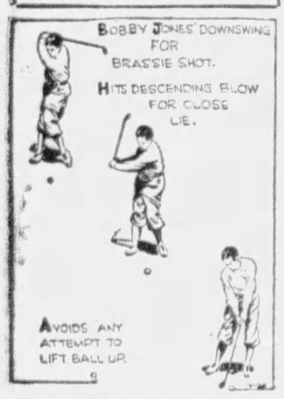
Dormont is booked to clash with the Ottie Cochran club at Dormont this evening. This City League game originally was scheduled to be played at Pleasant Valley, but Ottie Cochran had it transferred to the South Hills enclosure.

The Pittsburgh Crawfords will clash with Cum Posey's Akron Grays in a doubleheader at Greenlee Field tomorrow. The third game of the series will be played under the lights Monday evening.

Whitaker put a crimp into the second half title aspirations of the Books in a City League encounter at Whitaker last evening, downing the defending champions, 6 to 1.

Failure of an association umpire to put in his appearance prevented the Parmelee-Springdale game from being counted as a regular Greater Pittsburgh League game. Parmelee won, 9 to 0, the contest being play as an exhibition.

GRAPHIC GOLF



PLAYING A CLOSE-LYING BRASSIE SHOT

A brassie shot from a close lie apparently is one of the hardest shots for the average player. Trying to lift the ball into the air by making contact on the upstroke only leads the player into the turf back of the sphere or results in topping the ball. On such shots Bobby Jones, whose brassie swing is illustrated above, strikes a descending blow, hitting the ball first, the clubhead making a slight impression on the sod in front of the ball as it goes on through. The backspin thus imparted aids the ball's rise into the air. Care must be taken to hit the ball square to the line on this shot for if the clubhead is cut across from the outside in, a slice is likely. Although the blow is a descending one the player should avoid a too upright stroke and swing leisurely.

DRESHAR TO WED

The engagement of John Dreshar, former captain and star guard of Carnegie Tech football teams, who was graduated in 1930, and Miss Ruth Stimmler, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stimmler, 1909 Vernon avenue, North Side, was announced last night. No date as yet has been set for the wedding. Dreshar is to coach the Tarentum High eleven next fall.

Hubbell's Mound Record Near League Mark

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP.)—Carl Hubbell, ace left-hander of the New York Giants, already has run up the best shutout pitching record in 13 years and has a good start along the road to a couple of new National League records.

Hubbell has hurled eight scoreless games already, a feat that has not been performed in the National League since Babe Adams hit that mark in 1920, and by blanking the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday he ran his latest shutout string to 38 1-3 consecutive scoreless innings.

The National and major league record for shutouts is 16 in one season, established by Grover Alexander, of the Phillies, in 1916. Ed Reulbach, of Chicago, set the National League mark of pitching 44 consecutive scoreless innings in 1908.

The record of Hubbell's eight shutout victories follows:

Date.	Opponent.	Inns.	S.	H.	SO.	W.
April 20.	Boston	9	1-0	4	13	2
April 24.	Brooklyn	9	2-0	4	6	3

Moreland Beaten In Western Amateur

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 28.—(AP.)—Gus Moreland's hopes of winning the two biggest tournaments west of the Alleghenies—the trans-Mississippi and the Western—as he did last year were blasted in the second round of the Western amateur golf championship yesterday by a youngster he had previously beaten twice this year.

Leland Hamman, of Waco, a 22-year-old marksman, blew Moreland out of the tournament by a score of 1 up.

It was a tough day for all the favorites. Zell Eaton, the Oklahoma City youth who won the medal Tuesday, was ushered out by Carl Dann, Jr., of Orlando, the Florida champion, 2 up. Walter Emery, of Oklahoma City, the national intercollegiate titleholder, was carried to the twentieth green to win from Don Armstrong, Aurora, Ill. Gene Vinson, of Meridian, the Mississippi champion, and Henry Robertson, of Oklahoma City, another state title winner, were beaten.

Long Shot Wins Over Crack Trotter

SALEM, N. H., July 28.—(AP.)—The crack trotter Mary Reynolds, recent winner of an $11,405 stake at North Randall, shaped out as the outstanding threat for next month's $50,000 Hambletonian classic in competition with five other candidates yesterday in the features of the Grand Circuit's second-day program at Rockingham Park.

This 3-year-old daughter of Peter the Brewer lost by a nose to the long shot Prince Hall in her first trot around the mile track, but she gained a half length victory over Calumet Delco, the black colt owned by F. B. Luchsinger, of Monroe, Wis., in her second start of the day.

STOCK MARKET LAGS; HOURS TO CHANGE

NEW YORK, July 28.—The stock exchange governors today announced that, beginning Monday the regular hours of business—from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.—would be resumed, but that all Saturday trading would be suspended up to and including September 1.

The financial markets nodded under the soporific influence of grain price uncertainties and dollar gyrations.

Stocks moved feebly, and generally lower, with the early turnover the smallest since the beginning of the present bull market. Moderate rallies and declines gave the list a spotty appearance throughout. A few of the repeal stocks came back a bit, as did some of the specialties. The range, however, was usually in the neighborhood of a point. Wheat was reactionary as were other grains and cotton. The dollar jumped a cent against sterling. Bonds were irregular.

Wall street interprets the agreement to keep the pound sterling independent of gold currencies or the dollar as a determination on the part of Great Britain to direct safeguards against possible dangers which might develop if America inflates the dollar.

COTTON PRICES TURN EASY

NEW YORK, July 28.—Cotton futures opened easy, 14 to 22 points decline on disappointing Liverpool cables, lower foreign exchange and under Liverpool selling. October, 10.80c; December, 11.02c; January, 11.11c; March, 11.30c; May, 11.45c; July, 11.67c.

After showing net losses of 24 to 25 points on active positions with December selling at 11.00, prices steadied slightly, but the market soon eased again. December sold down to 10.98 and the general list showed net declines of about 25 to 28 points at the end of the first half hour.

LIVERPOOL, July 28.—Cotton—Receipts—32,000 balles, including 16,600 American. Spot quiet; prices 17 points higher. Quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 7.22; good middling, 6.92; strict middling, 6.62; middling, 6.47; strict low middling, 6.32; low middling, 6.12; strict good ordinary, 5.92; good ordinary, 5.62. REGULAR HOURS NEXT WEEK

NEW YORK, July 28.—The New York Stock Exchange announced that regular trading hours will be resumed on Monday. The exchange will be open from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. on full business days.

The exchange will not be open on Saturday's August 5, 12, 19 and 26, and September 2.

The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange will resume normal trading hours beginning Monday for the full five-hour sessions. The exchange will be closed tomorrow but action towards closing on any future Saturdays will be taken during the week effected.

VIEWS DIFFER ON SECURITIES ACT COST

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 28.—An effort has been made in Washington, especially through the new federal securities act, to protect the small investor from exploitation.

Mr. Rukeyser

In connection with any reform, the practical man is inclined to ask what the cost will be. There is a difference of opinion concerning the extent, if any, to which the new restrictions will retard the flow of capital to legitimate industry. As a matter of fact, enforcement officers in the Federal Trade Commission expressed to me the belief that in the long run the legislation will accelerate the flow of capital by heightening public confidence and by freeing legitimate industry from the destructive competition of fakers.

GLOOMY POSSIBILITIES

An opinion as to the possible retarding effects of the legislation has been prepared by a partner of a well known firm of Wall street lawyers. Stating the worst that might occur from the new legislation, Arthur H. Dean, of the firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, in his opinion, expressed in Fortune, says in part:

"A—The act is drastically deflationary in nature and may seriously retard economic recovery. Many short term loans now in the commercial banks, the liquidation of which depends on improvements in the bond market, may be frozen . . .

"B—It may result in unemployment because corporations may be forced to make drastic economies and suspend the payment of dividends in order to obtain necessary working capital.

"C—It may result in a disintegration on the larger units into smaller units in order to meet the requirements of the registration statement and to make financing possible under the act.

TIGHTEN MONEY

"D—It will be difficult to obtain money for new and speculative enterprises and medium-sized corporations may have difficulty in obtaining long-term capital . . .

"E—The cost of raising money to all borrowers will be greatly increased . . .

"F—Defaults may result in the case of impending maturities because of the inability of issuers and underwriters to prepare the information, meet the time schedules required by the act, and organize the necessary distribution groups at a time when the market is receptive to the particular issue.

"G—Firm commitments by underwriting houses to borrowing corporations will in all probability be ended . . .

SELLING GROUPS

"H—The necessity for intermediary underwriting syndicates will be eliminated and the smaller houses will only take commitments as members of selling groups . . .

"I—Only the largest houses which have competent statistical staffs capable of making the investigation required by the act can afford to be underwriters.

"J—It places majority stockholders, or several stockholders together controlling a corporation, and possibly voting trustees, in a very unenviable position.

"K—Independent directors will be chary about sitting on boards . . .

"L—It will tend to prevent foreign governments and foreign corporations borrowing in the American markets . . .

"M—It may force American corporations to go abroad for capital.

SEES RECEIVERSHIPS

"N—Many voluntary reorganizations may be forced into the expense and delay of judicial receiverships in order to avoid registration.

"O—The number of suits brought for the purpose of legal blackmail will be greatly increased.

"P—Financial advertising . . . will probably be reduced simply to a statement of the name of the issue, a statement as to where a prospectus . . . may be obtained, and the name of the house which will execute the orders."

Mr. Dean expresses the hope that none of these prophecies will come true. Though shifting from the old order to the new naturally entails some inconvenience, I am inclined to think that the act, when amended and refined by judicial decisions, will prove constructive, on balance. Perhaps the system of less haste and more analysis in the street will be salutary. The custom of rushing out issues when demand was great periodically brought on undigested security markets which tended to kill the goose which laid the golden egg. If the new ideal of greater economic stability is attained, financing can take place more calmly through the years, instead of being accomplished in frenzied manner only during bull interludes.

CHAPTER XIV.

Cavanaugh's eyes were getting steely. He reached for the telephone on the desk.

"What are you going to do?" Mulrooney shot at him.

"I'm going to get hold of the best lawyer in town," Cavanaugh shot back.

"Don't do it the hard way," advised Mulrooney crisply. "You're not arrested yet. Maybe we can make a deal."

Cavanaugh looked him straight in the eye. "Shoot!"

A fresh cigar was between Mulrooney's fingers and he fiddled at the end of it with a match for a long time before he answered.

"I believe every word the lady told me," he said finally. "I'm not so sure about you, Cavanaugh. You went crazy over this girl and it's even money you shot and killed Kruger. It's also even money that you were mixed up with those safe blowers. It's a known fact that you're pretty chummy with a lot of crooks—and you get your money without working for it. Fellows like you are capable of anything. You've got underworld connections that the police could never have. I'm going to make you a flat proposition. I'll give you four days to find out the man that popped that safe and killed Kruger. I don't give a darn how you do it. You've got the in on the underworld grapevine and you'll either deliver the goods—or I'll throw you in the tank so fast it will make your head swim."

Cavanaugh laughed in the man's face.

"I'm not a copper — how do you expect me to do alone what the whole police force in Los Angeles can't do?"

"I said you could take it or leave it. Do you want me to ring for the wagon and take you both down? You claim you're in love with this girl, I'm giving you a chance to protect her and protect yourself. If you play square with me I'll play square with you and keep my mouth shut."

THE CROSS-ROADS

Cavanaugh permitted the tension in his nerves to ease.

"I'll make you a proposition, Mulrooney," he said quietly. "Leave Miss Luneska out of this whole business. You can take me and swear to anything you like against me. I'll stand the gaff."

Mulrooney's lips twisted into a sneer. "Rubs you the wrong way to take sides against your boy friends, eh?"

"I don't know what you're talking about."

"You know what I'm talking about all right, Cavanaugh. You've come to the cross-roads. You can choose between your girl and the mob. You'll be welching on Miss Luneska if you stick to that bunk criminal code you fellows rave about. It's just up to you."

Mulrooney was wasting his breath. Cavanaugh's mind was already made up. He had no illusions as to what could easily happen to him the first time he lifted his hand against the underworld.

"All right, Mulrooney—you win," he said quietly. "You've got me in a spot and you know it. I'll do my part and I'm expecting you to do yours about keeping Miss Luneska out of this mess. You've got a wife and four children. If you start any double-crossing on me you're going to have a widow and four orphans. You can think that over before you go to sleep tonight."

ALLOWED TO LEAVE

Mulrooney grunted and turned to Leni.

"It's been a real pleasure to meet you in person, Miss Luneska," he said. "You better take this fellow out and cool him off—he's talking a little bit wild."

But Cavanaugh's heart was already beginning to beat in a different rhythm. The past as well as the future was slipping out of his mind and there remained only the balance of this glowing night and Leni Luneska.

Cavanaugh and Leni emerged from the darkened theater. In the breast of each a small dynamo throbbed, sending through their veins the warm current of ecstasy to come. By their agreement with Mulrooney they were safe for four days at least. And four days fully lived are more of Life than all the centuries of history. Yesterday was dead and Tomorrow a myth.

The lights on Hollywood boulevard were beginning to dim. Charwomen already were mopping up the forecourt of the theater and polishing its brass work and plate glass. The ticket booths with their white opaque windows tightly shut looked like blind eyes. For a moment Leni and Cavanaugh stood at the edge of the curb but no taxi was in sight so they walked toward a nearby hotel.

"Taxi, sir?"

A taxicab wheeled up beside them. When Cavanaugh had helped Leni inside he realized that he did not know even where she lived. Nor she, for that matter, had the faintest idea of his abode. Leni gave the driver an address in Beverly Hills.

They sped through sleeping streets where tall eucalyptus trees threw dark feathery shadows across the pavement. Behind them at a lower level the whole city of Los Angeles was spread out like an illuminated carpet, alive with millions of electric lights burning yellow and magic all night long. The air at this late hour was pleasantly cool and faintly impregnated with the mingled smell of sea and palms.

Deep contentment stole over Leni. She was soothed and quieted by the feel of Lucky's hand holding her own. She was even a little sleepy.

"Are you tired?" he asked softly.

"A little."

"Comfortable?"

"Yes."

"Sometimes you remind me of a little girl who doesn't know what it's all about. You're a curious combination of child and woman, Leni. I wish you could be happy."

"I am beginning to feel peaceful."

"You aren't afraid any longer?"

"Promise me you won't ever be afraid again."

"Promised."

"Our luck is what we make it. You must learn to never be afraid of anything, little girl."

"I love to be close to you, dear," she said in a small voice.

The soft weight of her body filled him with a delicious sensation. It was different from anything he had experienced from less distinguished women—this enchantment without cheapness. The warmth of her body, the soft curves, were like music to his senses.

As she snuggled against him Cavanaugh wondered if this could possibly be love he was feeling. Love was something he knew absolutely nothing about. Women heretofore had never stirred tenderness in his heart. He had admired them, caressed them, possessed them. Some had thrilled him. The truth was that all of his life Lucky Cavanaugh had been a very selfish man.

He looked down at the repose of Leni's face. She rested as quietly, as beautifully as a flower upon his lapel.

Synopsis

At the premiere of her latest picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her jailbird husband. He insists upon recognition as her husband. Lucky Cavanaugh, handsome gambler, tries to make Kruger leave. Kruger empties his gun at Cavanaugh without effect, then rushes into the next office in a rage. He surprises burglars looting a safe and is shot dead. Later as Leni and Cavanaugh are about to leave the theater to avoid questioning, Detective Mulrooney stops them. They deny knowing Kruger, Cavanaugh telling a plausible story of how he and Leni met, fell in love, and were running away from Leni's elderly escort. Lucky cautions Leni against talking, but she tells all to Mulrooney.

Now Go On

In the breast of each a small dynamo throbbed.

The Junior Patrol Mail Box

Fellows, did you read yesterday's important announcement? You don't have to be a member of the Junior Patrol to exchange coupons for free tickets to the big Junior Patrol picnic at West View Park, Tuesday, August 1.

This means, all you Junior Patrol members and Captains, that you can invite your friends, who are not yet members of the Junior Patrol, to go to the picnic with you.

Either mail in your coupon sets, fellows, or take them to the official exchange stations listed in the big ad elsewhere in the paper today. Remember, every three coupons, if they have different numbers, will be exchanged for a strip of eight tickets good for West View amusements.

Fellows, tell your mother and father about the picnic—see if they can't go with you to this outing at beautiful West View. But if they can't and you come in a group of kids, you will be well taken care of just the same. This is going to be a SAFE picnic, and we have many promises from Junior Patrol members that they will be extra watchful.

Capt. Irene Pearson, of 644 Doyle avenue, West Homestead, writes:

"Dear Junior, Spike and Snuggins:

"I want you to know that I have started a club in the vicinity of West Homestead. We hold our meetings every other day. In our meetings, each one tells what they did good and bad throughout the day. For everything they do bad, we give them a black mark which the secretary keeps in a book. There are quite a few black marks, but they are gradually decreasing.

"We hold our meetings in our garage. We have two bulletin boards in it, and every day before the meeting I put up the news that's in the paper about the Junior Patrol. I am already a member of the Junior Patrol, so I am sending in the names of 11 new members. Please send their membership cards and badges to me so that I can give them out in the club meeting. We call our club 'The Junior Patrol of West Homestead.'

"We played mushball against another girl that lives a few doors away from me that has a club also, but not a Junior Patrol Club, and we won. Before the game, I told all my members if we lost to be fair, and just say it was a good game."

That certainly is 100 per cent Junior Patrol spirit, Irene. Needless to say, fellows, we have sent Irene an armband, and we are anxious to hear from her again. Judging from the well-drawn picture of an early American girl in colors which she sent with her letter, she is a good artist as well as a good captain.

And here's a dandy letter from Capt. Kathleen Dillon, of R. D. No. 1, South Brownsville, Pa. Kathleen says:

"My friends would like to become members of the Junior Patrol. We have a clubhouse and have named it the Junior Patrol of Brownsville. I have 34 members counting myself. We have elected the Lieutenants. The president is Kathleen Dillon; secretary, Mary Dillon; treasurer, Betty Keffer. I am sending some names. I have already joined myself."

We hope you have lots of success, Kathleen. Thirty-four members makes a swell large club, and you ought to have some wonderful times. We are glad to hear that you are thinking of helping the orphans. Your armband is on the way. Let us know all the news about the club and anything else you do to help others.

Lot's more good news tomorrow. But don't forget to plan now for the picnic!

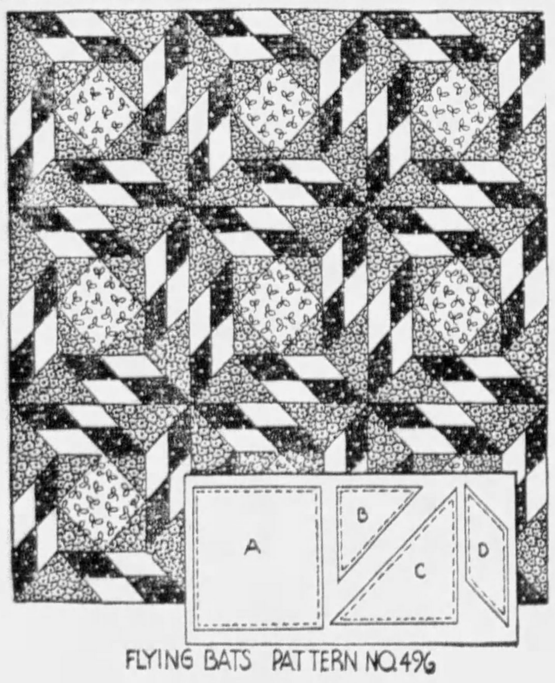
PATCHWORK QUILT PATTERN



FLYING BATS PATTERN NO. 496

By LAURA WHEELER

Hearsay has given bats a reputation, the truth of which few of us care to test. But here are some really pleasant bats caught in a swirl, forming a lovely pattern. Translated into patchwork, they are most attractive to every quiltmaker becauhe of their simplicity. The small illustration above shows how few and easy to put together are the pattern pieces that comprise this design.

The pattern comes to you with complete simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed sizes, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

Her Better Half

Bugs Baer

Too Hot to Prove Anything

Now that Mrs. Laura Ortega's black Minorca hen has laid a two-colored egg you can look for a deluge of rural lies.

The scene of the unequal contest was in Lompoc, Cal., where anything can happen once with no written guarantee against twice.

The egg was brown on the eating and white on the cooking pole. That's a crazy way for a black Minorca to act even during the hot weather.

Now, we used to have a little banty that laid eggs with double yolks that were no good for sandwiches because the top slice of bread wouldn't balance. It used to rock from side to side and get you dizzy. Most of the time you were biting your own thumb.

But, since Mrs. Ortega has started the contest there is no reason why the rest of us shouldn't get into the tournament.

Ed Senshire, of Sweden, says he once had a two-headed turtle. It had a head on each end.

It never got anywhere because the driver up front could never agree with the mug in the rumble seat.

We know all about those five-legged calves and things like that. Bob Ripley has a believe-it-or-not show out at the Century of Progress in Chicago. He's got a building chock-full of queer things any one of which would break an ordinary lease.

We told him about the two-headed turtle. It was all hearsay with us. Bob wanted us to show him the turtle. That we couldn't do. Say, if we had that kind of a turtle we would start Two Centuries of Progress.

A jigger like that would be as valuable as waterfront property in Sheol. People will pay to look at queer gadgets.

Rip brought back a three-tailed lizard from Egypt. It got loose in our house and almost frightened the cook into a better job.

It eats nothing but fresh flies. And it won't eat them unless it sees you catch them. That keeps Rip busy all day because the lizard won't trust strangers.

On sober fifth thought, we figure we won't start any lying contest because somebody might send us a pet like that.

A Good Appointment

Mr. Trees, Named to Pennsylvania's Advisory Board on Public Works, Is Able and Experienced.

Joseph C. Trees, the Pittsburgh oil man, who has been appointed by President Roosevelt as a member of the Pennsylvania advisory board on public works, is capable and has had much experience in business affairs.

The Sun-Telegraph considers him an excellent man for the place and believes the appointment will be received favorably by the people of the city and the state.

The administration at Washington has apparently sought to put ability above partisan considerations; for Mr. Trees is a Republican, and an outstanding one, having been a delegate to the Republican national convention last year.

Mr. Trees was recommended for the appointment by Joseph F. Guffey. In this Mr. Guffey has again shown good judgment.

Coal Strike Terrorism

Those Who Shoot, Except in Indisputable Cases of Self-Defense, Should Be Punished.

The strike of the coal miners in Fayette County is attended by violence. Every day brings its list of victims of shooting and beating. It is an old story in Western Pennsylvania, but all the more distressing on that account. Heaven grant that President Roosevelt's "new deal" soon will bring to an end this sad chapter in our industrial history!

Al Gough, staff correspondent of the Sun-Telegraph, saw four shots fired from a speeding automobile yesterday into a group of pickets—men, women and children—at one of the mines. A youth was wounded. Gough reports that there was no disorder when he arrived—nothing to justify the shooting. A mine superintendent is accused.

Pennsylvanians hoped when the brutal coal and iron police system was abolished that an end had been put to ruthlessness in dealing with strikers.

Apparently we were too optimistic. Additional action must be taken if terrorism is to be suppressed. One important thing that can and should be done is to prosecute and punish those who use firearms in strikes except in indisputable cases of self-defense.

The Value of Minorities

A Good Illustration May Be Found in the Case of Representative Walker.

Joseph A. Rectenwald, chairman of the Legislature's committee to investigate the cost of government in Allegheny County, has given an effective answer to William A. Walker, who resigned from the committee on the ground that it was dominated by Senator James J. Coyne and influenced by political principles to which Walker did not subscribe.

All the more reason, Rectenwald says, why Walker should stay on the committee! If he does not like its leadership and its policies, the right thing to do is not to quit, but to fight.

Minorities are often valuable even when they appear to accomplish nothing. In the long run persistent honest opposition produces an effect. In legislative bodies it is desirable to have a minority to keep the majority in check.

'Know Your Crooks!'

A Good Memory for Faces Is an Important Asset in the Warfare Against Criminals.

Pennsylvania chiefs of police, in convention at Harrisburg, promise vigorous warfare against criminals, and have adopted as their slogan for the campaign: "Know your crooks!"

A good memory for the faces of professional criminals is an invaluable asset for a policeman. Several Pittsburgh detectives—William Elmore, Edward T. McGough and Thomas A. McQuaide—had it in so superior a degree that they were sometimes requested to go to other cities where people were gathering in large numbers—the inauguration at Washington, for example—to protect the crowds from pickpockets.

The chiefs of police plan central intelligence systems and catalogs of known criminals to which the police of all Pennsylvania communities shall have quick access. Thus the officers will be helped to "know their crooks."

But it is not to be overlooked that many of our most shocking crimes are committed by novices, such as those boys who murdered an East End druggist several months ago while holding up his store.

The police, while making themselves acquainted with professional criminals, must not jump to the conclusion, every time a robbery or kidnaping occurs, that photographs of the perpetrators can be found in the rogues' gallery. Such an assumption might enable the real criminals to escape.

Faulty Distribution

Pennsylvania Uses More Milk Than It Produces, Yet the Producers Complain of a Poor Market.

Roads leading into Harrisburg have been picketed this week by dairymen attempting to stop the flow of milk into the capital until dealers acceded to their demand for higher prices.

Their desperation is reminiscent of the complaint of milk producers in the Pittsburgh district who said not long ago that they were unable to make a profit at the prices then current.

And yet, according to a study of production and consumption statistics just published by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Pennsylvania consumes 200 million more pounds of milk and milk products in a year than it produces. This amount, 5 per cent of the total used, has to be imported from other states.

Faulty distribution has much to do with the dairymen's difficulties.

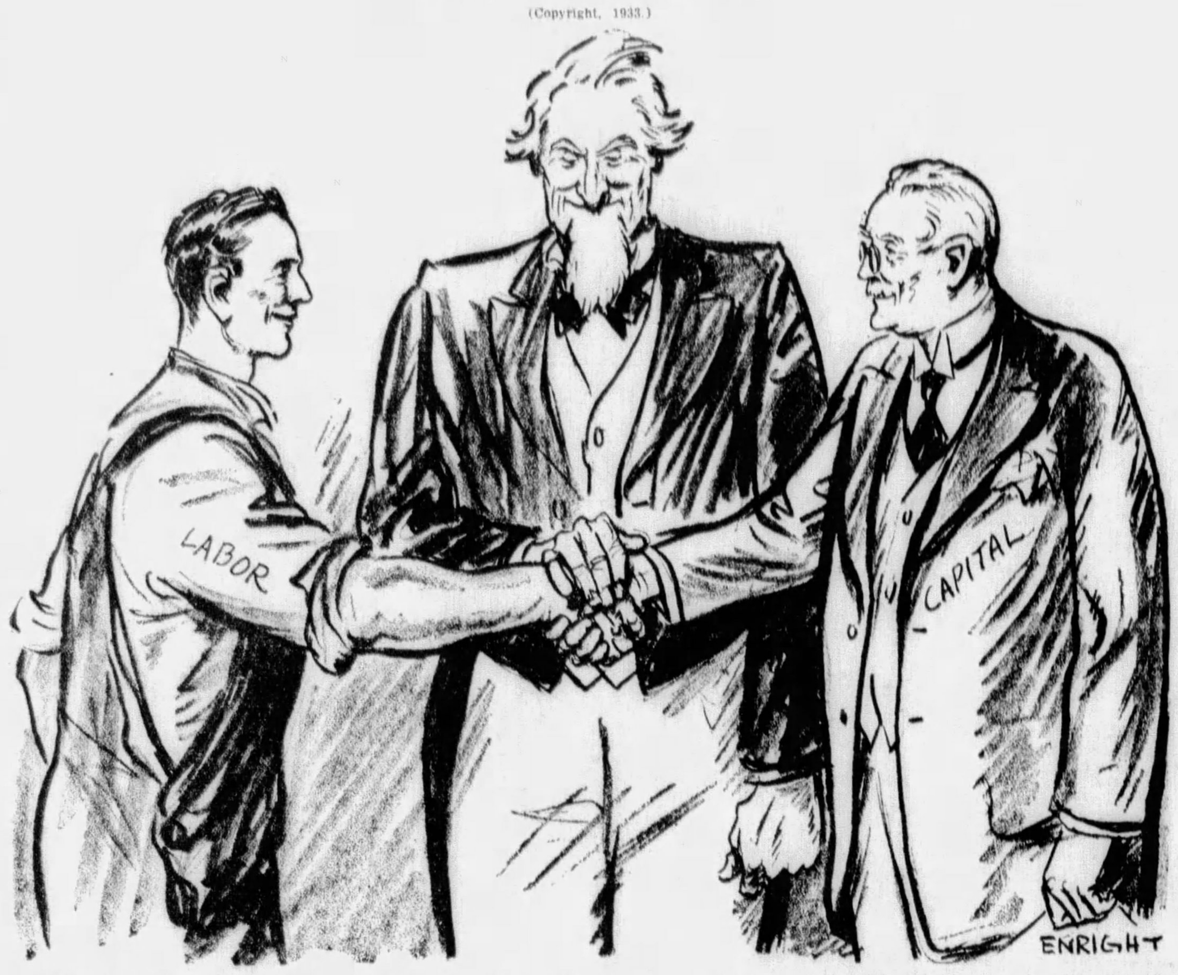
The New Deal

(Copyright, 1933.)



Under Federal leadership the nation seems on the road to a new deal between capital and labor.

In his radio appeal to the public to support the Industrial Recovery Code plan the President pleaded for this new deal. He said:

"I cannot guarantee the success of this nation-wide plan, but the people of this country can guarantee its success . . .

"I do have faith, and retain faith, in the strength of common purpose and in the strength of unified action taken by the American people . . .

"That is why I am asking the employers of the nation to sign this common covenant with me—to sign it in the name of patriotism and humanity.

"That is why I am asking the workers to go along with us in a spirit of understanding and of helpfulness."

It is a big and an unprecedented job that Uncle Sam has undertaken to "influence economic forces" by economic co-operation.

Marry-Go-Round

Why Marriage Is a Gamble

If a man's marriage turns out happily and successfully, it is never HIS fault. It's just luck or fate or the mercy of the Lord!

* * *

The following composite description of the "ideal woman" or "dream-girl," as submitted to a columnist by over fifty apparently intelligent men, will explain why marriage is such a gamble.

* * *

"She must have blonde (or red) wavy hair, a cute turned-up nose, beautiful eyes, small feet and hands, and a good figure—about five-feet-three."

That's ALL. Any old heart, brains, character and tastes will DO, apparently.

* * *

If the hands are "small and dainty," it doesn't matter whether or not they can turn a pancake or poach an egg; whether they are too languid to hang up her husband's pajamas or whether they are the kind that will pull out most of his top-hair and try to scratch his eyes out.

* * *

Lots of cunning, little hands can dig down and empty a man's pockets until he yells for mercy; and many greedy little hands have been (figuratively) pushing their distraught husbands out of high hotel-windows during the late depression.

* * *

Tiny feet ARE pretty; but they have been known to walk all over a man's neck, from the wedding-day to the grave.

But, there! If the nose is "cute and turned-up," what matter, Big Boy, if it is turned up at YOU most of the time? Or if it is the kind that snoops into your personal affairs and private letters or sniffs at your breath or sneers at your friends?

* * *

If the height is five-feet-three, no man seems to care if the depth of stupidity is so great that it pushes up the sod in China! And if the hair is blonde and wavy, what difference does it make to HIM whether it covers a total vacuum, a capricious temper or a jealous disposition?

* * *

But the Lord is GOOD! And, fortunately for the average man, lots of cute little tip-tilted noses, dainty hands and blonde wavy hair are combined with big hearts, fine loyal characters and interesting personalities. And plenty of five-feet-three women have big, full-portion souls.

* * *

Providence or Nature or Luck or Fate just throws these last in as a gift, and not because any man ever stops before marriage, to look for them or to demand them!

* * *

Everybody loves and admires beauty. But, in choosing a life-mate or a "dream-girl," the qualities that really count are CONGENIALITY, a sweet and reasonable disposition, loyalty, fairness, an interesting personality, physical attractiveness and—last of all—beauty.

* * *

Tennyson was right! When he wrote, "What care I how fair she be, if she be not fair to ME?" But most men don't discover the full force of this until after the honeymoon!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 28.—Thoughts while strolling: Paradoxical name for a bank—The Midland Marine. Nobody likes a gang of people around so much as Billy Seaman. He usually has a dozen for dinner. Mrs. Ben Ali Haggin and Mrs. Michael Arlen could pass for twins. And what beautiful twins!

John Royal, a Cleveland (O.) boy, who made good in the city, Capt. Babe White, the explorer, is almost as huge as Carnera. No person along the Rialto is more popular than Sam H. Harris. Or so deservedly so. What became of Tessa Costa? One of my favorite people—Arthur Samuels.

Those little white coffins followed by a single carriage. Everybody is coming back from Europe crying "Never again!" Mrs. Byron Foy and Fannie Brice bear a resemblance. One word description of Bob Hague — sunny. Nobody can look so buttery as Oscar of the Waldorf.

Odd how Sothern and Marlowe isolated themselves in—of all places—Luxor, Egypt. One of America's best known head-waiters, Rene Black. Name suggestion for a hair-raising magazine, "Danger." What word is so descriptive as gusto? Or what's so romantic looking as a mill pond?

I thought Jack Benny didn't smoke—he's puffing a fat cigar. Sime Silverman's son, Sid. A joy to call the Hotel McAlpin. The phone girls are so intelligent. Hamish McLaurin is a ringer for handsome Clark Gable. Save for ears. They say until Gable was three years old they didn't know whether he was going to walk or fly!

* * *

An agency tells me 500 performers make a fair living responding to calls to entertain at private parties. They are musical trios, quartets, pianists, magicians, mind readers and the like. Their work begins around 10 o'clock and often ends at dawn. Pay ranges from $15 a night low to a few highs of $300. The best patrons are penthouse bachelors who give after theater parties for the mixed society of Broadway.

* * *

Tommy Manville is the most widely exploited Broadway playboy. Possessing independent fortune, he is a constant first nighter, a tosser of social gatherings known as the binge and has a penchant for sending various ladies he squires here and there a profusion of orchids. He is in middle thirties, tall, stooped, slightly bald and wears an expression of bewilderment.

* * *

No class of workers have such a horror of being "fired" as those of the newspaper fraternity. Yet no class experiences this humiliation so often. A newspaper job is never a sinecure. Building a newspaper is a job of a day and a bad day's work may bring a new force.

* * *

The late red-haired Steve O'Grady, migratory reporter, always lived in terror of the blue envelope. He would do almost anything to forestall it except stay away from the cup that cheers. One day he received a curt note of dismissal upon showing up after a joust. Immediately he wrote the editor: "Herewith my resignation to take effect the day before yesterday." Perfectly content, he returned to the gang around the corner.

* * *

* * *

Now and then I am assailed by a notion to try to describe the heat in New York. And then comes the twinge of recalling how superbly O. Henry did it. I know a man marooned in Nome for seven years who, on blizzardy days, would get out a volume of O. Henry and the description of a sultry night would jingle the blood until he was warm and glowy.

* * *

Sudden memories on a warm day: Walking through cool white clover barefoot . . . Perforated tin doors in kitchen cupboards . . . A tennis girl's shirtwaist holding her watch by a fleur-de-lis . . . Hammock twosomes on Sunday evenings where a large family of pretty daughters lived . . . Clatter of cottonwood leaves in a hot wind . . . Cream crocks in the cellar . . . Talking to the prisoners in the county jail from the sidewalk . . . Street light carbon attracting bugs . . . A nestful of young rabbits sent sprawling by a scythe . . . Potato bugs . . . Mule matches . . . "Mosquito Parade" on the mandolin . . . The slick glisten of a cornfield after a heavy shower . . . The red bird's perky note.

And—almost forgot—the jockey boy iron hitch posts. Remember?

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

ARE WOMEN ABOUT TO BE OUSTED FROM THEIR HARD-WON PLACE IN THE BUSINESS WORLD, BECAUSE OF DEPRESSION LEGISLATION?

AND WILL IT BE A GOOD THING FOR THE REST OF THE WORLD IF THEY ARE?

The other day Alice Paul—remember her?—Alice Paul toted Feminist banners and picketed the White House, 'way back in the days when folks thought women were "too delicate" to vote—or to "work out," except maybe scrubbing floors or cooking over hot ranges. Such tasks might be ladylike, but they were anything but a treat for a regular human, thought Alice Paul, who did her best to give girl workers equal breaks with their brothers. And succeeded.

But the other day Alice Paul issued a warning. She told American women that, as a result of job shortage, they might be "forced back into serfdom" if they didn't watch out. Whereupon a gentleman signing himself "Big Ben" crashed into this column with the following:

"I have just read Alice Paul's remarks, and I'm here to say that it would be the finest thing that ever happened to this country, if the women WERE forced to go back where they belong, and let men run things!

"And that's just what's going to happen! While things were running smoothly, and there were jobs for all, the men let them have their own way, even if it was wrong.

"BUT NOW THINGS ARE GOING TO BE DIFFERENT. Men have found out what it means to tramp the streets looking for jobs ONLY TO FIND THEY'RE ALL HELD BY WOMEN WITHOUT SENSE ENOUGH TO KNOW THEIR PLACE. There is going to be a reckoning now.

"God made men and women different, and it's time the women realized it, and went back into the home where HE intended them to be. We'll soon see an end of this insanity of letting women, either single or married, crowd the men to the wall as they have been doing!

"I say let men work, and let women marry and make homes as they should. Then things will get back to prosperity where they belong. This terrible struggle will be over, and things will run smoothly again. If women won't see the sense of this, circumstances—AND THE MEN WHO HAVE GOTTEN WISED UP—WILL FORCE THEM TO SEE IT.

"Of course there are some girls who have to earn their own living. We'll have to concede that, for the present at least. BUT THERE SHOULD BE A LAW FORBIDDING ANY MARRIED WOMAN TO WORK OUTSIDE HER HOME, UNLESS HER HUSBAND IS CRIPPLED. Women have a Higher Duty than messing around in business, and they should, and will, be compelled to do it.

"BIG BEN."

Yes? I wonder. What's YOUR vote?

Should women go back into the kitchen?

Would the millenium come if they did?

Would that automatically restore jobs to all the idle men?

And make bigger and better homes?

Or would it immediately wreck millions of homes which have been founded on the result of the father's and mother's joint labor—or upon the mother's brave struggle to carry the burden which a sick or weak man has relinquished?

How about the homes of the working wives of YOUR acquaintance? Should those wives go back to their kitchens? CAN THEY GO BACK? What will happen to those homes if new laws compel those wives and mothers to go back? Let's hear YOUR opinion.

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

Hope

Hope is a little tree that lifts
Its fluttering leaves to every wind.
So hardy it can grow and thrive
In alien lands, in soil unkind.

Hope is a singing bird that soars
On golden wings through skies all fair,
Unheeding that it flies into
A desert country, parched and bare.

Hope is a banner that men raise
When comrades suffer grief or pain,
To wave before the tear-dimmed eyes
And lure their courage back again.

Hope is a glass of rosy hue
Which can transform light's palest ray
Into a ruddy beam as bright
As is the golden dawn of day.

Hope! None can paint, but all men know
The rapture of this boom God lends
Which for the bitterest, weariest hour
Unfailingly can make amends.

Text for Today

But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you.—Matthew, v:44.

Tibbett to Sing Again in "Emperor Jones"—a Prototype in Haiti—The Story of King Henri Christophe

By EDWIN C. HILL

OPERA lovers, gazing ahead through the summer weeks to the rich feast that will be offered next fall by the rejuvenated Metropolitan Opera, are especially pleased to know that Lawrence Tibbett's rich baritone will again be heard and his vivid acting seen in Eugene O'Neill's tremendous tragedy in racial psychology, "The Emperor Jones." It was the sensation of the season in 1932-33, and no doubt will again thrill and startle thousands who gather in the old home of New York opera at Broadway and Fortieth street.

The vivid, gripping story is now a classic. A Negro from the States sets himself up as ruler of a West Indian island. Haughty and arrogant, he becomes drunk with power. When his people rise against him he flees into the remorseless jungle, pursued, surrounded, menaced and crazed by the everlasting beat of the native drums—the drums that are driving him to his doom.

And I think it is an intensely interesting fact that there was once a real "Emperor Jones," who ruled in pomp and power, who set up an empire of black people and who found, like, Jones, a day of unescapable reckoning. His name was Henri Christophe. He didn't come from the States. He was born a slave in Haiti, and died there, a king. He was greedy and cruel, but cunning and strong, and in the day when the Negroes of Haiti rose against the dominion of the French Emperor, Napoleon I, he waged successful war against the very legionnaires of Napoleon who had broken the power of great Austria at Austerlitz and Marengo.

Henri Christophe was an able soldier and leader of men. When French power was broken in the island of Haiti, and the natives had driven the French into the sea and slaughtered the planters and seized their estates, it was tall, muscular, brilliant-eyed Henri Christophe, leader of the Black revolt, who proclaimed himself Henri the First, King of Haiti.

Great Citadel Built on a Cliff

HE BUILT himself a grand palace at San Souci and set up a court and established a nobility. He enforced a court etiquet that was as strict as the court ceremonials of Louis the Fourteenth. His palace at San Souci blazed with brilliant uniforms, decorations and jewels. But that was not enough for his soaring ambitions. Like other great soldiers of fortune—and Henri Christophe had elements of greatness, even though they were destroyed by his greed and his vanity—he yearned to be a builder of vast monuments.

High above his capital rose a great cliff, full 3,000 feet toward the clouds, and called, from its peculiar shape, "The Bishop's Hat." Upon that towering cliff King Henri Christophe built his citadel of La Ferriere, stone upon stone, a tremendous and magnificent castle and fortress which even in its ruins today remains the marvel of engineers and the awe of the casual traveler.

Visitors who approach it upon horseback, riding five miles through the tangled jungle and mounting ever upward toward the citadel, which caps the entire mountain, are struck with amazement at the stupendous walls which rise sheer to a height of 140 feet, and stand today almost as strongly and soundly as when they were built. They stand in wonderment, not merely at the majestic ruin, but at the mind of a Negro slave who could conceive a pile as great as any of the monuments that were raised by the Pharaohs of old Egypt.

The citadel was acres in extent. It was absolutely unassailable, and even though it caps a mountain, a spring within its depths gushes out an unfailing supply of fresh water. What a gigantic labor the building of that vast castle must have been!

Henri Christophe, like the ancient kings of Egypt, mixed his mortar with the blood of thousands of his people, and raised the enormous blocks of stone upon the dead bodies of his exhausted slaves.

* * *

Christophe's Dramatic Death

HIS citadel was unassailable but the man was not. A stroke of apoplexy laid him low in 1820, and that was the signal that his enemies and a driven people were waiting for to break into open rebellion. The stricken King, seeing through the windows of his San Souci palace the glow of the flames that were sweeping the city, and hearing the rattle of musketry nearing his palace, summoned his crack brigade and staggered from his bed to lead them. For an hour he rubbed his withering limbs with a mixture of rum and peppermint, only to collapse. His strength was the strength of a child. He was done for.

But he had himself carried in a chair to the front of the palace and reviewed his bodyguard as it marched from the palace to attack the enemy. That very night the news was brought to him by a runner that the bodyguard had gone over to the rebels; that he was left without a man to fire a shot in his defense.

King Henri Christophe, hearing that terrific news in his gold and scarlet velvet chamber in the royal palace, smiled grimly and sent for his wife and children. He loaded them with presents, his gold, and his jewels, then ordered his servants to prepare his bath. When he had finished his bath he donned a suit of spotless white and when that was done he raised a pistol to his head and shot himself.

That night his wife and children and the few servants that were left behind bore the body up the mountain to the great citadel which his great ambition had raised, and within the depths of the citadel they buried this strange black man of indomitable heart, who knew how to die royally, who knew how to die like a King.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Having passed the age when you were active and alive to all that was going on about you, you may have reached the stage where you are gruff and cranky.

If living with relatives, perhaps you object to the routine they follow.

You try to manage the family habits to more nearly reflect your own desires.

Perhaps you are displeased and dissatisfied with the accommodations you are afforded.

If you are living with young people you complain of the noise that they and their young friends make when you want to sleep undisturbed.

If their conduct is not regulated to suit your taste perhaps you are so far as to embarrass them before their guests, forgetting the rule of good manners that should make you courteous to your betters factors.

This means you won't be welcomed for long even if you are a parent in the home of married daughter or son.

When your children marry you must remember that they will not plan to suit the married partner—not father or mother.

That is the way you did when you married, and it's right.

It may seem to you like paying more deference to an outsider than to you but it is the way of Life, so play your part.

ISN'T IT SO?

It is much easier to begin than to finish.

The ears can endure an injury better than the eyes.

Unminded people are those who don't mind their own business.

A grouch is a person who thinks everything but himself is out of step.

Everyone is money mad—mad because they don't have any.

The woman who hesitates usually is too shocked for words.

Despise not a small wound, poor relation or a humble enemy.

Knocking is constructive only when done with a hammer and nails.
